Imagined Regional Communities Integration And Sovereignty In The Global South:

Imagined Regional Communities James D. Sidaway, 2003-08-29 Imagined Regional Communities provides an original approach to thinking about the processes of regional integration Focusing mostly on communities in Africa Asia and Latin America it develops detailed case studies based on archives interviews and critical readings of existing texts These case studies are related to each other and the overall themes of the book so that a set of narratives and theoretical elaborations emerge that critically reformulate understandings of regional communities statehood and sovereignty Design

Economies and the Changing World Economy John Bryson, Grete Rusten, 2010-12-14 Design is central to every service or good produced sold and consumed Manufacturing and service companies located in high cost locations increasingly find it difficult to compete with producers located in countries such as India and China Companies in high cost locations either have to shift production abroad or create competitive advantage through design innovation brand and the geographic distribution of tasks rather than price Design Economies and the Changing World Economy provides the first comprehensive account of the relationship between innovation design corporate competitiveness and place Design economies are explored through an analysis of corporate strategies the relationship between product and designer copying and imitation including nefarious learning design and competitiveness and design centred regional policies The design process plays a critical role in corporate competitiveness as it functions at the intersection between production and consumption and the interface between consumer behaviour and the development and design of products This book focuses on firms individuals as well as national policy drawing attention to the development of corporate and nation based design strategies that are intended to enhance competitive advantage Increasingly products are designed in one location and made in another This separation of design from the place of production highlights the continued development of the international division of labour as tasks are distributed in different places but blended together to produce design intensive branded products This book provides a distinctive analysis of the ways in which companies located in developed market economies compete on the basis of design brand and the geographic distribution of tasks The text contains case studies of major manufacturing and service companies and will be of valuable interest to students and researchers interested in Geography Economics and Planning Cradle of Liberty Caroline Levander, 2006-10-25 Argues that from the late eighteenth century through the early twentieth American literary and political texts used the figure of the child to represent U S national belonging Connecting South-South Communities Muhammed Haron, 2019-01-03 In addition to offering a comprehensive overview and fair insight over more than twenty five years into the relations between two South Middle Powers namely South Africa and Malaysia this book also discusses them within their respective regional structures and evaluates their respective diplomatic and commercial connections It also explores issues that have generally be neglected by International Relations specialists and in this regard it gives attention to cultural contacts that bring to the fore the critical role of non state actors in international affairs Since the ideas espoused by South Africa and Malaysia's political leaders are rooted in their specific national and broad regional philosophies the study also unpacks the notions of the African ways vis vis the Asian ways in maintaining and sustaining state to state relations within the two regions This book which uses Critical Theory as an appropriate framework that takes full cognisance of various developments in International Relations will be of interest to scholars and researchers in both the Social Sciences and the Humanities

The Politics of Urban Cultural Policy Carl Grodach, Daniel Silver, 2013 The Politics of Urban Cultural Policy brings together a range of international experts to critically analyze the ways that governmental actors and non governmental entities attempt to influence the production and implementation of urban policies directed at the arts culture and creative activity Presenting a global set of case studies that span five continents and 22 cities the essays in this book advance our understanding of how the dynamic interplay between economic and political context institutional arrangements and social networks affect urban cultural policy making and the ways that these policies impact urban development and influence urban governance The volume comparatively studies urban cultural policy making in a diverse set of contexts analyzes the positive and negative outcomes of policy for different constituencies and identifies the most effective policy directions emerging political challenges and most promising opportunities for building effective cultural policy coalitions The volume provides a comprehensive and in depth engagement with the political process of urban cultural policy and urban development studies around the world It will be of interest to students and researchers interested in urban planning urban studies and cultural studies

Fieldwork in the Global South Jenny Lunn, 2014-03-26 Choosing to do fieldwork overseas particularly in the Global South is a challenge in itself The researcher faces logistical complications health and safety issues cultural differences language barriers and much more But permeating the entire fieldwork experience are a range of intermediating ethical issues While many researchers seek to follow institutional and disciplinary guidelines on ethical research practice the reality is that each situation is unique and the individual researcher must negotiate their own path through a variety of ethical challenges and dilemmas This book was created to share such experiences to serve not as a manual for ethical practice but rather as a place for reflection and mutual learning Since ethical issues face the researcher at every turn and cannot be compartmentalized into one part of the research process this book puts them at the very center of the discussion and uses them as the lens with which to view different stages of fieldwork The book covers four thematic areas ethical challenges in the field ethical dimensions of researcher identity ethical issues relating to research methods and ethical dilemmas of engagement with a variety of actors This volume also provides fresh insights by drawing on the experiences of research students rather than those of established academics The contributors describe research conducted for their master's degrees and doctorates offering honest and self-critical reflections on how they negotiated ethical challenges and dilemmas The chapters cover fieldwork carried out in countries across Africa Asia and Latin America on a broad sweep of development related topics This book should have wide appeal to undergraduates postgraduates and early career researchers working under the broad umbrella of development studies Although focused on fieldwork in the Global South the discussions and reflections are relevant to field research in many other countries and contexts

Spaces of Vernacular Creativity Tim Edensor, Deborah Leslie, Steve Millington, Norma Rantisi, 2009-10-29 This book argues for a rethinking of what constitutes creativity foregrounding non economic values and practices and the often marginal and everyday spaces in which creativity takes shape

