The Stone-Campbell Movement Leroy Garrett, 2002

Moving Beyond the Impasse S. Wesley Ariarajah, 2018-10-01 Interfaith dialogue in a plural world This volume is based on the belief that both the ecumenical and interfaith movements are looking for new orientations for their future The forces of globalization communications revolution and massive population movements challenge some of the theological assumptions and presuppositions on which they were built The entry of deep and divisive religious sentiments into the public space and the rise of militant forms of religious expression call on the interfaith movement to move beyond traditional forms of dialogue the challenge is to enter into a deeper engagement on the purpose and role of religious traditions in society The impasse facing these movements can only be overcome by new orientations as they look to the future This volume is not specifically on this problem However the collection of essays included in this volume although first given as lectures or written as articles traces past developments identifies the challenges these movements face today and suggests fresh theological moves to regain the initiatives to bring human communities closer together

Homosexuality and the Crisis of Anglicanism William L. Sachs, 2009-08-13 The Anglican conflict over homosexuality has drawn worldwide interest and divided the church However conflict within Christianity is not new This book traces the steps by which the crisis emerged and reveals the deeper debates within the church which underlie both the current controversy and much earlier splits William L Sachs contends that the present debate did not begin with opposition to homosexuality or in advocacy of it He argues that like past tensions it originates in the diverging local contexts in which the faith is practised and their differing interpretations of authority and communion In the aftermath of colonialism activists and reformers have taken on prominent roles for and against the status quo The crisis reveals a Church in search of a new global consensus about the appropriate forms of belief and mission
