Emergent Issues In Human Decision Making:

Emergent Issues in Human Decision Making Gerald M. Phillips, Julia T. Wood, 1984 A critical examination of the concept of decision making or consensus that has held sway in thinking about groups since its introduction in the 1930s As a part of the group dynamics movement the concept of consensus was accepted perhaps without adequate reflection regarding its nature and utility as a way of thinking about and teaching about group process The authors carefully define the concept trace it historically and critically evaluate its merit to create an understanding of what happens when groups of people come together to work things out The contributors are William K Rawlins Randy Y Hirokawa Nancy Wyatt Lynne Kelly Cynthia F Begnal Christopher Waagen Susan L Kline Janet M Ceropski and Paul G Friedman The result of their studies is the recognition that consensus is a concept not an entity or a state of being While an important concept that is useful as a critical tool it must be treated as a concept an abstraction created and used by those who wish to study how people reach collective agreements

Human Factors Challenges in Emergency Management Christine Owen, 2017-09-29 This book provides an overview of state of the art research that has been conducted within Australia funded by the Bushfire Cooperative Research Centre The chapters source and contextualize their own research practice within the context of the international research literature Therefore while the research has occurred within Australia it will be of particular interest to scholars students and practitioners in a number of other countries particularly within the United States of America and in Europe The fire and emergency services is a particularly large industry in Australia alone it employs 250 000 personnel yet there is very little by way of published human factors books addressing this sector directly Emergency events frequently involve problems for which there may be unanticipated consequences and highly interdependent consequential effects In short emergency events are not necessarily as containable as may be work in other domains As Karl Weick once commented emergency events do not play by the rules This means that these research chapters tell us something about a potential future world of work that is highly dynamic interdependent and for which improvisation and critical thinking and problem solving are necessary pre requisites The discussions about individual and team performance will also be pertinent to others working in similar high reliability high consequence domains The chapters connect into an integrated body of work about individual and group performance and their limitations

Wheelan, 2010 Creating Effective Teams A Guide for Members and Leaders 3rd Edition is a practical guide for building and sustaining top performing teams Based on the author's many years of consulting experience with teams in the public and private sector the Third Edition describes why teams are important how they function and what makes them productive The author clearly illustrates the developmental nature of teams and describes what happens in each stage Separate chapters are devoted to the responsibilities of team leaders and team members Problems that occur frequently in groups are highlighted followed by what you can do sections that offer specific advice Real life examples and questionnaires are used throughout the book giving readers the opportunity for self evaluation New to the Third Edition Discussions of diversity within teams have been added throughout the text focusing on how different ethnic or cultural groups may have differing perceptions of group interactions Also provided will be specific strategies for ensuring that groups are respectful of these different beliefs while still being as effective as possible References to the research the text is based on will be added giving readers the theoretical and research background for the practical application based material in the text More real life examples and problem solving skills will be added including step by step directions for becoming a high performing team New checklists and self evaluations will be added building on those currently included in the text and providing even more information on what kind of leader or team member the reader is Interorganizational Collaboration Renee Guarriello Heath, Matthew G. Isbell, 2017-03-08 Interorganizational Collaboration Complexity Ethics and Communication centers around three key assertions 1 interorganizational collaboration is complex and warrants study as a specific type of leadership and communication 2 successful collaborative relationships are grounded in a principled ethic of democratic and egalitarian participation and 3 interorganizational collaboration requires a specific communication language of practice Interorganizational collaboration is influenced by increased interconnectedness shifting organizational needs and a changing workforce Collaboration invokes ethical questions and ethical responsibilities that must be considered in communication practices and structures Although there are many popular books and practitioner materials on collaboration most are not focused on introducing foundational concepts to a novice audience In addition the subject of communication in collaboration has been somewhat underdeveloped The authors focus on communication from a social constructionist stance One of their primary goals is to develop a collaboration pedagogy based on existing communication scholarship The authors present communicative practices vital to interorganizational participation and they view collaboration as something beyond an exchange of resources and knowledge Unlike group and organizational texts that approach collaboration from a functional or strategic perspective this text anchors collaboration in the assumption that democratic and principled communication will foster creative and accountable outcomes for participants in collaborative problem solving The authors articulate a collaborative ethic useful in all communicative contexts Micropractices of communication are fundamental not only to collaborating across organizations but also to fostering just and trusting relationships The book discusses the cornerstone assumptions and principled practices necessary for stakeholders to address problems for example recognizing and validating the needs of fellow stakeholders separating people's positions from underlying interests listening for things that are never quite said identifying overlapping commonalities building trust while respecting difference and constructively navigating conflict The book also focuses on building collaborative praxis based on the assumption of contingency Praxis cultivates knowledge and ethical understanding of a situation so participants in collaborations can make the best decision based on specific circumstances

