The Body and Shame Luna Dolezal, 2015-03-31 The Body and Shame Phenomenology Feminism and the Socially Shaped Body investigates the concept of body shame and explores its significance when considering philosophical accounts of embodied subjectivity Body shame only finds its full articulation in the presence actual or imagined of others within a rule and norm governed milieu As such it bridges our personal individual and embodied experience with the social cultural and political world that contains us Luna Dolezal argues that understanding body shame can shed light on how the social is embodied that is how the body experienced in its phenomenological primacy by the subject becomes a social and cultural artifact shaped by external forces and demands The Body and Shame introduces leading twentieth century phenomenological and sociological accounts of embodied subjectivity through the work of Edmund Husserl Maurice Merleau Ponty Jean Paul Sartre Michel Foucault and Norbert Elias Dolezal examines the embodied social and political features of body shame contending that body shame is both a necessary and constitutive part of embodied subjectivity while simultaneously a potential site of oppression and marginalization Exploring the cultural politics of shame the final chapters of this work explore the phenomenology of self presentation and a feminist analysis of shame and gender with a critical focus on the practice of cosmetic surgery a site where the body is literally shaped by shame The Body and Shame will be of great

Kreyenbroek,2009 Yezidism is a minority religion that is largely based on tradition rather than scripture In the homelands Turkey Iraq Syria and Transcaucasia its world view is closely connected with local culture and most easily understood in that context From the 1960s onwards an increasing number of Yezidis from Turkey Iraq and Syria were forced to migrate to Western Europe After the fall of the Soviet Union many Yezidis from Armenia and Georgia moved to Russia and the Ukraine This work addresses the question of differences in perception of the religion between Yezidi migrants who grew up in the homeland and those who were mainly socialised in the Diaspora It is based on extensive qualitative research among Yezidis of different generations in Germany and Russia Person and Self-Value Max Scheler,2012-12-06 From the mysterious powers and forces peculiar to both individual and community that can turn our lives into either good or bad lives I wish to point to two such powers being at the same time different in their own nature and yet closely related to each other The powers that emerge from exemplary persons and leaders Understood as basic to both sociology and the philosophy of history it comes to us as no surprise that the problem of exemplary persons and leaders along with the questions of the qualities types selections and education of leaders forms of unison existing between leaders and their followers all of which belonging to the subdivisions of this problem must be a burning problem for a people whose historical leaders from all walks of life have in part been swept away by wars and revolutions This fact we also find in all salient epochs of history characterized more or less by changes in leadership It is precisely for this reason that in our own time every group appears to struggle ever so hard with this problem namely who their leaders should be This pertains equally to a group within a party to a class to occupations to unions to various schools or present day youth movements and even to religious and ecclesiastical groupings Beyond any comparison there is yearning everywhere for leadership Shame and Guilt June Price Tangney, Ronda L.

Dearing, 2003-11-01 This volume reports on the growing body of knowledge on shame and guilt integrating findings from the authors original research program with other data emerging from social clinical personality and developmental psychology Evidence is presented to demonstrate that these universally experienced affective phenomena have significant implications for many aspects of human functioning with particular relevance for interpersonal relationships From publisher's description

Collins, 2016-09-01 Midair is a true account of one of the most remarkable tales of survival in the history of aviation a midair collision at 30 000 feet by two bomb laden B 52s over a category 5 super typhoon above the South China Sea during the outset of the Vietnam War Authored by Craig K Collins the nephew of B 52 pilot Maj Don Harten Midair is an historically important work that is about more than survival Interwoven through Harten's dramatic story of his million to one struggle against near certain death is a previously unexamined look at how America had developed an aerial battle plan that would likely have ended the Vietnam conflict in under a month during the late winter of 1965 Instead the country's war planners and politicians veered off course and into a bloody eight year quagmire Harten was on the February 1965 top secret mission a massive B 52 bombing raid of railways supply depots and airfields in and around Hanoi that was called off in mid flight That mission and battle plan was mothballed until Dec 18 1972 when it was dusted off and dubbed Linebacker II effectively ending the war within a week Over 120 B 52s bombed Hanoi area military installations for eight consecutive days As a result of the heavy bombing the North Vietnamese declared a truce attended peace talks in Paris in early January and signed the Paris Peace Accords ending hostilities in Vietnam on Jan 27 1973 It is the gripping tale of a young Air Force officer's first combat mission that instantly pulls the reader in and never lets up Paul Celan Today Michael Eskin, Karen Leeder, Marko Pajević, 2021-08-23 Marking Paul Celan's 100th birthday and the 50th anniversary of his death this volume endeavours to answer the following question why does Celan still matter today more than ever perhaps And why should he continue to matter tomorrow In other words the volume explores and assesses the enduring significance of Celan's life and work in and for the 21st century. Boasting cutting edge research by international scholars together with original contributions by contemporary artists and writers, this book attests to on the one hand the extent to which large swathes of contemporary philosophy, poetics, literary scholarship and aesthetics have been indebted to Celan's legacy and are simply unthinkable without it, and on the other hand to the malleability, adaptability, breadth and depth of Celan's poetics, which like the music of The Beatles, Led Zeppelin or Queen is reborn and rediscovered with every new generation.

Shame on you! Sonja Tolevski, 2024-11-02. Shame can have a strong hold on us during challenging times, leading us to feel trapped and unable to show our true selves. We may suppress our thoughts and feelings out of fear of embarrassment, failure or not meeting the expectations of perfectionism. These experiences can leave us feeling like outsiders, struggling to trust others and connect on a deeper level. Shame can manifest as withdrawal and avoidance as we try to remain unseen and avoid judgment at all costs. Unfortunately, the emotional impact of shame can be long-lasting, hindering our ability to cultivate a healthy relationship with ourselves. Many symptoms of various disorders, such as anxiety and depression, can stem from underlying feelings of shame. These feelings often have their roots in childhood or adolescence, resulting from experiences where we felt powerless and internalized the negative outcomes as personal flaws. Despite the challenges, there are ways to overcome shame and humiliation. By understanding its origins and recognizing its effects, we can embark on a journey toward healing and self-acceptance, breaking free from shame's grip and embracing a more fulfilling life.

Setting Relations Right in Restorative Practice David B. Moore, Alikki Vernon, 2023-12-01. Setting Relations Right in Restorative Practice is a practical guide to using restorative processes both in justice systems to provide a healing response to harm and in broader community contexts to help people co-exist peacefully. Restorative processes can help to establish, maintain, deepen and repair relationships and to neutralise the conflict associated with negative relationships. The result is less conflict within people, between people and between groups, and increasing individual and community wellbeing. These complex goals can be distilled to the single principle of setting relations right. The authors distil lessons from their decades of work at the frontline of restorative innovation. They outline an accurate, accessible theory that informs a restorative mindset and describe in detail the corresponding skill set. Succinct, engaging case studies include refinements to existing programs in justice systems. Other case studies include the innovations of restorative responses to institutional abuse and to family violence and sexual harm, initiatives to increase psychological safety in schools and workplaces, and programs that support restorative ways of working across whole cities or regions. By applying elements from successful programs, practitioners can realise the broader reforming potential of restorative practice. This book is essential reading for restorative practitioners, administrators and policymakers, for students and researchers, indeed for anyone interested in the power and potential of restorative practice and other forms of deliberative decision making.
