Madaus,2013-12-11 Evaluation Models George F. Madaus,M. Scriven,D.L. Stufflebeam,2012-12-06 Attempting to evaluate something involves the evaluator coming to grips with a number of abstract concepts such as value merit worth growth criteria standards objectives needs norms client audience validity reliability objectivity practical significance accountability improvement process product formative summative costs impact information credibility and of course with the evaluation itself To communicate with colleagues and clients evaluators need to clarify what they mean when they use such terms to denote important concepts central to their work Moreover evaluators need to integrate these concepts and their meanings into a coherent framework that guides all aspects of their work If evaluation is to lay claim to the mantle of a profession then these conceptualizations of evaluation must lead to the conduct of defensible evaluations The conceptualization of evaluation can never be a one time activity nor can any conceptualization be static Conceptualizations that guide evaluation work must keep pace with the growth of theory and practice in the field Further the design and conduct of any particular study involves a good deal of localized conceptualization Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1976 Principles of Trauma Therapy John Briere,Catherine Scott,2006-03-21 Principles of Trauma Therapy provides a creative synthesis of cognitive behavioral relational psychodynamic and psychopharmacologic approaches to the real world treatment of acute and chronic posttraumatic states Grounded in empirically supported trauma treatment techniques and adapted to the complexities of actual clinical practice it is a hands on resource for both front line clinicians in public mental health and those in private practice Teaching Medical Professionalism Richard L. Cruess,Sylvia R. Cruess,Yvonne Steinert,2008-10-13 Until recently professionalism was transmitted by respected role models a method that depended heavily on the presence of a homogeneous society sharing values This is no longer true and medical schools and postgraduate training programs in the developed world are now actively teaching professionalism to students and trainees In addition licensing and certifying bodies are attempting to assess the professionalism of practising physicians on an ongoing basis This is the only book available to provide guidance to those designing and implementing programs on teaching professionalism It outlines the cognitive base of professionalism provides a theoretical basis for teaching the subject gives general principles for establishing programs at various levels undergraduate postgraduate and continuing professional development and documents the experience of institutions who are leaders in the field Teaching aids that have been used successfully by contributors are included as an appendix
