Sensual Reading Michael Syrotinski, Ian MacLachlan, 2001 Sensual Reading is a collection of essays that attempts to rearticulate the relationship between reading and the different senses as a way of moving beyond increasingly homogenized discourses of the body and the subject Contributions engage with the individual senses with the themes of sensory richness and sensory deprivation and with the notion of telesensuality The Sketch, 1908 Ventriloquized Bodies Janet L. Beizer, 1994, Athanor (2001) S. Petrilli, 2001 Contemporary French Cinema Guy Austin, 1996-11-15 Examines popular French film of the last 25 years Charts recent developments in all genres since the New Wave including the heritage film the thriller the war film cinema du look Other topics include representations of sexuality the work of women film makers Includes a filmography Reading in Proust's A la recherche Adam Watt, 2009-06-18 Through close textual analysis of the scenes of reading in Proust's A la recherche du temps perdu Adam Watt offers an invigorating new study of the novel and previously unacknowledged paths through it After considering key childhood Primal Scenes which mark the act of reading as revelatory and potentially traumatic the book then identifies and examines the interwoven strands of the novel's narrative of reading showing that scenes where the narrator reads and where others provide lessons in reading are intricately connected within the narrator's ever unfolding considerations of intelligence sense experience knowledge and desire These acts of reading often bewildering the narrator with their mix of illuminations wrong turns and over determinations lead us to interrogate our own understanding of the act we accomplish as we read A la recherche This book emphasizes the complexities and contradictions with which reading always inescapably an engagement of both mind and body is riven and which connect it repeatedly to the experience of involuntary memory Reading is shown to be frequently fraught with heady instability and lire of a highly revealing sort from which narrator and readers alike have much to learn The book's final chapter shows how the narrator's critical energies turned contemplatively inwards in the Guermantes library are subsequently turned outwards for a final interpretive effort the reading of his now aged acquaintances at the Bal de t tes in a shift that provides the narrator not only the confidence to begin his work of art but also the humility to face undeterred the approach of death

The Mother in/and French Literature, 2021-11-22 The essays in this volume investigate maternity and the figure of the mother in French literature from France Switzerland Quebec and Africa from the seventeenth century to the present Drawing on cultural history psychoanalysis and feminist theory as well as more traditional methods they present maternity as a source of frustration and of joy mothers as repressed and revered daughters as wounded and loving sons as domineering and dependent Indeed few things are simple where mothers and especially where writing about mothers are concerned

Lire demain - Reading Tomorrow, 2012-01-01 A Bit of French With Your Coffee and Croissants Peter Voice, 2022-06-15 This is a book of French words and expressions interspersed with anecdotes illustrations and photos It is intended as a coffee table book one that hopefully might have the reader spilling their coffee over and thus spare themselves the prospect of tackling the section on French grammar and indeed the extensive lists of expressions and vocabulary in the appendices Part 8 of the book is devoted to George Voice the oldest brother of the author's father who was killed during the First World War at the age of 22 He is buried in the British Cemetery at Honnechy in Northern France What is most important as the reader probably realises is that they have purchased and possess their personal copy of this book to enjoy

Printed Voices Jean-François Vallée, Dorothea B. Heitsch, 2004-01-01 Prevalent but long neglected genres such as dialogue have recently been attracting attention in Renaissance studies In view of the pervasive and varied nature of this genre s use in the European Renaissance it has become crucial to widen the perspective so as to take into account more diverse approaches to this hybrid form For this reason Dorothea Heitsch and Jean Fran ois Vall e have assembled a broad collection of essays by international scholars that presents comparative interdisciplinary and theoretical inquiry into this neglected area The contributors who bring with them different linguistic cultural and disciplinary backgrounds examine dialogue from a variety of perspectives taking into account various factors linked to the upsurge of the genre in the Renaissance These factors include the emergence of a complex and multifarious subjectivity the advent of modern utopias the social and political importance of courtliness the rise of print culture religious and scientific controversy the prevalence of pedagogy and rhetorical culture the ethos of humanism the gendering of dialogue and Renaissance logocentrism Discussed are some of the most important works in Italian French German Neo Latin and English as well as some lesser known texts making Printed Voices a truly essential volume for the Renaissance scholar The Conte Janice Carruthers, Maeve McCusker, 2010 A majority of the chapters in this book were originally presented as papers at a conference held at Queen s University Belfast in September 2006 The volume explores the oral written dynamic in the conte fran ais francophone focusing on key aspects of the relationship between oral and written forms of the conte The chapters fall into four broad thematic areas the oral written dynamic in early modern France literary appropriations and transformations postcolonial contexts storytelling in contemporary France linguistic strategies Within these broad areas some chapters deal with sources and influences such as that of written on oral and vice versa others with the nature of the discourse resulting from an oral written dynamic discourse structure linguistic features etc some with the oral written interface as it affects the definition of genre others with the role of the oral within the literary or written text use of storytelling scenarios the problematics inherent in transcribing adapting the spoken word etc This chronological and methodological range allows us to situate the emergence of the form in socio cultural and historical terms and to open up debate around the role of the conte in particular geographical and political contexts regional national European and postcolonial This book contains contributions in both English and French On tourne! Véronique Anover, Rémi Fournier Lanzoni, 2020-02-03 eTextbooks are now available through VitalSource com On tourne is a one semester advanced French

