The Europeanization of Turkish Public Policies Aylin Güney, Ali Tekin, 2015-09-16. Turkey's candidacy for membership of the European Union has had mixed effects on its public policies. The initial degree of cohesion between EU and Turkish national policies, practices, and institutions has varied by the policy field in question, leading to a complex amalgam of fit and misfit between the two actors. Their interaction in different policy areas has had direct influence both on Turkey's accession to the EU and its own national reform process. With accession negotiations stalled and Turkey's relationship with the EU increasingly tenuous, it is vital to take stock of the extent to which Turkey and the EU are aligned in key policy areas. The Europeanization of Turkish Public Policies: A Scorecard is the first comprehensive work focusing on the impact of the EU accession process upon Turkey's public policies between 1999 and 2014. Complementing the authors' earlier volume Europeanization of Turkey: Polity and Politics, it brings together leading specialists to provide key analyses of the impact of Europeanization on specific areas of Turkey's public policy. Each chapter applies a core analytical framework to examine a separate policy field, resulting in a consistent and comprehensive volume on Turkey-EU relations. With its focused structure and extensive coverage, concluding with a scorecard enabling informed assessment of the impact of Europeanization on Turkey's public policy areas, this book provides

The Many Faces of Differentiation in EU Law Bruno de Witte,Dominik Hanf,Ellen Vos,2001 The introduction by the Amsterdam Treaty of the flexibility clauses authorising a majority of Member States to cooperate more closely in areas covered by the Treaties has been received with mixed feelings Flexibility is by no means a new phenomenon in the EU s development It has been on the Community s agenda already since the 1970s The Single European Act introduced several provisions allowing for flexible approaches to the single market whilst the Maastricht Treaty launched a differentiated approach to the EMU and social policy In addition to these forms of differentiation in primary Community law for many years there has also been a number of quite important though less visible forms of differentiation in secondary Community law This book aims to link both levels of differentiation and seeks to unveil the many faces of differentiation in EU law It analyses whether and to which extent there is a shift in European integration from a system of unity and uniformity to one of flexibility and differentiation A first series of contributions to the book analyse a number of exemplary policy fields EMU social policy environment free movement of persons justice and home affairs in order to identify their degree of differentiation A second set of contributions examine various horizontal institutional matters of cross sectoral importance These two main parts are framed by introductory articles on the development of flexibility and by contributions drawing on the constitutional limits to differentiation The contributions are made by Dominik Hanf Jos M de Areilza Jean Victor Louis Sean Van Raepenbusch Ludwig Kramer Georgia Papagianni Grainne de Burca Ellen Vos Linda Senden Sacha Prechal Wouter Devroe Deirdre Curtin Bruno De Witte Eddy De Smijter en Jan Wouters
