Imagination A Psychological Critique:

Imagination Jean-Paul Sartre, 1962 We may therefore conclude that imagination is not an empirical power added to consciousness but it is the whole of consciousness as it realizes its freedom Jean Paul Sartre Sartre's L'Imaginaire was first published in French in 1940 and in English in 1948 This new translation the first for over fifty years is of the recent French edition revised by Arlette Elkaim Sartre It corrects many important mistakes in the earlier English translation and includes a new introduction by Jonathan Webber placing the book in a contemporary context The Imaginary is one of Sartre's most important works and an ideal introduction to his thought It is a brilliant and lucid examination of one supposedly simple human act the act of imagining something Sartre's genius is to show that between this act and the world that imagination creates lies nothing less than a new theory of human consciousness The book contains Sartre's devastating criticisms of scientific psychology and he presents for the first time the radical theories of consciousness and human freedom that were to appear a few years later in his magnum opus Being and Nothingness Considering the role of the imagination and the emotions such as disgust Sartre argues that it is because human beings can imagine or think of things as they are not that they are ultimately free The Imaginary is essential reading for anyone interested in Sartre existentialism phenomenology twentieth century philosophy and philosophy of mind Publisher Imagination Jean-Paul Sartre, 1972 Imagination

Sartre and Psychoanalysis Betty Cannon, 1991 Betty Cannon is the first to explore the implications of Sartrean philosophy for the Freudian psychoanalytic tradition Drawing upon Sartre's work as well as her own experiences as a practicing therapist she shows that Sartre was a fellow traveler who appreciated Freud's psychoanalytic achievements but rebelled against the determinism of his metatheory The mind Sartre argued cannot be reduced to a collection of drives and structures nor is it enslaved to its past as Freud's work suggested Sartre advocated an existentialist psychoanalysis based on human freedom and the self's ability to reshape its own meaning and value Through the Sartrean approach Cannon offers a resolution to the crisis in psychoanalytic metatheory created by the current emphasis on relational needs By comparing Sartre with Freud and influential post-Freudians like Melanie Klein Otto Kernber Margaret Mahler D W Winnicott Heinz Kohut Harry Stack Sullivan and Jacques Lacan she demonstrates why the Sartrean model transcends the limitations of traditional Freudian metatheory In the process she adds a new dimension to our understanding of Sartre and his place in twentieth century philosophy

Downcast Eyes Martin Jay, 1993 Long considered the noblest of the senses vision has increasingly come under critical scrutiny by a wide range of thinkers who question its dominance in Western culture These critics of vision especially prominent in twentieth century France have challenged its allegedly superior capacity to provide access to the world They have also criticized its supposed complicity with political and social oppression through the promulgation of spectacle and surveillance Martin Jay turns to this discourse surrounding vision and explores its often contradictory implications in the work of such influential figures as Jean Paul Sartre Maurice Merleau Ponty Michel Foucault Jacques Lacan Louis Althusser Guy Debord Luce Irigaray Emmanuel Levinas and Jacques Derrida Jay begins with a discussion of the theory of vision from Plato to Descartes then considers its role in the French Enlightenment before turning to its status in the culture of modernity From consideration of French Impressionism to analysis of Georges Bataille and the Surrealists Roland Barthes's writings on photography and the film theory of Christian Metz Jay provides lucid and fair minded accounts of thinkers and ideas widely known for their difficulty His book examines the myriad links between the interrogation of vision and the pervasive antihumanist antimodernist and counter enlightenment tenor of much recent French thought Refusing however to defend the dominant visual order he calls instead for a plurality of scopic regimes Certain to generate controversy and discussion throughout the humanities and social sciences Downcast Eyes will consolidate Jay s reputation as one of today s premier cultural and intellectual historians

The Hydra's Tale R. Rawdon Wilson,2002-05 Imagine a disgusting experience Now think about your response What was it about the moment that made you turn your head that led your lip to curl and nose to wrinkle Disgust has many triggers some obvious others less so What disgusts us is never irrevocably fixed and certain It changes from culture to culture and even at times within a culture This fluidity makes the term disgust at once deadly simple and extremely complex In The Hydra s Tale Robert Rawdon Wilson treats the experience of disgust not from the perspective of the disgusting object in the world but from its representation Disgust marks either a slip over the border of the socially sanctioned or a struggle to keep someone or something from crossing that border Working through the spectrum of human response culture and art Wilson teases out the assumptions that underpin the disgust response
