Linguistic Action Some Empiricalconceptual Studies:

Linguistic Action Jef Verschueren, 1987      Theorization and Representations in Linguistics Viviane Arigne, Christiane Migette, 2018-11-07 This book addresses some issues of theorization in linguistics having to do with the systems of representation used in linguistics and the relation between linguistics and cognition The essays gathered in the first part question the very concept of metalanguage comparing the metalanguage used in formalised languages and that of natural languages or examining Chomsky's theory of mental representations in relation to semantic description and analysis In the same line of thought another contribution endeavours to show how the notational system of a linguistic theory is part and parcel of both conceptualisation and theorisation in an analysis based on the early development of phonetics and phonology The second part of the volume studies the relations between linguistics and cognition seen under different angles The first study examines how the relation between cognitive linguistics and other disciplines is conducive to confusion and divergences in the interpretation of the terminology and is followed by a discussion of the origins and development of prototype theory in psychology and its transfer in linguistics by cognitive semanticists The last two chapters study how mental operations are expressed in language analysing the cognitive processes of deductive vs abductive inference on the one hand and the metarepresentation of utterance acts by assertive shell nouns on the other hand      Historical Linguistics 1987 Henning Andersen, E.F.K. Koerner, 1990-01-01 The volume contains 37 papers originally presented at the 8th International Conference on Historical Linguistics in Lille France The papers bring historical data to bear on issues in theoretical linguistics both descriptive and diachronic or deal with specific questions in the history of individual languages The theoretical issues range from phonology over morphology and syntax to the lexicon as well as questions of historical dialectology language contact the theory of linguistic change and problems of comparative reconstruction The languages discussed are Finno Ugric and Indo European most of the papers dealing with Germanic and Romance languages especially English and French but some being devoted to Greek Celtic Slavic and Hittite      Topics in Cognitive Linguistics Brygida Rudzka, 1988 This volume presents new developments in cognitive grammar and explores its descriptive and explanatory potential with respect to a wide range of language phenomena These include the formation and use of locationals causative constructions adjectival and nominal expressions of oriented space morphological layering tense and aspect and extended uses of verbal predicates There is also a section on the affinities between cognitive grammar and early linguistic theories both ancient and modern      Essays in Semantics and Pragmatics Masayoshi Shibatani, Sandra A. Thompson, 1996-01-01 This volume reflects the influence of Chuck Fillmore's ground breaking work in the fields of semantics and pragmatics The papers in the volume pay tribute to his pioneering research into the deepest realms of the nature of meaning      Metonymy and Pragmatic Inferencing Klaus-Uwe Panther, Linda L. Thornburg, 2003 In recent years conceptual metonymy has been recognized as a cognitive phenomenon that is as fundamental as metaphor for reasoning and the construction of meaning

The thoroughly revised chapters in the present volume originated as presentations in a workshop organized by the editors for the 7th International Pragmatics Conference held in Budapest in 2000. They constitute according to an anonymous reviewer an interesting contribution to both cognitive linguistics and pragmatics. The contributions aim to bridge the gap and encourage discussion between cognitive linguists and scholars working in a pragmatic framework. Topics include the metonymic basis of explicature and implicature, the role of metonymically based inferences in speech act and discourse interpretation, the pragmatic meaning of grammatical constructions, the impact of metonymic mappings on and their interaction with grammatical structure, the role of metonymic inferencing and implicature in linguistic change, and the comparison of metonymic principles across languages and different cultural settings.

Reanimated Voices Daniel E. Collins, 2001. Reanimated Voices addresses three activities: reporters evoking speech events, interpreters reconstituting those speech events, and historical pragmatics eavesdropping in time on the reporters and interpreters. Can one reconstruct aspects of pragmatic competence on the basis of written texts only? Reanimated Voices answers this in the affirmative. It offers a methodology for historical pragmatic reconstruction to explain the synchronic patterns of variation in premodern writings. Reanimated Voices examines the distribution of reporting strategies in a corpus of medieval Russian texts. Forms preferred in specific recurring contexts are matched with the needs served by those contexts, a fit reflecting collective intentionality. Occasional residual forms, strategies that appear in contexts where others predominate, also reflect cooperative behavior; they index utterances departing from the prototype or unusual configurations of participants. Thus Reanimated Voices explores reporting as an activity of rational agents coordinating interpretation in accordance with cultural and institutional notions of relevance.