Making Development Geography Victoria Lawson, 2014-03-18 Making Development Geography is a timely new book which introduces readers to the major themes and debates in development geography It argues cogently that the field is engaged in an ongoing process of reinventing itself as critical development geography and highlights issues such as identity globalization social movements and sexuality Readers are guided through the key concepts and developments of the last 50 years surveying the themes of Keynesianism Marxism and post colonialism At the same time each chapter uses international examples to discuss important contemporary issues so that the real world applications of theory can be understood This enlightening book offers a comprehensive introduction to the fundamental debates for anyone with an interest in development issues

Postcolonial Geographies Alison Blunt, Cheryl McEwan, 2003-02-01 Postcolonialism and geography are intimately linked through the spatiality of colonial discourse as well as the material effects of colonialism and decolonization Geographical ideas about space place landscape and location have helped to articulate different experiences of colonialism both in the past and present and the here and there At the same time while spatial images such as mobility margins and exile abound in postcolonial writings more material geographies have often been overlooked Postcolonial Geographies presents the first sustained geographical analysis of postcolonialism Exploring and developing the connections between postcolonialism and geography the essays in this book ranging across Europe Australia Asia Africa and North America investigate the geographies of postcolonialism and chart the contours of a postcolonial geography Contributors Morag Bell Claire Dwyer Haydie Gooder Jane M Jacobs M Satish Kumar Alan Lester Mark McGuinness Karen M Morin Richard Phillips Marcus Power Jenny Robinson James D Sidaway John Wylie

The Ashgate Research Companion to Critical Geopolitics Merje Kuus, 2016-04-01 Since the late 1980s critical geopolitics has gone from being a radical critical perspective on the disciplines of political geography and international relations theory to becoming a recognised area of research in its own right Influenced by poststructuralist concerns with the politics of representation critical geopolitics considers the ways in which the use of particular discourses shape political practices Initially critical geopolitics analysed the practical geopolitical language of the elites and intellectuals of statecraft Subsequent iterations have considered the role that popular representations of the international political world play As critical geopolitics has become a more established part of political geography it has attracted ever more critique from feminists for its apparent blindness to the embodied effects of geopolitical praxis and from those who have been uncomfortable about its textual focus while others have challenged critical geopolitics to address alternative resistant forms of geopolitical practice Again critical geopolitics has been reworked to incorporate these challenges and the latest iterations have encompassed normative agendas non representational theory emotional geographies and affect It is against the vibrant backdrop of this intellectual development of critical geopolitics as a subdiscipline that this Companion is set Bringing together leading researchers associated with the different forms of critical geopolitics this volume produces an overview of its achievements limitations and areas of new and potential future development The Companion is designed to serve as a key resource for an interdisciplinary group of scholars and practitioners interested in the spatiality of politics

Whose Urban Renaissance? Libby Porter, Kate Shaw, 2009-01-13 The desire of governments for a renaissance of their cities is a defining feature of contemporary urban policy From Melbourne and Toronto to Johannesburg and Istanbul government policies are successfully attracting investment and middle class populations to their inner areas Regeneration or gentrification as it can often become produces winners and losers There is a substantial literature on the causes and unequal effects of gentrification and on the global and local conditions driving processes of dis and re investment But there is little examination of the actual strategies used to achieve urban regeneration what were their intents did they succeed and if not why not and what were the specific consequences Whose Urban Renaissance asks who benefits from these urban transformations The book contains beautifully written and accessible stories from researchers and activists in 21 cities across Europe North and South America Asia South Africa the Middle East and Australia each exploring a specific case of urban regeneration Some chapters focus on government or market strategies driving the regeneration process and look closely at the effects Others look at the local contingencies that influence the way these strategies work Still others look at instances of opposition and struggle and at policy interventions that were used in some places to ameliorate the inequities of gentrification Working from these stories the editors develop a comparative analysis of regeneration strategies with nuanced assessments of local constraints and counteracting policy responses The concluding chapters provide a critical comparison of existing strategies and open new directions for more equitable policy approaches in the future Whose Urban Renaissance is targeted at students academics planners policy makers and activists The book is unique in its geographical breadth and its constructive policy emphasis offering a succinct critical and timely exploration of urban regeneration strategies throughout the world

Refugee Coloniality Bosco Opi, 2024-04-27 This book presents a decolonial and Afrocentric critique of prolonged encampment of refugees centred on the case study of refugee camps in Kenya introduced through the author's decades long experience of forced displacement His positionality as a former refugee contributes to a wider discussion on representation voice and power within the refugee studies literature Likewise the revisiting of the refugee camp as site and tool of power from a colonial perspective is an important and timely contribution to the literature This book examines the camp as a colonial innovation and the enduring colonial logics of supposedly humanitarian extended encampment Drawing on the anti colonial theorists such as Fanon Mbembe and Nyerere etc it argues for an Africa without borders or encampment The study is interdisciplinary encompassing forced migration refugee studies camp studies decolonial studies and African studies More broadly it seeks to contribute to the literature on the politics of asylum in Africa through a critical examination of the colonial origins and the practice of encampment in Kenya
