Frontera sur de México ,2005      Latin America's Global Border System Beatriz Zepeda,Fernando Carrión Mena,Francisco Enríquez Bermeo,2022-05-05 Latin America s Global Border System is the opening volume in the first collection of academic works devoted exclusively to borders and illegal markets in Latin America This volume features expert discussions on border issues of Argentina Brazil Bolivia Ecuador Guatemala Italy Mexico and Peru as well as studies on illegal markets cities and gender as a first step to understanding the intricacies of the global border system of illegal markets and Latin America s role in it The book constitutes a valuable source of information on the geographic economic demographic and social characteristics of the most important Latin American border regions and their relation to global illegal markets while also offering valuable insights into the ways illegal markets are organized in each country and how they connect across borders to create the global border system This book will not only be a valuable resource for academics and students of international relations security studies border studies and contemporary Latin America but will also prove relevant to national and international policy makers devoted to foreign security and development policies      New Perspectives on Gender and Migration Nicola Piper,2013-09-13 This book discusses recent theoretical and empirical developments in international migration from a gender perspective Its main objective is to analyse the diversification and stratification of gendered migratory streams with regard to skill level labour market integration and legal status In turn a migrant s position in relation to these axes influences access to entitlements and rights Conceptually the book builds upon the recent shift in scholarly research on migration with women centred research shifting more toward the analysis of gender Migration is now viewed as a gendered phenomenon that requires more sophisticated theoretical and analytical tools than sex as a dichotomous variable Theoretical formulations of gender as relational and as spatially and temporally contextual have begun to inform gendered analyses of migration The contributions to this book elaborate in more detail the broader social factors that influence migrating women s and men s roles access to resources facilities and services Empirically all major regions are discussed pointing to common trends such as the increasing significance of the regionalization of migration flows as well as some noteworthy differences      Border Transgression Eva Youkhana,2017-10-02 This volume addresses processes of human mobility in times of crisis from different scientific perspectives and at a global and trans regional level The first part sets out to discuss established paradigms in migration studies and politics in order to suggest new approaches to analyse mobility migration and to challenge boundary making approaches The second part presents empirical cases from Latin America and Spain to demonstrate how migrants challenge negotiate and mobilize citizenship and belonging The third part deals with the question how belonging is produced and identity is constructed at a transnational level New information and communication technologies human mobility but also the mobility of concepts ideas and values foster these collectivization processes across and within physical and symbolic borders      The Holocene and Anthropocene Environmental History of Mexico Nuria Torrescano- Valle, Gerald A. Islebe, Priyadarsi D. Roy, 2019-12-02 This book provides essential information on Mexico's Holocene and Anthropocene climate and vegetation history. Considering the geography of Mexico which is home to a variety of climatic and environmental conditions from desert and tropical to high mountain climates, this book focuses on its postglacial paleoecology and paleoclimatology. Further, it analyses human intervention since the middle Holocene as a major agent of environmental change. Offering a valuable tool for understanding past climate change and its relationship with present climate change, the book is a must read for botanists, ecologists, palaeontologists, and graduate students in related fields. Timber, Tourists, and Temples Richard B. Primack, David Bray, Hugo A. Galletti, Ismael Ponciano, 2013-04-10

Stretching across southern Mexico, northern Guatemala, and Belize, the Maya Forest or Selva Maya constitutes one of the last large blocks of tropical forest remaining in North and Central America. Home to Mayan speaking people for more than 5,000 years, the region is also uncommonly rich in cultural and archaeological resources. Timber, Tourists, and Temples brings together the leading biologists, social scientists, and conservationists working in the region to present in a single volume information on the intricate social and political issues and the complex scientific and management problems to be resolved there. Following an introductory chapter that presents GIS and remote sensing data, the book considers perspectives on managing forest resources and the forestry and conservation policies of each nation; examines efforts by communities to manage their forest resources; explains the connections between resource conservation and use by local people; highlights research projects that integrate baseline biological research with impact assessments; explains the need to involve local people in conservation effort. Timber, Tourists, and Temples explores methods of supporting the biological foundation of the Maya Forest and keeping alive that unique and diverse ecosystem. While many areas face similar development pressures, few have been studied as much or for as long as the Maya Forest. The wealth of information included in this pathbreaking work will be valuable not only for researchers involved with the Maya Forest but for anyone concerned with the protection, use, and management of tropical forest ecosystems throughout the world. Biodiversity and Conservation of the Yucatán Peninsula

