Ellora Caves Sculpture And Architecture:

Ellora Caves, Sculptures and Architecture Ratan Parimoo, Deepak Kannal, Shivaji Panikkar, 1988 Papers and proceedings of the National Seminar on Ellora Caves Sculpture and Architecture held at Ellora Caves November 18 1985 Ellora Caves, 2018 The Archaeology of the Nātha Sampradāya in Western India, 12th to 15th Century Vijay Sarde, 2023-03-31 This book studies N tha samprad ya through archaeological evidence for the first time Drawing on a pioneering approach to the study of ascetic traditions it investigates not only the nature of the N tha samprad ya s religious architecture but also examines the extent to which they shared space with other religious groups such as the devotees of Siva and Sakti Buddhism and Islam especially with the Sufi tradition Focusing on western India the book sifts through a variety of archaeological evidence and documentation of their temples caves and ma has It critically analyses iconographic representations of ascetics on temple walls and sculptural representations of yogic postures or sanas Further these representations are discussed within a pan South Asian framework to highlight both the commonalities of the tradition across the subcontinent and the regional specificities along with their chronological spread Breaking new ground this volume will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of religion especially Hinduism history archaeology and South Asian studies Art and Architecture of India - I Mr. Rohit Manglik, 2024-02-17 EduGorilla Publication is a trusted name in the education sector committed to empowering learners with high quality study materials and resources Specializing in competitive exams and academic support EduGorilla provides comprehensive and well structured content tailored to meet the needs of students across various streams and levels

Embodied Dependencies and Freedoms Julia A.B. Hegewald, 2023-03-20 Have you ever thought about dependencies in Asian art and architecture Most people would probably assume that the arts are free and that creativity and ingenuity function outside of such reliances However the 13 chapters provided by specialists in the fields of Asian art and architecture in this volume show that those active in the visual arts and the built environment operate in an area of strict relations of often extreme dependences Material artefacts and edifices are dependent on the climate in which they have been created on the availability of resources for their production on social and religious traditions which may be oral or written down and on donors patrons and the art market Furthermore gender and labour dependencies play a role in the creation of the arts as well Despite these strong and in most instances asymmetrical dependencies artists have at all times found freedoms in expressing their own imagination vision and originality This shows that dependencies and freedoms are not necessarily strictly separated binary opposites but that at least in the area of the history of art and architecture in Asia the two are interconnected in what are often complex and multifaceted layers The Creative South Andrea Acri, Peter Sharrock, 2022-04-12 This edited volume programmatically reconsiders the creative contribution of the littoral and insular regions of Maritime Asia to shaping new paradigms in the Buddhist and Hindu art and architecture of the mediaeval Asian world Far from being a mere southern conduit for the maritime circulation of Indic religions in the period from ca the 7th to the 14th century those regions transformed across mainland and island polities the rituals icons and architecture that embodied these religious insights with a dynamism that often eclipsed the established cultural centres in Northern India Central Asia and mainland China This collective body of work brings together new research aiming to recalibrate the importance of these innovations in art and architecture thereby highlighting the cultural creativity of the monsoon influenced Southern rim of the Asian landmass Although Maritime Asia in mediaeval times was not as densely populated as the agrarian hinterland Asia's coasts were highly urbanized The region from southern India to south China was a heterogeneous blend of cultures leavened with a strong interest in trade This cosmopolitan society afforded plentiful opportunities for artists to find patrons and develop individual styles and aesthetic sensibilities In the bustling ports of Asia's south coast rulers sought to embellish their prestige and attract foreign merchants by sponsoring the development of monumental complexes and centres of learning and debate These educational institutions attracted teachers from all over Asia and in their cloisters they developed new intellectual frameworks which were reflected in works of art and architecture Scholars moved frequently by sea influencing and being influenced by other foreigners such as Japanese and central Asians who were also attracted to these places This very variety has hindered scholarly research in the past This volume contributes to the endeavour to show how Maritime Asia was not an incoherent jumble of misunderstood influences from better known civilizations there was a pattern to this creativity which the authors in this collection clarify for us The maritime world of Asia may have lain on the margins of the land but it provided a physical and intellectual medium through which artistic ideas from east and west flowed freely Maritime Asia also made significant original contributions which hold their own with those of the hinterland of the Asian continent Unconstrained by the burden of static hierarchical courts the peoples of Maritime Asia built on the inspiration provided by a hybrid society to demonstrate a high degree of artistic originality while testing but not breaking the link with conventional iconography Professor John Miksic Department of Southeast Asian Studies Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences National University of Singapore NUS The collective objective of this two volume work is to give substance to the oft cited mantra that mediaeval maritime Southeast Asia was as much an innovative contributor to as a recipient in the cultural conversations that took place across the Bay of Bengal and South China Sea In bracketing these studies between the 7th and 14th centuries the editors have drawn into focus two key traditions that are explicated in texts ritual art and architecture and religious landscapes of this period tantric Buddhism and esoteric Shaivism A great strength of these studies is this focus for which the editors are to be commended The chapters contain much that represents significant milestones in building new understanding in the field including overdue recognition of the importance of Southeast Asian esoteric Buddhist practice in shaping Chinese Buddhism Nowhere did the architects of the religious landscape of early Southeast Asia think of themselves as being on the periphery or as outsiders looking in Rather they knowingly imbued their tirthas and sacred centres with the same authority as those in India and created religious edifices that were on occasions beyond India's experience I highly commend this publication to anyone with an interest in bringing a wider lens to the study of Indian esoteric religious practices and to understanding the relationship of early Hindu Buddhist Southeast Asia to the wider Asian world John Guy Senior Curator of South and Southeast Asian Art The Metropolitan Museum of Art New York The Creative South is a rich compendium of scholarship concerning the religious art of Southeast Asia and its ties to India in the period beginning in the 8th century It was a time when merchants were crisscrossing the seas from India to China and when advocates of innovative doctrines and rituals were finding ready support among the rulers of the varied kingdoms From the identification of images embraced by the seafarers to the mysteries of the fire shrines in Cambodian temples from the funerary beliefs of Odisha to the unique character of the Javanese Ramayana these eighteen studies provide fresh understandings of the patterns of reception and innovation Hiram Woodward Mr and Mrs Thomas Quincy Scott Curator of Asian Art Emeritus The Walters Art Museum

