Expectations Of Modernity:

Expectations of Modernity James Ferguson, 1999-10 Zambia's economic boom in the 1960s and 1970s was fueled by the export of copper and other primary materials. Since the 1970s the urban economy has decreased. This volume explores the social and cultural responses to this prolonged period of sharp economic decline. Toward a New Legal Common Sense Boaventura de Sousa Santos, 2002-09 The text emphasises a need for reconstruction of legality based on locality, nationality and globality. Envisaging Dataist Modernity Nicolas Zehner, 2025-03-27 The Edinburgh and South East Scotland City Region Deal CRD constitutes a long term infrastructure investment that is designed to transform the city region into the Data Capital of Europe. Drawing on science and technology studies and urban studies, Nicolas Zehner explores the question of who gets to imagine what kinds of urban regional futures by investigating the emergence and early implementation of this large multi stakeholder urban regional development project. Demonstrating the growing influence of universities in shaping desirable futures, he introduces the notion of dataist modernity to characterise the contemporary relationship between science, technology and urban planning. Roads Through Mwinilunga Iva Peša, 2019-07-29 Roads through Mwinilunga provides a historical appraisal of social change in Northwest Zambia from 1750 until the present. By looking at agricultural production, mobility, consumption and settlement patterns, existing explanations of social change are reassessed. Using a wide range of archival and oral history sources, Iva Peša shows the relevance of Mwinilunga to broader processes of colonialism, capitalism and globalisation. Through a focus on daily life, this book complicates transitions from subsistence to market production and dichotomies between tradition and modernity. Roads through Mwinilunga is a crucial addition to debates on historical and social change in Central Africa. Ho-Chunk Powwows and the Politics of Tradition Grant P. Arndt, 2016-01-01 Ho Chunk powwows are the oldest powwows in the Midwest and among the oldest in the nation, beginning in 1902 outside Black River Falls in west central Wisconsin. Grant Arndt examines Wisconsin Ho Chunk powwow traditions and the meanings of cultural performances and rituals in the wake of North American settler colonialism. As early as 1908 the Ho Chunk people began to experiment with the commercial potential of the powwows by charging white spectators an admission fee. During the 1940s the Ho Chunk people decided to de-commercialize their powwows and rededicate dancing culture to honor their soldiers and veterans. Powwows today exist within, on the one hand, a wider commercialization of and conflict between intertribal dance contests and, on the other, efforts to emphasize traditional powwow culture through a focus on community values such as veteran recognition, warrior songs and gift exchange. In Ho Chunk Powwows and the Politics of Tradition, Arndt shows that over the past two centuries the dynamism of powwows within Ho Chunk life has changed greatly, as has the balance of tradition and modernity within community life. His book is a groundbreaking study of powwow culture that investigates how the Ho Chunk people create cultural value through their public ceremonial performances, the significance that dance culture provides for the acquisition of power and recognition inside and outside their communities, and how the

Making a Modern Political Order James J. Sheehan,2023-05-01 Sheehan s thoughtful book makes a convincing case that the modern political order arises out of people s shared expectations and hopes without which the nation state could not exist Every political order depends on a set of shared expectations about how the order does and should work In Making a Modern Political Order James Sheehan provides a sophisticated analysis of these expectations and shows how they are a source of both cohesion and conflict in the modern society of nation states The author divides these expectations into three groups first expectations about the definition and character of political space which in the modern era are connected to the emergence of a new kind of state second expectations about the nature of political communities that is about how people relate to one another and to their governments and finally expectations about the international system namely how states interact in a society of nation states Although Sheehan treats these three dimensions of the political order separately they are closely bound together each dependent on and reinforcing the others Ultimately he claims the modern nation state must balance all three organizing principles if it is to succeed Sheehan s project begins with an examination of people s expectations about political space community and international society in the premodern European world that came to be called the ancien r gime He then in chapters on states nations and the society of nation states proceeds to trace the development of a modern political order that slowly and unevenly replaced the ancien r gime in Europe and eventually spread throughout the world To close he offers some speculations about the horizon ahead of us beyond which lies a future order that may someday replace our own

Senses of the Future Gerard Delanty,2024-03-04 The future has become a problem for the present Almost every critical issue is now understood and experienced through the prism of the future since this is the primary focus for the playing out of crises Senses of the Future offers a wide ranging discussion of theories of the future It covers the main ideas of the future in modern thought and explores how we should view the future today in light of a plurality of very different and conflicting visions The key contribution of this book is to bring together the different approaches with an account that is grounded in sociological and philosophical analysis as opposed to visions of the future that are inspired by extreme visions of catastrophe or approaches that see the future as only the continuation of the present Given a revival of apocalyptic visions of the end times and dystopian views of the future of human societies there is urgent need for a new approach on how we should imagine the future The author explores the future as a field of tensions that is revealed in narratives utopian desires hope imaginaries and social struggles concerning the potential possibilities of the present the future does not just arrive it has to be fought for This book is an important contribution to a critical sociology of the future It is both a work of reconstruction and critique grounded in a historical and philosophical hermeneutics of the future Working Fictions