Gerald Alexander Islebe, Sophie Calmé, Jorge L. León-Cortés, Birgit Schmook, 2015-11-17 This book provides information relevant for the conservation of biodiversity and the sound management of the coastal and forest ecosystems of the Yucatan Peninsula in the face of global change. Various aspects of the biodiversity of the Yucatan Peninsula are analyzed in an integrative manner, including phenological, ecophysiological, ecological, and conservation aspects of plants and animals and their relationships with humans in coastal and forest ecosystems. Environment and Climate-smart Food Production

Charis M. Galanakis, 2021-11-09 Agriculture and food systems, forestry, the marine, and the bio-based sectors are at the very heart of the climate change crisis. Evidence on climate change reveals that it will affect farming first through changes to rainfall regimes, rising temperatures, the variability and seasonality of the climate, and the occurrence of more frequent extreme events: heatwaves, droughts, storms, and floods. In addition to findings, ways to mitigate greenhouse gas emissions farmers will need to develop farming systems resilient to fluctuating environmental and socioeconomic conditions. It is thus a great challenge to support ambitious climate targets while satisfying the needs for food feed bio based products and energy for a global population projected to reach 10 billion by 2030. Few books on the market integrate environment studies and climate smart food production. This book fills the knowledge gap by covering all the relevant aspects in one reference starting with microclimate management climate change and food systems and resilience of mixed farming and agroforestry systems. Chapters address agricultural soil management integrated water management in small agricultural catchments citizen driven food system approaches in cities and ICT enabled agri food systems. By focusing on the most recent advances in the field while analyzing the potential of already applied practices this book can serve as a handbook for regulators and researchers looking to understand all aspects of food production and distribution in this changing environment Shelter on the

Journey Priscilla Solano, 2024-04-26 This book surveys the social life and contested meanings in migrant shelters in Mexico probing the interactions between refugees humanitarian staff and outside interests. The author finds that these interactions construct a human rights discourse in favor of freedom of movement El Estado mexicano, 2005 La Biblia:

Rojas Wiesner, Guillermo Candiz, 2016-04-29 Questioning the notion of transit migration the book examines factors that shape Central American migrants mobility and immobility in the transnational space comprised on Central American countries Mexico and the US Contraband Corridor Rebecca Berke Galembo, 2017-12-26 The Mexico Guatemala border has emerged as a geopolitical hotspot of illicit flows of both goods and people. Contraband Corridor seeks to understand the border from the perspective of its long term inhabitants including petty smugglers of corn clothing and coffee. Challenging assumptions regarding security trade and illegality Rebecca Berke Galembo details how these residents engage in and justify extralegal practices in the context of heightened border security restricted economic opportunities and exclusionary trade policies. Rather than assuming that extralegal activities necessarily threaten the state and formal economy Galembo's ethnography illustrates the complex ways that the formal informal legal and illegal economies intertwine. Smuggling basic commodities across the border provides a means for borderland peasants to make a living while neoliberal economic policies

