Lifting Modules John Clark, Christian Lomp, N. Vanaja, Robert Wisbauer, 2008-08-17 Extending modules are generalizations of injective modules and dually lifting modules generalize projective supplemented modules There is a certain asymmetry in this duality While the theory of extending modules is well documented in monographs and text books the purpose of our monograph is to provide a thorough study of supplements and projectivity conditions needed to investigate classes of modules related to lifting modules The text begins with an introduction to small submodules the radical variations on projectivity and hollow dimension The subsequent chapters consider preradicals and torsion theories in particular related to small modules decompositions of modules including the exchange property and local semi T nilpotency supplements in modules with specific emphasis on semilocal endomorphism rings finishing with a long chapter on lifting modules leading up their use in the theory of perfect rings Harada rings and quasi Frobenius rings Most of the material in the monograph appears in book form for the first time The main text is augmented by a plentiful supply of exercises together with comments on further related material and on how the theory has evolved The Reauthorization of the Export-Import Bank United States. Reauthorization of the Export-Import Bank United States. Congress. House. Committee on Financial Services. Subcommittee on International Monetary Policy and Trade, 2001 Minimum Animal Populations Hermann Remmert, 2012-12-06 H REMMERT Small populations are very often discussed but there seems to be no general overview touching all the self-evident but normally simply neglected problems connected with small populations First there are many very different types of organisms and as every biologist should know the problems of small populations are very different in different types of organisms 1 In vascular plants the problems are different from the situation in birds and mammals in marine benthic animals or in parasites such as tapeworms the problems are different again and in seasonal planktonic animals or insects they are different from those in biotopes under constant conditions In tapeworms or in vascular plants an adult organism seems to be comparable to a population of mammals or birds because its offspring can be so diverse and plentiful 2 There are small populations which explode and break down to a small population again and then explode and break down again