Naim Kapucu, Alpaslan Özerdem, 2011-10-13 As the scale frequency and intensity of crises faced by the world have dramatically increased over the last decade there is a critical need for a careful evaluation of knowledge of managing disasters Managing Emergencies and Crises presents the experience of emergency management from a continental perspective by focusing on the emergency response systems processes and actors in the context of the United States and Europe It explores the institutional socio cultural and political aspects of crisis response and management Your students will examine questions such as What does the experience of disaster response from Japan Pakistan Greece and Turkey to the UK and US tell us about the state civil society cooperation in such environments How effective are the existing prevention and preparedness mechanisms to protect societies against disasters What specific roles are attributed to state federal international and private sector participants at a rhetorical level and how those actors actually carry out their responsibilities and work with each other in the event of a crisis Fire and Emergency Services Administration: Management and Leadership Practices Includes Navigate Advantage Access L. Charles Smeby Jr., L. Charles Smeby Jr, 2021-03-22 This book is designed to be a progressive primer for students who want more knowledge about fire and emergency services administration. The book demonstrates the importance of the following skills necessary to manage and lead a fire and emergency services department through the challenges and changes of the 21st century: Persuasion and influence, accountable budgeting, anticipation of challenges and the need for change, and using specific management tools for analyzing and solving problems. A central part of the book focuses on how the leadership of a fire and emergency services department develops internal and external cooperation to create a coordinated approach to achieving the department's mission.

Disciplines, Disasters and Emergency Management David A. McEntire, 2007 Disasters such as the 9/11 terrorist attacks, the Indian Ocean Tsunami, and Hurricane Katrina illustrate the salience and complexity of disasters. Both scholars and practitioners therefore agree that we must take a more proactive and holistic approach to emergency management which should logically be derived from a sound understanding of the academic literature and the most pressing concerns facing professionals in the field today. Disciplines, Disasters and Emergency Management reviews what is known about catastrophic events from the standpoint of various academic areas of study. The introduction

Effective Fire and Emergency Services Administration Robert S. Fleming, 2010-04-21 Dr. Fleming's new book, drawing from an array of business and administrative disciplines, provides a solid conceptual foundation for understanding meeting and exceeding the expectations of organizational stakeholders and preparing for professional, personal, and organizational success in fire administration. The book addresses the various course objectives and learning outcomes for both the Introduction to Fire and Emergency Services Administration course within the FESHE Associate's Model Curriculum and the corresponding bachelor's course, Fire and Emergency Services Administration. Effective Fire and Emergency Services Administration will be an invaluable resource for students both undergraduate and graduate, and current fire and emergency services personnel of all ranks who are preparing for career advancement including promotional examinations. It also will serve as a very useful reference for current fire and emergency service operational and administrative officers.

Bridging the Socio-technical Gap in Decision Support Systems Frédéric Adam, Carlos Teixeira, João Telhada, 2010-06-15 The socio-technical gap is the great divide between social activities such as coordination which researchers and practitioners aim to support and those that are actually supported by technology. As the social interaction takes place through technology, it is changed and mediated by the technology. This gap between the two dimensions is being challenged by new and innovative approaches such as cognitive ergonomics and Web 2.0. Research in Decision Making (DM) theory and Decision Support Systems (DSS) shows that this gap is due in part to technical limitations and in part to the complexity of the contexts where decision support must be provided. Thus, DSS researchers face important questions concerned with the encapsulation of complex social aspects of managerial decision making as well as with the representation of key human cognitive mechanisms such as intuition and insight within computational systems This book presents the latest innovations and advances in decision support theory and practice with a special focus on bridging the socio technical gap These achievements will be of interest to all those involved in decision making activities and research The book covers a wide range of topics including Understanding DM Design of DSS Web 2 0 Systems in Decision Support Business Intelligence and Data Warehousing Applications of Multi Criteria Decision Analysis Intelligent DM Context in DM Knowledge Management ERP Systems Decision Support for Policy Making Decision Making in Emergency Scenarios Decision Support in Commerce and Decision Support for Production Planning
