Emotional Design:

Emotional Design Don Norman, 2007-03-20 Why attractive things work better and other crucial insights into human centered design Emotions are inseparable from how we humans think choose and act In Emotional Design cognitive scientist Don Norman shows how the principles of human psychology apply to the invention and design of new technologies and products In The Design of Everyday Things Norman made the definitive case for human centered design showing that good design demanded that the user's must take precedence over a designer's aesthetic if anything from light switches to airplanes was going to work as the user needed In this book he takes his thinking several steps farther showing that successful design must incorporate not just what users need but must address our minds by attending to our visceral reactions to our behavioral choices and to the stories we want the things in our lives to tell others about ourselves Good human centered design isn't just about making effective tools that are straightforward to use it's about making affective tools that mesh well with our emotions and help us express our identities and support our social lives From roller coasters to robots sports cars to smart phones attractive things work better Whether designer or consumer user or inventor this book is the definitive guide to making Norman's insights work for you Emotional Design and the Healthcare Environment Marco Maria Maiocchi, Zhabiz Shafieyoun, 2022-05-16 For all of the tremendous advances in medicine and treatment the world has seen in the modern era the human body's ability to heal itself remains a literally vital and often overlooked facet of healthcare Through the use of emotional design aimed at transforming healthcare environments such as waiting rooms in such a way as to boost the emotional wellbeing of patients and thus their general attitudes including in regard to their own healing processes medical institutions can improve outcomes for the people they treat while simultaneously lowering overall costs Design as an inherently transdisciplinary problem solving activity is well suited to this task And when combined with a field of study such as neuroscience which can literally map out the perceptions that lead to the experience of particular emotions healthcare environments can be transformed into spaces through such innovations as Kansei engineering that then subsequently transform the people who rely on them the most leading to more efficiency and less red ink Emotional
