Caste in Life: Experiencing Inequalities D. Shyam Babu and R.S Khare,2010 Caste in Life Experiencing Inequalities comprises real life stories of caste based social practices in India capturing a complex social reality The contributors write here about the role caste has played in their lives Was it a source of comfort An obstacle Or an irritant The reader will find the everyday reality of caste in its resilience and also the way it is changing with an India that is changing faster than anybody can capture the change A Companion to Social Geography Vincent J. Del Casino, Jr., Mary Thomas, Paul Cloke, Ruth Panelli, 2011-03-01 This volume traces the complexity of social geography in both its historical and present contexts whilst challenging readers to reflect critically on the tensions that run through social geographic thought Organized to provide a new set of conceptual lenses through which social geographies can be discussed Presents an original intervention into the debates about social geography Highlights the importance of social geography within the broader field of geography Key Concepts in Social Gerontology Judith E Phillips, Kristine J Ajrouch, Sarah Hillcoat-Nalletamby, 2010-03-18 Far from a dictionary the concepts are portrayed as complex and conflicting definitions and usages are both noted and evaluated Each article includes a necessarily selective set of references and cross references to other concepts included in the book Moreover the coverage and evaluation of the concepts is right at the current leading edge in a rapidly moving field Victor Marshall Department of Sociology and Institute on Aging University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill The concepts are very clear and very relevant and fantastic for my group of undergraduate students I found each concept to be succinctly and simply captured holding enough information to satisfy initial cravings and complex enough to tempt further reading I had originally thought that this book would provide supplementary reading as part of my Healthy Ageing course but have changed my mind to essential reading now I have had the opportunity to read the entire book Dr Meredith Tavener Groningen University Social gerontology is a new and dynamic field reflecting the increasing interest in ageing across the world This book provides a readily accessible guide to well established and contested issues as well as new concepts emerging through cutting edge research in the discipline The entries give concise lucid knowledge on what constitutes the building blocks of social gerontology and sets out a clear review of the core concepts both classic and emerging in this subject area Each concept is explored in terms of its history application usefulness to theory and research and significance in practice They go beyond simple definitions of the concepts to look at how each issue has shaped the discipline of social gerontology today This book is authored by social gerontologists from the UK and the USA Together they present an interdisciplinary perspective and reflect a global approach to the presentation of key concepts in social gerontology Work in Transition Arnd-Michael Nohl,Karin Schittenhelm,Oliver Schmidtke,Anja Weiss,2014-11-21

Despite the fact that many countries target highly skilled migrants for recruitment in the global labour market few of those migrants are able to take full advantage of their educational and professional qualifications in their new homes Work in Transition examines this paradox using extended narrative interviews that focus on the role that cultural capital plays in the labour market Comparing the migrant experience in Germany Canada and Turkey Work in Transition shows how migrants develop their cultural capital in order to enter the workforce as well as how failure to leverage that capital can lead to permanent exclusion from professional positions Exposing the mechanisms that drive inclusion and exclusion for migrants from a transatlantic comparative perspective this book provides a unique analytical approach to an increasingly important global issue Working Capital Nick Buck,Ian Gordon,Peter Hall,Michael Harloe,Mark Kleinman,2013-09-13 For decades the cities of the developed world were seen as problem beset relics from times of low mobility and slow communications But now their potential to sustain creativity culture and innovation is perceived as crucial to success in a much more competitive global economy The vital requirement to secure and sustain this success is argued to be the achievement of social cohesion Working Capital provides a rigorous but accessible analysis of these key issues taking London as its test case The book provides the first substantial analysis of key economic social and structural issues that the new London administration needs to deal with In a wider context its critical assessment of the bases of the new urbanism and of the global city thesis will raise questions both about the adequacy of urban thinking and about the capacity of new institutions alone to resolve the fundamental problems faced by cities Boosting Social Inclusion in Spain Improving Pathways and Co-ordination of Services OECD,2023-09-29 Spain has a high share of the working age population at risk of poverty or social exclusion and a high incidence of child poverty While Spain has introduced a minimum income at the national level social inclusion policies are the responsibility of the regions Addictions Catalina E. Kopetz,Carl W. Lejuez,2015-12-22 The current volume brings together social psychological theories and concepts and discusses their relevance to understanding substance use and addiction It identifies convergence points between traditional perspectives on addiction and social psychological theory and research This coexistence which acknowledges the value of the conceptual and methodological advancements in each relevant field and attempts to integrate them promotes scientific understanding and a more effective prevention and treatment of addiction Critical race theory and inequality in the labour market Ebun Joseph,2020-07-28 This book employs critical race theory as a theoretical and analytical framework to unveil how racial stratification shapes the socioeconomic outcomes and racial inequality in the labour market The pages guide students interested in CRT and investigating racism discrimination and inequality Feeling Hurt in Close Relationships Anita L. Vangelisti,2009-07-31