By Word of Mouth Louis Goossens, Paul Pauwels, Brygida Rudzka-Ostyn, Anne-Marie Simon-Vandenberghe, Johan Vanparys, 1995-12-08. This volume contains seven synchronic and diachronic empirical investigations into the expression and conceptualization of linguistic action in English, focusing on figurative extensions. The following issues are explored: Source domains and their relation to the complexities of linguistic action as a target domain. The role of axiological parameter, the experiential grounding of metaphors expressing value judgements, and the part played by image schemata: how value judgements come about and their socio-cultural embedding. The graded character of metaphoricality and its correlation with degrees of recoverability/salience. The interaction of metonymy and metaphor, e.g. the question what factors motivate the conventionalization of metonymies, which includes the perspective that conventionalized metaphors frequently have a metonymic origin. The role of image schemata in the organization and development of a lexical subfield, which raises new questions on the nature of metaphor, the identification of source and target domains, and the Invariance Hypothesis.

Cognitive Exploration of Language and Linguistics René Dirven, Marjolijn Verspoor, 2004-06-30. Cognitive Exploration of Language and Linguistics is designed as a comprehensive introductory text for first and second year university students of language and linguistics. It provides a chapter on each of the more established areas in linguistics such as lexicology morphology syntax phonetics and phonology historical linguistics and language typology and on some of the newer areas such as cross cultural semantics pragmatics text linguistics and contrastive linguistics In each of these areas language is explored as part of a cognitive system comprising perception emotion categorisation abstraction processes and reasoning All these cognitive abilities may interact with language and be influenced by language Thus the study of language in a sense becomes the study of the way we express and exchange ideas and thoughts This Second Revised Edition is corrected updated and expanded Cognitive Exploration of Language and Linguistics is clearly presented and organized after having been tested in several courses in various countries Includes exercises solutions to be found on the Internet Studies in South Slavic and Balkan Linguistics ,2023-04-12 Studies in Slavic and General Linguistics is mainly devoted to the field of descriptive linguistics Although the series is primarily intended to be a means of publication for linguists from the Low Countries the editors are pleased to accept contributions by linguists from abroad Linguistic Action Jef Verschueren,1987 New Studies in Latin Linguistics Robert Coleman,1991 The 29 papers in this volume cover a wide variety of topics ranging from the Glottalic Theory and Lachmann's Law to the hermeneutic analysis of text structure in Tacitus Germania The volume focuses on three themes specifically the morphology and semantics of lexical formation the internal and external syntax of the noun phrase and the pragmatics of textual cohesion The papers are descriptive rather than historical in approach and most of the contributors are Latinists by training For this reason the volume will be of interest not only for philologists and general linguists but also for those working with the Latin language The Dynamics of Language Use Christopher Butler,María A. Gómez-González,Susana María Doval Suárez,2005-01-01 This book brings together a collection of articles characterized by two main themes the contrastive study of parallel phenomena in two or more languages and an essentially functional approach in which language is regarded first and foremost as a rich and complex communication system inextricably embedded in sociocultural and psychological contexts of use The majority of the studies reported are empirical in nature many making use of corpora or other textual materials in the language's under investigation The book begins with an introductory section in which the editors provide surveys of the state of the art in both functional and contrastive linguistics The other five sections of the volume are devoted to i a cognitive perspective on form and function ii information structure iii collocations and formulaic language iv language learning and v discourse and culture Metaphor and Metonymy in Comparison and Contrast René Dirven,Ralf Pörings,2009-09-24 The book elaborates one of Roman Jakobson's many brilliant ideas i.e. his insight that the two cognitive strategies of the metaphoric and the metonymic are the end points on a continuum of conceptualization processes This elaboration is achieved on the background of Lakoff and Johnson's twodomain approach i.e. the mapping of a source onto a target domain of conceptualization Further approaches dwell on different stretches of this metaphor metonymy continuum Still other papers probe into the specialized conceptual division of labor associated with both modes of thought Two new breakthroughs in the cognitive linguistics approach to metaphor and metonymy have recently been developed one is the three domain approach which concentrates on the new blends that become possible after the integration or the blending of source and target domain elements the other is the approach in terms of primary scenes and subscenes which often determine the way source and target domains interact Investigations into the Meta-Communicative Lexicon of English Ulrich Busse, Axel

Hübner, 2012-05-15 The volume contributes to historical pragmatics an important chapter on what has so far not been paid adequate attention to i.e. historical metapragmatics More particularly the collected papers apply a meta communicative approach to historical texts by focusing on lexis that either directly or metaphorically identifies or characterizes entire forms of communication or single acts and act sequences or minor units Within the context of their use such lexical expressions in fact provide a key for disclosing historical forms of communication taken out of context they build the meta communicative lexicon The articles follow three principal distinctions in that they investigate the meta communicative profile of genres meta communicative lexical sets and meta communicative ethics and ideologies They cover a broad spectrum of text types that span the entire history of the English language from Anglo Saxon chronicles to computer mediated communication

