Hints for Lovers Arnold Haultain, 2024-11-24 Aphorism are seldom couched in such terms that they should be taken as they sound precisely or according to the widest extent of signification but do commonly need exposition and admit exception otherwise frequently they would not only clash with reason and experience but interfere thwart and supplant one another Issac Barrow The very essence of an aphorism is that slight exaggeration which makes it more biting whilst less rigidly accurate Leslie Stephen There are of course girls and girls yet at heart they are pretty much alike In age naturally they differ wildly But this is a thorny subject Suffice it to say that all men love all girls the maid of sweet sixteen equally with the maid of untold age There is something exasperatingly something or otherish about girls And they know it which makes them more something or otherish still there is no other word for it A girl is a complicated thing It is made up of clothes smiles a pompadour things of which space and prudence forbid the enumeration here These things by themselves do not constitute a girl which is obvious nor is any one girl without these things which is not too obvious Where the things end and the girl begins many men have tried to find out Many girls would like to be men except on occasions At least so they say but perhaps this is just a part of their something or otherishness Why they should want to be men men cannot conceive Men pale before them grow hot and cold before them run before them and after them swear by them and at them and a bit of a chit of a thing in short skirts and lisle thread stockings will twist able bodied males round her little finger It is an open secret that girls are fonder of men than they are of one another which is very lucky for the men Girls differ and the same girl is different at different times When she is by herself she is one thing When she is with other girls she is another thing When she is with a lot of men she is a third sort of thing When she is with a man But this baffled even Agur the son of Jakeh As a rule a man prefers a girl by herself This is natural And yet is said that you cannot have too much of a good thing If this were true a bevy of girls would be the height of happiness Yet some men would sooner face the bulls of Bashan Some foolish men probably poets have sought for and asserted the existence of the ideal girl This is sheer nonsense there is no such thing And if there were she could not compare with the real girl the girl of flesh and blood which as some one ought to have said are excellent things in woman Other men equally foolish have regarded girls as playthings I wish these men had tried to play with them They would have found that they were playing with fire and brimstone Yet the veriest spit fire can be wondrous sweet Sweet Yes On the whole a girl is the sweetest thing known or knowable On the whole of this terrestrial sphere Nature has produced nothing more adorable than the high spirited high bred girl Of this she is quite aware to our cost I speak as a man The consequence is her price has gone up and man has to pay high and pay all sorts of things sices sweets champagne drives church goings and sometimes spot cash
