Jean-Pierre Chupin, Carmela Cucuzzella, Georges Adamczyk, 2022-09-06 This book is the first scientific study to focus on awards in architecture and the built environment investigating their exponential growth since the 1980s The celebration of excellence in architecture and related fields remains a phenomenon on which there is strangely little scientific scrutiny What is to be understood from the plethora of award winning projects award winning buildings and awarded professional practices in the built environment year after year Glossy images partake in an intense ballet at every local regional national or international award ceremony and they are meant to embody proofs of architectural excellence However it is necessary to take a critical distance to question what awards are meant to embody symbolize and perhaps measure Each of the 10 chapters in this volume is centered on one question related to themes as varied as the comparison of Pritzker and Nobel Prizes the Prix de Rome the redefinition of quality through awards green awards and sustainability the multiplication of sustainable awards heritage awards architecture book awards the awarding of school architecture awards as mediations and awards as pedagogical devices Many fields once consolidated have featured a sharp increase in related prizes The original data compiled and summarized in 4 appendices cover more than 150 award granting organizations in some 30 countries Our inventory includes upwards of 24 000 prizes awarded at more than 3 100 events the earliest of which is the first instance of Western architecture's seminal Grand Prix de Rome in France in 1720 A history of contemporary architecture is thus written through press releases that praise the merits of the heroes as much as their works and achievements And while awards can be vehicles that propel architecture forward they can also be Trojan horses in an era that is constantly on the lookout for event driven products small and big news and brand imaging AHMM Neil Spiller, 2021-05-10 AHMM is a premier international architectural practice Established over 30 years ago it has won numerous awards including the Stirling Prize Through the contributions of journalists clients fellow professionals and academics this AD issue celebrates the practice's achievements in all areas of architectural production featuring archive material new works and unparalleled access to the

AHMM organisation revealing new insights into their work and urban philosophies To get to this eminent position the office has consistently responded in innovative and imaginative ways to the changing imperatives of art science and economics that influence our built environment These parameters have metamorphosed considerably since AHMM was founded in terms of advances in digitisation material science and changes to contract management what constitutes sustainability procurement routes construction methods collaboration and architectural education Above all this AD will explore AHMM's practice as a holistic design project in itself in terms of building buildings but also in using a design ethos to cope with shifts in workload and the firm's varying business activities and its administration over the years thus providing insight for a future generation of potentially successful architectural professionals

Emerging Talents Neil Spiller, 2021-09-27 There is a newfound interest in architectural education This AD is a survey of some of the best contemporary architecture student work in the world The most forward looking architecture schools worldwide are reinventing pedagogy in the hope of developing radical syllabi that are a rich mix of the virtual and the actual Design education is changing and adapting to compensate for the new material changes to the discipline and is being used to disentangle old outmoded spatial practices and replace them with new paradigms of space and representation This issue showcases the students and teachers who are pushing the envelope of architecture in extraordinary ways offering their insights into its future materiality and spatial dexterity It premieres a new young generation of architects who are likely to become names in the architectural profession and possibly important teachers themselves Their work has been selected by their own influential teachers of architecture who describe the studio methodologies and reasons for them that prompted the work Contributors Daniel K Brown Jane Burry Nat Chard Odile Decq Evan Douglass Riet Eeckhout Mark Garcia Nicolas Hannequin Perry Kulper Elena Manferdini Mark Morris Hani Rashid and Michael Young Featured institutions A Alfred Taubman College of Architecture and Urban Planning University of Michigan Architectural Association London Bartlett School of Architecture University College London Carleton University Ottawa CONFLUENCE Institute for Innovation and Creative Strategies in Architecture Paris Cooper Union New York University of Greenwich London KU Leuven Belgium Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute New York Southern California Institute of Architecture SCI Arc Los Angeles Swinburne University of Technology Melbourne Victoria University of Wellington New Zealand and the University of Applied Arts Vienna

Worldmodelling Mark Morris, Mike Aling, 2021-06-08 In light of current developments in modelling and with the aim of reinvigorating debates around the potentiality of the architectural model its philosophies technologies and futures this issue of AD examines how the model has developed to become an immersive worldbuilding machine Worldbuilding is the creation of imaginary worlds through forms of cultural production Although this discourse began with an analysis of imaginary places constructed in works of literature it has evolved to encompass worlds from fields such as cinema games design landscape urbanism and architecture Worldbuilding differs from the notion of worldmaking which deals with how speculative thinking can influence the construction of the phenomenal world

