Self-Translation and Power Olga Castro, Sergi Mainer, Svetlana Page, 2017-08-07 This book investigates the political social cultural and economic implications of self translation in multilingual spaces in Europe Engaging with the power turn in translation studies contexts it offers innovative perspectives on the role of self translators as cultural and ideological mediators The authors explore the unequal power relations and centre periphery dichotomies of Europe s minorised languages literatures and cultures They recognise that the self translator s double affiliation as author and translator places them in a privileged position to challenge power to negotiate the experiences of the subaltern and colonised and to scrutinise conflicting minorised vs hegemonic cultural identities Three main themes are explored in relation to self translation hegemony and resistance self minorisation and self censorship and collaboration hybridisation and invisibility This edited collection will appeal to scholars and students working on translation transnational and postcolonial studies and multilingual and multicultural identities Literary Self-Translation in Hispanophone Contexts - La autotraducción literaria en contextos de habla hispana Lila Bujaldón de Esteves, Belén Bistué, Melisa Stocco, 2019-12-17 This edited book contributes to the growing field of self translation studies by exploring the diversity of roles the practice has in Spanish speaking contexts of production on both sides of the Atlantic Part I surveys the presence of self translation in contemporary Indigenous literatures in Spanish America with a focus on Mexico and the Mapuche poetry of Chile and Argentina Part II proposes to incorporate self translation into the history of Spanish American literatures including its relation with colonial multilingual translation practices the transfers it allowed between the French and Spanish American avant gardes and the insertion it offered for exiled Republicans in Mexico Part III develops new reflections on the Iberian realm on the choice between self and allograph translation Basque writers must face a new category in Xos Dasilva s typology based on the Galician context and the need to expand the analysis of directionality in Catalan self translations This book brings together contributions from some of the leading international experts in translation and self translation and it will be of interest to scholars and students in the fields of Translation Studies Cultural Studies Comparative Literature Spanish Literature Spanish American and Latin American Literature and Amerindian Literatures A Comparative History of Literatures in the Iberian Peninsula Fernando Cabo Aseguinolaza, Anxo Abuín Gonzalez, César Domínguez, 2010-05-26 A Comparative History of Literatures in the Iberian Peninsula is the second comparative history of a new subseries with a regional focus published by the Coordinating Committee of the International Comparative Literature Association As its predecessor for East Central Europe this two volume history distances itself from traditional histories built around periods and movements and explores from a comparative viewpoint a space considered to be a powerful symbol of inter literary relations Both the geographical pertinence and its symbolic condition are obviously discussed when not even contested Written by an international team of researchers who are specialists in the field this history is the first attempt at applying a comparative approach to the plurilingual and multicultural literatures in the Iberian Peninsula The aim of comprehensiveness is abandoned in favor of a diverse and extensive array of key issues for a comparative agenda A Comparative History of Literatures in the Iberian Peninsula undermines the primacy claimed for national and linguistic boundaries and provides a geo cultural account of literary inter systems which cannot otherwise be explained Mediaevalia ,2000 Less Translated Languages Albert Branchadell, Lovell Margaret West, 2005 This is the first collection of articles devoted entirely to less translated languages a term that brings together well known widely used languages such as Arabic or Chinese and long neglected minority languages with power as the key word at play It starts with some views on English the dominant language in Translation as elsewhere considers the role of translation for minority languages both a source of inequality and a means to overcome it takes a look at translation from less translated major languages and cultures and ends up with a closer look at translation into Catalan a paradigmatic case of less translated language in a final section that includes a vindication of six prominent Catalan translators Combining sound theoretical insight and accurate analysis of relevant case studies the contributors to this collection make a convincing case for a more thorough examination of less translated languages within the field of Translation Studies Murder in the Multinational State Stewart King, 2019-05-23 As Spaniards set out to transform the political social and cultural landscape of the nation following the death of dictator Francisco Franco in 1975 its crime fiction traces challenges and celebrates these radical changes Crime Fiction from Spain Murder in the Multinational State provides a comprehensive exploration of the relationship between detective fiction and national and cultural identities in post Franco democratic Spain What sort of stories are told about the nation within the state in the crime genre How do the conventions of the crime story shape not only the production of national and cultural identities but also their disruption Combining criminological theories of crime and community with an analysis of the genre's conventions this study challenges the simple classification of Spanish crime fiction as texts written by Spaniards set in Spain and with Spanish characters Instead it develops a dramatic new reading practice which allows for a greater understanding of the role of crime fiction in the construction and articulation of different and at times competing national and cultural identities including in the Basque Country Catalonia and Galicia The book provides a stimulating introduction to the key debates on the study of crime fiction and national and cultural identities in the context of a multinational state The Oxford Guide to Literature in English Translation Peter France, 2000 This guide highlights the place of translation in our culture encouraging awareness of the process of translating and the choices involved making the translator more visible Concentrating on major writers and works it covers translations out of many languages from Greek to Hungarian Korean to Turkish For some works e g Virgil s Aeneid which have been much translated the discussion is historical and critical showing how translation has evolved over the centuries and bringing out the differences between versions Elsewhere with less familiar literatures the Guide examines the extent to which translation has done justice to the range of work available Historical Dictionary of the Catalans Helena Buffery, Elisenda Marcer, 2010-12-18 In this reference Buffery and Marcer cover all of the areas historically inhabited by the Catalan people These are in order of size and population Catalonia which accounts for over half of the population of the Catalan speaking areas Valencia with over a third the Balearic Islands with just under 8 percent and the Catalunya Nord the Principality of Andorra and the Catalan speaking areas within Aragon Murcia and Alghero The Historical Dictionary of the Catalans deals not only with the people who live in Catalonia but with the language and culture of the Catalan countries as well This is done through a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography and over 600 cross referenced dictionary entries on significant persons places events institutions and aspects of culture society economy and politics Language, the Novelist and National Identity in Post-Franco Catalonia Kathryn Crameri, 2017-12-02 Kathryn Crameri reveals some of the complex responses of writers and literary critics to the new possibilities for the expression of Catalan identities which resulted from Spain's transition from dictatorship to democracy The study begins by considering the cultural and political context of the Catalan novel from the Renaixenca to the present day and then offers a detailed analysis of novels by four very different writers Montserrat Roig Manuel de Pedrolo Juan Marse who writes in Spanish and Biel Mesquida all of whom seem to share an underlying thematic preoccupation with both individual and national transitions and the intricate relationship between language and identity These writers challenge institutionalised visions of the link between Catalanism the Catalan language and Catalan literature and offer a more pluralistic and personalised version of what it is to call oneself a Catalan Catalogue Maggs Bros, 1929
