

A photograph of a dirt road winding through a forest. The trees on either side have autumn-colored foliage in shades of orange, yellow, and brown. The road leads towards a bright light at the end of the path, creating a strong sense of perspective. The overall mood is peaceful and contemplative.

Literary Communication as Dialogue Roger D. Sell,2020-11-15 As traced by Roger D Sell literary communication is a process of community making As long as literary authors and those responding to them respect each other s human autonomy literature flourishes as an enjoyable though often challenging mode of interaction that is truly dialogical in spirit This gives rise to author respondent communities whose members represent existential commonalities blended together with historical differences These heterogeneous literary communities have a larger social significance in that they have long served as counterweights to the hegemonic tendencies of modernity and more recently to postmodernity's well intentioned but restrictive politics of identity. In post postmodern times their ethos is increasingly one of pleasurable egalitarianism. The despondent anti hedonism of the twentieth century intelligentsia can now seem rather dated. Some of the papers selected for this volume develop Sell's ideas in mainly theoretical terms. But most of them offer detailed criticism of particular anglophone writers ranging from Shakespeare Ben Jonson and other poets and dramatists of the early modern period through Wordsworth and Coleridge to Dickens Pinter and Rushdie.

The Social Significance of Religion in the Enlarged Europe Olaf Müller, 2016-02-24 Engaging with some of the central issues in the sociology of religion this volume investigates the role and significance of churches and religion in contemporary Western and Eastern Europe. Researching more precisely the present social relevance of church and religion at different levels The Social Significance of Religion in the Enlarged Europe raises and responds to both descriptive and explanatory questions. Can we observe tendencies of religious decline in the various Western and Eastern European countries? Are we witnessing trends of religious individualization? To what extent has there been a religious upswing in the last few years? And what are the factors causing the observed processes of religious change? Marked by its broad range of data and a coherent conceptual framework in accordance with which each chapter assesses the extent to which three important theoretical approaches in the sociology of religion secularization theory the market model of religion and the individualization thesis are applicable to the data this book will be of interest to scholars of sociology politics and religion exploring religious trends and attitudes in contemporary Europe.