Caves of India Marcus Blackwell, 2025-02-12 Caves of India explores the captivating cave systems of the Indian subcontinent revealing their geological origins religious significance artistic treasures and modern day role in tourism The book argues that these caves are vital archives offering insights into India's history beliefs and artistic accomplishments One intriguing aspect is how these caves served as sanctuaries for multiple religions including Hinduism Buddhism and Jainism each leaving its unique mark through art and architecture Also explored is the surprising complexity of the geological formations themselves shaped by tectonic activity and hydrological influences over millennia The book adopts a multidisciplinary approach blending geological surveys archaeological findings and art historical analyses It progresses from detailing the geological processes that formed the caves to examining their role as sacred spaces and analyzing the cave art This exploration extends to the caves modern context as tourist destinations addressing preservation challenges By combining scientific analysis with cultural interpretation Caves of India provides a unique and accessible account valuable for researchers and general readers interested in history art religion and travel

Minding the Buddha's Business Daniel Boucher, Shayne Clarke, 2025-06-24 Colleagues and former students of Gregory Schopen honor his path breaking contributions to Buddhist studies with these articles on the early Mahayana the monastic codes and Buddhism's art historical and epigraphical remains This volume honors the profoundly transformative influence of Gregory Schopen's many contributions to Buddhist studies Eighteen articles by former students and colleagues focus on the areas of Schopen's most noteworthy influence the study of the Mahayana particularly of its early sutra literature the study of Vinaya especially the narratives accompanying the rules for monks and nuns and the study of Buddhist epigraphy and art history Contributors demonstrate the ongoing significance of Schopen's scholarship including his very first article on the cult of the book in the early Mahayana published fifty years ago Schopen has repeatedly shown how the study of Buddhism has too often focused on scriptures and normative doctrines and not enough on the practical ideas and contexts that significantly impacted the lives of actual Buddhists He sought to reveal these lived concerns in the massive trove of Buddhist inscriptions which often expose the habits and ideas of the tradition's most prominent donors many of whom were monastics as well as the everyday concerns of monks and nuns whose views did not always dovetail with canonical sources Even in his treatment of canonical sources Schopen has shown that the standard portrait of a Buddhist monk or nun fails to match a careful reading of their law codes his work on the Mulasarvastivada vinaya has required scholars to substantially reimagine the legal and ritual obligations as well as the economic concerns that preoccupied the minds of Buddhist jurists Schopen has in essence brought the Buddha down to earth revealing that this is precisely where most Indian Buddhists encountered him The contributions in this celebratory volume reflect this legacy and Schopen's considerable impact on our understanding of Buddhists in India
