Forsters Narrative Vision:

Forster's Narrative Vision Barbara Rosecrance, 1982      The Short Narratives of E. M. Forster Judith S Herz, 1988-02-16      The Cambridge Companion to E. M. Forster David Bradshaw, 2007-04-12 A collection of essays on the life and work of E M Forster      Critical Terrains Lisa Lowe, 2018-03-15 No detailed description available for Critical Terrains      Fictional Discourse and Historical Space Andrew Wright, 1987-02-16      Regenerating the Novel James J. Miracky, 2013-09-13 In this exploration of the most innovative and iconoclastic modernist fiction James J Miracky studies the ways in which cultural forces and discourses of gender inflect the practice and theory of four British novelists Virginia Woolf E M Forster May Sinclair and D H Lawrence Building on analyses of gender theory and formal innovation in Virginia Woolf s novels this book examines Forster s queered use of fantasy Sinclair s representation of manly genius in both male and female streams of consciousness and Lawrence s quest for the novel of phallic consciousness Reading each author s fiction alongside his or her theoretical writing Miracky provides four diverse examples of how literary modernism wrestled with the gender crisis of the early twentieth century      Reluctant Modernists Peter Edgerly Firchow, 2002 The essays collected here deal with modernist writers who on the whole felt reluctant about their modernist status because they believed that it was just as important to look backward as it was to look forward Indeed for most of them looking backward was more important because it was only through the past that one could understand one s proper place in the present and in the future That is why in Huxley s Brave New World it is the rejection of the past in the future and by implication in the present that makes its satire so penetrating Modernism in other words means for these writers not a radical break with the past but a continuing search for what still connects them and us vitally with it Peter Firchow Professor of English at the University of Minnesota is the author of several books on modern and modernist literary subjects including books on Huxley Conrad and Auden The publication of some of his hitherto uncollected essays in this volume is intended to honor      The Modernist as Pragmatist Brian May, 1997 The past few years have witnessed a resurgence in the study of British literary modernism With recent publications on modernist American poetry and increasingly appreciative attitudes toward modern British novelists like Joseph Conrad and E M Forster many scholars are experiencing a renewed interest in modernism In The Modernist as Pragmatist Brian May investigates modernist works that have been until recently regarded largely as mere exercises in stale Victorian liberal ideology Breaking from one current interpretation of Forster as an innovative and perhaps objectionable representative of modernist fictional audacity May keenly argues that Forster is neither a traditional liberal nor an imperial modernist stylist He is rather a pragmatic liberal critic of both unreconstructed Victorian liberalism and unreckoning modernist aestheticism May also looks at the debate between two contemporary progressive pragmatists Richard Rorty and Cornel West who have turned to the liberalism of the past as an avenue toward the future First clarifying the terms of the debate May then tries to resolve it using the writings of E M Forster to discuss some of the major political and philosophical statements of Rorty and West In turn the works of these two philosophers are used as tools to gain insight into Forster's literary texts and cultural contexts By bringing British literary history to American neopragmatist philosophy May allows the reader to understand both more concretely historically and imaginatively Persuasive new readings of A Passage to India Howards End and The Longest Journey are used to illustrate how Rorty and West offer a choice between pragmatisms May's well argued study offers an exploration of how literature and philosophy can lead to a fruitful dialogue that can complement formalism as well as traditional types of contextualism It also persuasively connects Forster to the contemporary debates between liberalism and pragmatism making this an important contribution to all scholars of modernism Apprenticeships T. Jeffers, 2005-05-05 Novels about growing up have long been loved by ordinary readers and analyzed sometimes with more heat than light by scholars This book respects the interests of ordinary readers while clarifying and frequently resolving the moral psychological social and occasionally religious coming of age dilemmas that scholars have wrestled with Focusing on Goethe's Wilhelm Meister Dickens's David Copperfield James's What Maisie Knew Forster's The Longest Journey Lawrence's Sons and Lovers and Santayana's The Last Puritan Jeffers writes in a fresh engaging style meant to give criticism a liveliness and even brilliance it has in recent decades often lacked Fiction of Imperialism Philip Darby, 1998-05-31 This book examines a range of fiction and criticism as it pertains to colonialism the North South engagement and contemporary Third World politics The Fiction of Imperialism attempts to promote dialogue between international relations and postcolonialism It addresses the value of fiction to an understanding of the imperial relationship between the West and Asia and Africa A wide range of fiction and criticism is examined as it pertains to colonialism in North South engagement and contemporary Third World politics The book begins by contrasting the treatment of cross cultural relations in political studies and literary texts It then examines the personal as a metaphor for the political in fiction depicting the imperial connection between Britain and India This is paired with an analysis of African literary texts which takes as its theme the relationship between culture and politics The concluding chapters approach literature from the outside considering its apparent silence on economics and realpolitik and assessing the utility of postcolonial reconceptualization Renewal of interest in imperialism and literary texts about imperialism Examines a range of fiction and criticism as it pertains to colonialism the North South engagement and contemporary Third World politics First volume in a new series which deals with the differences between culture and politics as well as in ways of seeing and the sources that can be drawn on The Burdens of Intimacy Christopher Lane, 1999 Why does passion bewilder and torment so many Victorian protagonists And why do so many literary characters experience moments of ecstasy before their deaths In this original study Christopher Lane shows why Victorian fiction conveys both the pleasure and anguish of intimacy Examining works by Bulwer Lytton Swinburne Schreiner Hardy James Santayana and Forster he argues that these writers struggled with aspects of psychology that were undermining the utilitarian ethos of the Victorian age Lane discredits the conservative notion that Victorian literature expresses only a demand for repression and moral restraint But he also refutes historicist and Foucauldian approaches arguing that they dismiss the very idea of repression and end up denouncing psychoanalysis as complicit in various kinds of oppression These approaches Lane argues reduce Victorian literature to a drama about politics power and the ego Striving instead to reinvigorate discussions of fantasy and the unconscious Lane offers a clear often startling account of writers who grapple with the genuine complexities of love desire and friendship

