

3 KEY ELEMENTS YOUR MISSION

STATEMENT SHOULD ANSWER

1

WHAT

Your statement should outline what your company does. This may be a good you produce or a service you provide to your customers—whatever makes your business run.

2

WHY

Your mission statement should answer why you do what you do. This is the key to your statement. It helps your business stand out, highlighting what sets you apart from the others in your industry. Remember to keep the mission statement short and to the point.

3

HOW

In last, your mission statement should describe the way in which your company does what it does. Instead of being technical, think of what values go into the core of your business. Maybe your company does it by valuing quality or customer service or being sustainable, or it fosters creativity and innovation.

Image Mission:

The Image Mission James L. Burch, 2012-12-06 IMAGE Imager for Magnetopause to Aurora Global Exploration is the first NASA MIDEX mission and the first mission dedicated to imaging the Earth's magnetosphere. This volume offers detailed descriptions of the IMAGE instrumentation and of the image inversion techniques used to interpret the data. Also included are chapters on the IMAGE science objectives, the spacecraft design and capabilities, science and mission operations, and the processing and distribution of IMAGE's nonproprietary data products. Carleton Watkins Carleton E. Watkins, Weston J. Naef, Christine Hult-Lewis, 2011

This is an opulently illustrated catalogue of the entire remaining mammoth photographs of Carleton Watkins 1829-1916. The work will contribute not only to a fuller understanding of this pioneering photographer but also portray the barely explored frontier in its final moments of pristine beauty. Steps to Facilitate

Principal-Investigator-Led Earth Science Missions National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Space Studies Board, Committee on Earth Studies, 2004-04-21 Principal investigator PI Earth science missions are small focused science projects involving relatively small spacecraft. The selected PI is responsible for the scientific and programmatic success of the entire project. A particular objective of PI-led missions has been to help develop university-based research capacity. Such missions however pose significant challenges that are beyond the capabilities of most universities to manage. To help NASA's Office of Earth Science determine how best to address these, the NRC carried out an assessment of key issues relevant to the success of university-based PI-led Earth observation missions. This report presents the result of that study. In particular, the report provides an analysis of opportunities to enhance such missions and recommendations about whether and if so how they should be used to build university-based research capabilities. Observation of the Earth and

Its Environment Herbert J. Kramer, 2019-01-30 This book is about spaceborne missions and instruments. In addition, surveys of airborne missions and of campaigns can be found on the accompanying CD-ROM in pdf format. Compared with the 3rd edition, the spaceborne part grew from about 300 to 1000 pages. The complete text, including the electronic-only chapters, contains more than 1900 pages. New chapters treat the history of Earth observation and university missions. The number of commercial Earth imaging missions has grown significantly. A chapter contains reference data and definitions. Extensive appendices provide a comprehensive glossary, acronyms and abbreviations, and an index of sensors. An effort has been made to present the information in context to point out relationships and interconnections. The book may serve as a reference and guide to all involved in the various national and international space programs: researchers and managers, service providers and data users, teachers and students. Departments of Veterans Affairs and Housing and Urban Development, and Independent Agencies Appropriations for 2002 United States.