Linguistics in Context--Connecting Observation and Understanding Deborah Tannen, 1988-01-01 The range of topics addressed in this collection can be seen in the titles of the four sections into which the chapters are grouped Humanistic Approaches to Linguistic Analysis The Nature and Uses of Language and Linguistic Theory Poetry Linguistic Analysis and Language Teaching and Language Learning and Teaching Among the contributors are A L Becker Paul Friedrich Paul Hopper William Labov Kenneth Pike Harold Rosen Emanuel Schegloff Muriel Saville Troike H G Widdowson and Deborah Tannen Metalanguage Adam Jaworski, Nikolas Coupland, Dariusz Galasinski, 2012-10-24 Metalanguage brings together new original contributions on people's knowledge about language and representations of language e.g. representations of dialects styles utterances stances and goals in relation to sociolinguistic theory sociolinguistic accounts of language variation and accounts of linguistic usage Drawing on a variety of data sources such as lay and linguists metalanguage the media parliamentary debates education and retail shopping the book comprises four sections and an integrative commentary The main thematic parts deal with metalanguage in relation to the following issues the theory of metalanguage ideology social evaluation and stylisation Other key themes discussed include constructionism identity formation in and out grouping deception discrimination manipulation and the increasing semiotisation of the socio cultural landscape Apart from the strictly linguistic concerns some contributions focus on discourse in a broader sense examining meta commentary construed in modalities other than language The book follows from and complements a great tradition of the study of metalanguage reflexivity and metapragmatics and offers a new integrating perspective from various fields of sociolinguistics perceptual dialectology variationism pragmatics critical discourse analysis and social semiotics The broad range of theoretical issues and accessible style of writing will appeal to advanced students and researchers in sociolinguistics and in other disciplines across the social sciences and humanities including linguists communication researchers anthropologists sociologists social psychologists critical and social theorists The book includes chapters by Deborah Cameron Nikolas Coupland Dariusz Galasinski Peter Garrett Adam Jaworski Tore Kristiansen Ulrike Hanna Meinhof Dennis Preston Theo van Leeuwen Kay Richardson Itesh Sachdev Angie Williams and John Wilson      Reported Discourse Tom Güldemann, Manfred von Roncador, 2002-09-24 The present volume unites 15 papers on reported discourse from a wide genetic and geographical variety of languages Besides the treatment of traditional problems of reported discourse like the classification of its intermediate categories the book reflects in particular how its grammatical semantic and pragmatic properties have repercussions in other linguistic domains like tense aspect modality evidentiality reference tracking and pronominal categories and the grammaticalization history of quotative constructions Almost all papers present a major shift away from analyzing reported discourse with the help of abstract transformational principles toward embedding it in functional and pragmatic aspects of language Another central methodological approach pervading this collection consists in the discourse oriented examination of reported discourse based on large corpora of spoken or written texts which is increasingly replacing analyses of constructed de contextualized utterances prevalent in many earlier treatments The book closes with a comprehensive bibliography on reported discourse of about 1 000 entries      Developments in English International Association of University Professors of English. Conference, 2015 Addresses current issues in corpus linguistics methodological theoretical and applied with special reference to Englishes past and present      Universal Grammar and Narrative Form David Herman, 1995 In a major rethinking of the functions methods and aims of narrative poetics David Herman exposes important links between modernist and postmodernist literary experimentation and contemporary language theory Ultimately a search for new tools for narrative theory his work clarifies complex connections between science and art theory and culture and philosophical analysis and narrative discourse Following an extensive historical overview of theories about universal grammar Herman examines Joyce s Ulysses Kafka s The Trial and Woolf s Between the Acts as case studies of modernist literary narratives that encode grammatical principles which were re fashioned in logic linguistics and philosophy during the same period Herman then uses the interpretation of universal grammar developed via these modernist texts to explore later twentieth century cultural phenomena The problem of citation in the discourses of postmodernism for example is discussed with reference to syntactic theory An analysis of Peter Greenaway s The Cook The Thief His Wife and Her Lover raises the question of cinematic meaning and draws on semantic theory In each case Herman shows how postmodern narratives encode ideas at work in current theories about the nature and function of language Outlining new directions for the study of language in literature Universal Grammar and Narrative Form provides a wealth of information about key literary linguistic and philosophical trends in the twentieth century