Pater to Forster, 1873-1924 Ruth Robbins,2017-03-08 Was the late nineteenth century Victorian or modern Why did the New Woman disappear from literary history Where did T S Eliot s poetics of the city come from In this essential guide Ruth Robbins explores an era often named an age of transition which exists uneasily between the apparent certainties of the Victorians and the advent of a Modernist aesthetics of instability Robbins considers some of the central literary categories and themes of the period decadence realism nostalgia New Woman writing degeneration imperialism and early modernism in writings by both major and minor writers thereby creating a complex picture of transitions continuities and breaks with the past By examining this tumultuous era as an age in its own right Pater to Forster 1873 1924 offers the reader a rather different history of the late Victorians and Modernists and retells that history from a new perspective

The Player Piano and the Edwardian Novel Cecilia Bjorken-Nyberg,2016-03-03 In her study of music making in the Edwardian novel Cecilia Bjorken-Nyberg argues that the invention and development of the player piano had a significant effect on the perception performance and appreciation of music during the period In contrast to existing devices for producing music mechanically such as the phonograph and gramophone the player piano granted its operator freedom of individual expression by permitting the performer to modify the tempo Because the traditional piano was the undisputed altar of domestic and highly gendered music making Björk Nyberg suggests the potential for intervention by the mechanical piano's operator had a subversive effect on traditional notions about the status of the musical work itself and about the people who were variously defined by their relationship to it She examines works by Dorothy Richardson E M Forster Henry Handel Richardson Max Beerbohm and Compton Mackenzie among others contending that Edwardian fiction with music as a subject undermined the prevalent antithesis expressed in contemporary music literature between a nineteenth century conception of music as a means of transcendence and the increasing mechanisation of music as represented by the player piano Her timely survey of the player piano in the context of Edwardian commercial and technical discourse draws on a rich array of archival materials to shed new light on the historically conditioned activity of music making in early twentieth century fiction

Re-reading Pío Baroja and English Literature Katharine Murphy, 2004 This volume investigates a broad range of structural connections between Pío Baroja's early fiction and the novels of his contemporaries in England and Ireland with prominence given to Joseph Conrad Thomas Hardy E M Forster and James Joyce Starting from the premise that Spain has been neglected in studies which assess the evolution of the European novel at the turn of the twentieth century and challenging the insular concept of the Generation of 1898 the author reassesses the relationship between Baroja and English literature Particular emphasis is given to renderings of consciousness the role and identity of the artist European landscapes and questions of form genre and representation in the novels under scrutiny The book produces new readings of Baroja in the context of early twentieth century English fiction