Feeling Hurt in Close Relationships presents a synthesis of cutting edge research and theory on hurt Being hurt is an inevitable part of close relationships What varies from relationship to relationship is not whether partners hurt each other but how their relationship is affected by hurtful episodes Given the potential influence of hurt feelings on people s interpersonal relationships it is not surprising that scholars have begun to study the antecedents processes and outcomes associated with hurt This collection integrates the various issues addressed by researchers theorists and practitioners who study the causes of hurt feelings the interpersonal events associated with hurt and the ways people respond to hurting and being hurt by others To capture the breadth and depth of the literature in this area the work of scholars from a variety of disciplines including social psychology communication sociology and family studies is highlighted 'Am I Less British?' Doğuř Şimşek,2024-02-07 Am I Less British focuses on the children of refugees and immigrants in North London whose parents migrated from Turkey Providing a rich ethnography of the lives of the children the book studies their sense of identity belonging and their transnational experiences It aims to understand how the children position themselves within a range of locations London North London and Turkey where they face class hierarchy racism and discrimination and explores how they think about their sense of belonging within the contemporary political context in Britain and Turkey De identifying themselves from national identities and holding onto the oppressed identities appear as new forms of resistance in response to racism and exclusion The experiences of the young people reflect the complexity of their lives in changing political and social circumstances across the borders of nation states and the importance of other categories of identity including local identities Overall the book argues that the intersections of local national and transnational approaches the political context through which the lives of young people are framed and their sophisticated engagement with ideas of race class ethnicity and gender are crucial in understanding their identity formation Praise for Am I Less British This is a nuanced and deeply researched study of the changing meaning of identity citizenship and belonging in today s Britain Drawing on her research in London among the children of Turkish migrants and Kurdish refugees im ek makes an important intervention in the conversations on Britishness that are helping to shape our society John Solomos University of Warwick Am I Less British is a beautifully crafted ethnography of young Londoners whose parents are Kurdish and Turkish Their voices sing out from its pages and question what it means to be British and the exclusions that block an equal access to belonging and full citizenship A brilliant stunning and urgent analysis of young multicultural lives Les Back University of Glasgow This is a wonderful addition to our understanding of conviviality in a postcolonial city Here we learn from new generations of Londoners as they contend with what it means to feel at home in any place at any time Vron Ware author of Who Cares about Britishness 2007

The Psychology of Conspiracy Theories Jan-Willem Prooijen,2018-04-09 Who believes in conspiracy theories and why are some people more susceptible to them than others What are the consequences of such beliefs Has a conspiracy theory ever turned out to be true The Psychology of Conspiracy Theories debunks the myth that conspiracy theories are a modern phenomenon exploring their broad social contexts from politics to the workplace The book explains why some people are more susceptible to these beliefs than others and how they are produced by recognizable and predictable psychological processes Featuring examples such as the 9 11 terrorist attacks and climate change The Psychology of Conspiracy Theories shows us that while such beliefs are not always irrational and are not a pathological trait they can be harmful to individuals and society Inequalities in Respiratory Health Ian P. Sinha,Alice Lee,Vittal Katikireddi,Jennifer K. Quint,2023-03-01

Health inequalities have long been deeply engrained in society If we are to address these inequalities we need to reflect on what has driven them and critically review the approaches that do and do not work This Monograph brings together leading experts and up and coming researchers in a collection of state of the art articles discussing the drivers and consequences of respiratory inequality Interpreting Rurality Gary Bosworth,Peter Somerville,2013-10-15 The British countryside is a national institution most people aspire to live there many people use it for leisure and recreation and we can all watch rural life played out on our television screen read about it in novels or consume its imagery in art and cinematography The aim of this book is to explore the way that these aspirations and perceptions influence the way that the term rural is interpreted across different academic disciplines Definitions of rural are not exact leaving room for these interpretations to have a significant impact on the meanings conveyed in different areas of research and across different economic social and spatial contexts In this book contributors present research across a range of subjects allowing critical reflections upon their personal and disciplinary interpretations of rural This resulting volume is a collection of diverse chapters that gives an emergent sense of how the notion of rural changes and blurs as the disciplinary lens is adjusted In drawing together these strands it becomes clear that human relations with rural space morph materiality into highly complex representations wherein both disadvantage and social exclusion persist within a rurality that is also commodified consumed and cherished

The Routledge Companion to Rural Planning Mark Scott,Nick Gallent,Menelaos Gkartzios,2019-01-28 The Routledge Companion to Rural Planning provides a critical account and state of the art review of rural planning in the early years of the twenty first century Looking across different international experiences from Europe North America and Australasia to the transition and emerging economies including BRIC and former communist states it aims to develop new conceptual propositions and theoretical insights supported by detailed case studies and reviews of available data The Companion gives coverage to emerging topics in the field and seeks to position rural planning in the broader context of global challenges climate change the loss of biodiversity food and energy security and low carbon futures It also looks at old established questions in new ways at social and spatial justice place shaping economic development and environmental and landscape management Planning in the twenty first century must grapple not only with the challenges presented by cities and urban concentration but also grasp the opportunities and understand the risks arising from rural change and restructuring Rural areas are diverse and dynamic This Companion attempts to capture and analyse at least some of this diversity fostering a dialogue on likely and possible rural futures between a global community of rural planning researchers Primarily intended for scholars and graduate students across a range of disciplines such as planning rural geography rural sociology agricultural studies development studies environmental studies and countryside management this book will prove to be an invaluable and up to date resource

Disability and Ageing Ann Leahy, 2023-01-10 Establishing a critical and interdisciplinary dialogue this text engages with the typically disparate fields of social gerontology and disability studies It investigates the subjective experiences of two groups rarely considered together in research people ageing with long standing disability and people first experiencing disability with ageing This book challenges assumptions about impairment in later life and the residual nature of the fourth age It proposes that the experience of disability in older age reaches beyond the bodily context and can involve not only a challenge to a sense of value and meaning in life but also ongoing efforts in response

Migration, Citizenship, and Intercultural Relations Fethi Mansouri, Michele Lobo, 2011 Presenting the latest empirical research from Australia and engaging with contemporary global debates on questions of identity citizenship intercultural relations and social inclusion this book unsettles fixed assumptions about who is included as a valued citizen and explores the possibilities for engendering inclusive visions of citizenship in local national and transnational spaces