textbook 5th 6th semester of instruction designed to be used as a stand alone text for a course on French and francophone films or for a French conversation course This textbook could also be used as a supplementary text in an advanced conversation course a composition course or a contemporary culture course On tourne guides students to analyze and discuss thirteen films from France and the francophone world Each chapter focuses on a single film and includes pre viewing activities vocabulary information on the cultural and linguistic nuances of the film and post viewing activities and discussion points Moreover each chapter contains a review of an essential grammatical structure as well as idiomatic expressions used in the film to highlight their pragmatic function The films included explore a wide array of themes ranging from family food and fashion to politics religion and racial ethnic identities Poincaré Seminar 2002 Vincent Rivasseau,2003-04-24 The Poincar Seminar is held twice a year at the Institut Henri Poincar in Paris This volume contains the lectures of the 2002 seminars The main topic of the first one was the vacuum energy in particular the Casimir effect and the nature of the cosmological constant The second one concentrated on renormalization giving a comprehensive account of its mathematical structure and applications to high energy physics statistical mechanics and classical mechanics Students will find excellent introductions to the subjects with further lectures leading to the frontiers of experimental and theoretical research scientists will profit from contributions by outstanding experts Protean Selves Adrienne Angelo,2014-08-20 What does it mean to write I in postmodern society in a world in which technological advances and increased globalization have complicated notions of authenticity origins and selfhood Under what circumstances and to what extent do authors lend their scriptural authority to fictional counterparts What role does naming or conversely anonymity play vis vis the writing and written I What aspects of identity are subject to auto fictional manipulations And how do these complicated and multilayered narrating selves problematize the reader s engagement with the text Seeking answers to these questions Protean Selves brings together essays which explore the intricate relations between language self identity otherness and the world through the analysis of the forms and uses of the first person voice Written by specialists of a variety of approaches and authors from across the world the studies in this volume follow up a number of critical inquiries on the thorny problematic of self representation and the representation of the self in contemporary French and francophone literatures and extend the theoretical analysis to narratives and authors who have gained increasing commercial and academic visibility in the twenty first century This "Self" Which Is Not One Natalie Edwards,Christopher Hogarth,2010-03-08 The Self Which is Not One Women s Life Writing in French assembles articles on women s life writing from diverse areas of the Francophone world It is comprised of nine chapters that discuss female writers from North Africa Sub Saharan Africa the Caribbean and Europe in addition to French writers The idea of the self is currently attracting widespread interest in academia most notably in the arts and humanities The development of postmodernism supposes a fragmented subject formed from the network of available discourses rather than a stable and coherent self Jacques Derrida for example wrote that there is no longer any such things as a full subject and Julia Kristeva now insists that the individual is a subject in process. The growing importance of psychoanalytic theory, particular in French studies, has also impacted upon this development. The basic tenet of psychoanalytic theory is that the individual is formed of a duality, the conscious and unconscious parts of the self, which prevent the individual from ever fully knowing her/himself and which thus insists upon a plural, incomplete self. Developments in the field of postcolonial studies have also made us aware of different ways of approaching the self in different parts of the world and eroded the idea of a stable, conscious and complete self. As scholars examine these new ways of approaching the self, autobiography has been the subject of renewed interest. Several academic books have appeared in recent years that study the ways in which autobiographers represent the self as incomplete, evolving and elusive. In particular, a number of books have appeared on the subject of women's autobiography and female subjectivity, such as works by Sidonie Smith, Julia Watson and Nancy Miller, and several volumes interrogate postcolonial women's autobiography, such as texts by Françoise Lionnet, Gayatri Spivak, Carole Boyce Davies and Chandra Mohanty. Our volume unites these strands of criticism by examining ways that female autobiographies write the self as a fragmented, plural construct across the Francophone world. This will be the first book-length study of this important development. This volume will be of interest primarily to students and scholars working in the areas of life writing, French and Francophone studies, postcolonial studies and gender studies. The volume contributes to multiple areas that are currently garnering substantial interest in academe: postcolonial studies, Francophone studies, gender studies and women's writing. By comparing works from across the Francophone world, our volume takes a global approach to the genre of autobiography and its inflections by women writers. The Self That is Not One in Women's Autobiography in French therefore represents a timely intervention in several interlinking academic fields and will thus garner substantial interest.