decimate agricultural livelihoods Yet smuggling also exacerbates prevailing inequalities obstructs the possibility of more substantive political and economic change and provides low risk economic benefits to businesses state agents and other illicit actors often at the expense of border residents Galemba argues that securitized neoliberalism values certain economic activities and actors while excluding and criminalizing others even when the informal and illicit economy is increasingly one of the poor s only remaining options Contraband Corridor contends that security neoliberalism and illegality are interdependent in complex ways yet how they unfold depends on negotiations between diverse border actors Migraciones Francisco Hidalgo Flor,2004 CONTENIDO Migraciones y crisis del desarrollo Jaime Atienza A Emigraciones y desarrollo implicaciones econ micas Jos Antonio Alonso Los movimientos migratorios una perspectiva desde el sur Juan Manuel Sandoval La pol tica migratoria de Espa a y la Uni n Europea Emilio Jos G mez Elementos para una comprensi n de las familias transnacionales Gioconda Herrera Violencia estructural y migraci n las instituciones sociales en Espa a Daniel La Parra Ecuador oportunidades y amenazas econ micas de la emigraci n Alberto Acosta Feminizaci n de las migraciones en Ecuador Gloria Camacho El impacto de la emigraci n en Loja Betty S nchez El proceso emigratorio en el Sur de Quito Susana L pez Efectos de la emigraci n en Cotopaxi Agust n Pati o Una comunidad ind gena que emigro a Madrid Francisco Hidalgo Elementos para una pol tica migratoria Pablo Vega Socio-Environmental Regimes and Local Visions Minerva Arce Ibarra,Manuel Roberto Parra Vázquez,Eduardo Bello Baltazar,Luciana Gomes de Araujo,2020-09-13 This book presents oral histories collective dialogues and analyses of rural and indigenous livelihoods facing global socio environmental regime change in Latin America LA Since the late twentieth century rural and indigenous producers in LA including agriculturists coffee growers as well as small scale farmers fishers and others have had to resist cope with or adapt to a range of neoliberal socio environmental regimes that impact their territories and associated resources including water production systems and ultimately their cultural traditions In response rural producers are using local visions and innovation niches to decide what when and how to resist cope with uncertainty and still be successful in using their customary laws to retain their land rights and livelihoods This book presents a range of ethnically diverse case studies from LA which addresses socio environmental educational and law regimes effects using transdisciplinary research approaches in rural traditional and indigenous production systems Based on both the results and insights gained into how producers are resisting and adapting to these regimes as well as decades of research carried out in LA rural territories by the participating authors the book puts forward a baseline for devising new public policies that are better suited to the real challenges of livelihoods poverty and environmental degradation in LA These recommendations are rooted in post development thinking they promote territorial public policy with social inclusion and a human s rights approach The book draws on over 20 years of research carried out by LA s academics and their undergraduate and graduate students who have addressed collaborative work participatory research and transdisciplinary approaches with rural commons and communities in LA It features 19 case studies with contributions

Migration through Mexico is violent and uncertain yet in Walking Together we see how this experience bonds some people together like family even though they may not have started that way before the journey Migrants in transit form several types of social networks develop trust and engage in acts of solidarity The need to be recognized and grieved compounded by the practical use of pooling information and resources leads migrants to form small strong groups called road families Through the generalized sharing of information and small items such as food and blankets migrants also form a transient community that includes everyone on the road at the same time Sociologist Alejandra D az de Le n shows the trajectories of families that left together showing surprisingly that families might not be the best social arrangement in transit Drawing on multisited research this work contributes to debates on the role of social networks in clandestine migration processes and to discussions on how people create social networks and trust under violent and stressful situations The detailed ethnographic narratives and accessible writing weave together theory with empirical observations to highlight and humanize the migrant experience Sitting at the intersection of border studies immigration studies and Latinx studies this concise volume shows how Central American migrants in transit through Mexico survive the precarious and unpredictable road by forming different types of social ties

The Ambivalent Revolution Stephen E. Lewis, 2005 Why did the Zapatista rebellion occur in Chiapas and not in some other state in southern Mexico where impoverished marginalized indigenous peasants also suffer a legacy of exploitation and repression Stephen Lewis believes the answers can be found in the 1920s and 1930s During those critical years Mexico s most important state and nation building agent the Ministry of Public Education SEP struggled to introduce the reforms and institutions of the Mexican revolution in Chiapas In 1934 the administration of president L zaro C rdenas endorsed socialist education turning federal teachers into federal labor inspectors and promoters of agrarian reform Teachers also attempted to incorporate indigenous populations and forge a more sober defanaticized nationalist citizenry SEP activism won over most mestizo communities after 1935 but enraged local ranchers planters and politicians unwilling to abide by the federal blueprint In the Maya highlands federal education was a more categorical failure and Cardenista Indian policy had unintended even sinister consequences By 1940 Cardenismo and SEP populism were in full retreat even as mestizo communities came to embrace the culture of schooling and identify with the Mexican nation Fifty years later the delayed incomplete and corrupted nature of state and nation building in Chiapas prevented resolution of the state s most pressing problems As Lewis concludes the Zapatistas appropriated the federal government s discarded revolutionary nationalist discourse in 1994 and launched a rebellion that challenged the Mexican state to contemplate a plural multi ethnic nation