As architects postulate ever increasingly complex world models from which to draw inspiration and inform their practice questions of scale representation and collaboration emerge Discussed through a range of articles from acclaimed international contributors in the fields of both architecture and media studies this issue explores how the architectural model is situated between concepts of worldbuilding and worldmaking in the creative space of worldmodelling Contributors Kathy Battista Thea Brejzek and Lawrence Wallen Pascal Bronner and Thomas Hillier Mark Cousins James A Craig and Matt Ozga Lawn Kate Davies Ryan Dillon Christian Hubert Chad Randl Theodore Spyropoulos and Mark JP Wolf Featured architects Phil Ayres FleaFolly Architects Minimaforms and Stasus

Constructing a Place of Critical Architecture in China Guanghui Ding, 2016-03-09 For the past 30 years The Chinese journal Time Architecture Shidai Jianzhu has focused on publishing innovative and exploratory work by emerging architects based in private design firms who were committed to new material theoretical and pedagogical practices In doing so this book argues that the journal has engaged in the presentation and production of a particular form of critical architecture described as an intermediate criticality as a response to the particular constraints of the Chinese cultural and political context The journal's publications displayed a dual critique a resistant attitude to the dominant modes of commercial building practice characterised by rapid and large scale urban expansion and an alternative publishing practice focusing on emerging independent architectural practitioners through the active integration of theoretical debates architectural projects and criticisms This dual critique is illustrated through a careful review and analysis of the history and programme of the journal By showing how the work of emerging architects including Yung Ho Chang Wang Shu Liu Jiakun and Urbanus are situated within the context of the journal's special thematic editions on experimental architecture exhibition group design new urban space and professional system the book assesses the contribution the journal has made to the emergence of a critical architecture in China in the context of how it was articulated debated presented and perhaps even produced within the pages of the publication itself The protagonists of critical architecture have endeavoured to construct an alternative mode of form and space with strong aesthetic and socio political implications to the predominant production of architecture under the current Chinese socialist market economy To rebel against certain forms of domination and suppression by capital and power is by no means to completely reject them rather it is to use them

Architecture's Evil Empire? Miles Glendinning, 2010-10-15 From Chicago to Toronto to Shanghai cities around the world have sprouted iconic buildings by celebrity architects like Frank Gehry and Daniel Libeskind that compete for attention both on the skyline and in the media But in recent years criticism of these extreme gestural structures known for their often exaggerated forms has been growing Miles Glendinning's impassioned polemic Architecture's Evil Empire looks at how today's trademark architectural individualism stretches beyond the well known works and ultimately extends to the entire built environment Glendinning examines how the global empire of the current modernism emerged particularly in relation to the excesses of global capitalism and explains its key organizational and architectural features placing its most influential theorists and designers in a broader context of history and artistic movements Arguing against the excesses of iconic architecture Glendinning advocates a vision of modern renewal that seeks to remedy the shattered and alienated look he sees in contemporary architecture Mingling scholarship with wry humor and a genuine concern for the state of architecture Architecture's Evil Empire will raise many heated debates and appeal to a wide range of readers from architects to historians interested in the built environment

Global Perspectives on Critical Architecture Gevork Hartoonian, 2016-03-03

Judging from the debates taking place in both education and practice it appears that architecture is deeply in crisis New design and production techniques together with the globalization of capital and even skilled labour have reduced architecture to a commodified object its aesthetic qualities tapping into the current pervasive desire for the spectacular These developments have changed the architect's role in the design and production processes of architecture Moreover critical architectural theories including those of Breton Heidegger and Benjamin which explored the concepts of technology modernism labour and capital and how technology informed the cultural along with later theories from the 1960s which focused more on the architect's theorization of his/her own design strategies seem increasingly irrelevant In an age of digital reproduction and commodification these theoretical approaches need to be reassessed Bringing together essays and interviews from leading scholars such as Kenneth Frampton Peggy Deamer Bernard Tschumi Donald Kunze and Marco Biraghi this volume investigates and critically addresses various dimensions of the present crisis of architecture It poses questions such as Is architecture a conservative cultural product servicing a given producer-consumer system Should architecture's affiliative ties with capitalism be subjected to a measure of criticism that can be expanded to the entirety of the cultural realm Is architecture's infusion into the cultural the reason for the visibility of architecture today What room does the city leave for architecture beyond the present delirium of spectacle Should the thematic of various New Left criticisms of capitalism be taken as the premise of architectural criticism Or alternatively putting the notion of criticality aside is it enough to confine criticism to the production of insightful and pleasurable texts
