Optimality Theory and Language Change D.E. Holt, 2012-12-06

Optimality Theory and Language Change discusses many optimization and linguistic issues in great detail treats the history of a variety of languages including English French Germanic Galician Portuguese Latin Russian and Spanish shows that the application of OT allows for innovative and improved analyses allows researchers that appeal to OT to see the connections of their usually synchronic work with diachronic studies contains a complete bibliography on Optimality Theory and language change This volume may be used as one of the texts in courses on historical phonology or syntax that treat these topics from generative approaches or that give a general survey of various frameworks of research into these areas Likewise the volume may serve as a text for courses in phonology syntax and Optimality Theory that have a component dedicated to extensions of linguistic theory to historical change It is of interest for historical linguists researchers into Optimality Theory and linguistic theory and for phonologists and syntacticians with an interest in historical change

Non-Projecting Words I.

Toivonen, 2012-12-06 Focusing primarily on Swedish a Germanic language whose particles have not previously been studied extensively this study develops a theory of non projecting words in which particles are morphologically independent words that do not project phrases It identifies the violations of the basic tenets of X bar theory and develops a formally explicit revision of X bar theory that can accommodate the requisite weak projections

Rehabilitation Issues, Problems, and Prospects in Boot Camp Brent Benda, Nathaniel J. Pallone, 2013-04-03

Boot camps what are their effects on criminal behavior Public and political support for boot camps as alternative correctional facilities has rarely faltered since their inception decades ago though their efficacy remains uncertain Rehabilitation Issues Problems and Prospects in Boot Camp explores all facets of the controversial issue from the attitudes and perceptions of the public to the political motivations in maintaining them on to the latest research on the camps and their graduates Respected authorities discuss boot camps effectiveness on diverse groups according to age gender race and correctional facility Cost factors between boot camps and other correctional institutions are compared along with the latest criminal recidivism data Boot camps provide inmates with an uncomfortable paramilitary style environment with an eye toward shorter incarceration time lower costs and more positive effects on criminal behavior Does this correctional model work as anticipated Rehabilitation Issues Problems and Prospects in Boot Camp gives you the facts revealing the public and political arguments for and against boot camps as well as the research on the theoretical predictors of criminal recidivism and the differing attitudes of attendees toward the facilities according to gender and race Critical policy issues are identified and discussed in depth with particular emphasis given to the positive and negative aspects of rehabilitation possibilities of boot camps Helpful tables clearly illustrate statistics while extensive references provide opportunities for further insight Rehabilitation Issues Problems and Prospects in Boot Camp explores questions such as criminal recidivism what are the theoretical predictors what effect does gender have on criminal recidivism what is the effect of this hypermasculine paramilitary prison environment have on males and females what are the differences between Native American and non Native American perceptions of boot camp is the perceived severity of boot camp different for gender what is the process for policymaking in creating and maintaining boot camps what role does politics play in the continuation of boot camps what corrections to boot camp facilities should be made based upon evidence and research Rehabilitation Issues Problems and Prospects in Boot Camp is a thorough examination of the social and political issues about boot camps that makes essential reading for educators students sociologists criminologists psychologists counselors and criminal justice professionals Differential Subject Marking Helen de Hoop, Peter de Swart, 2007-12-04 Although almost all sentences have subjects not all sentences encode their subjects in the same way Some languages overtly mark some subjects but not others depending on certain features of the subject argument or the sentence in which the subject figures This phenomenon is known as Differential Subject Marking DSM Languages differ in which conditions govern DSM Some languages differentiate their subjects on the basis of semantic features of the argument such as thematic role volitionality animacy whereas others differentiate on the basis of clausal features such as tense aspect and the main dependent clause distinction DSM comes in different formal guises case marking agreement inverse systems and voice alternations Relatively much is known about cross linguistic variation in the marking of subjects yet little attempt has been made to formalize the facts This volume aims to unify formal approaches to language and presents both specific case studies of DSM and theoretical approaches Electronic Commerce in Small to Medium-Sized Enterprises: Frameworks, Issues and Implications Al-Qirim, Nabeel, 2003-07-31 Electronic Commerce in Small to Medium Sized Enterprises Frameworks Issues and Implications addresses eCommerce issues in small to medium sized enterprises SMEs in a global setting The book aims at addressing issues that are of importance to researchers to students and to professionals interested in the eCommerce field in SMEs and hence interested in addressing issues pertaining to theory and to practice Modular Programming Languages Jürg Gutknecht, Wolfgang Weck, 2006-12-31 The circle is closed The European Modula 2 Conference was originally launched with the goal of increasing the popularity of Modula 2 a programming language created by Niklaus Wirth and his team at ETH Zurich as a successor of Pascal For more than a decade the conference has wandered through Europe passing Bled Slovenia in 1987 Loughborough UK in 1990 Ulm Germany in 1994 and Linz Austria in 1997 Now at the beginning of the new millennium it is back at its roots in Zurich Switzerland While traveling through space and time the conference has mutated It has widened its scope and changed its name to Joint Modular Languages Conference JMLC With an invariant focus though on modular software construction in teaching research and out there in industry This topic has never been more important than today ironically not because of insufficient language support but quite on the contrary due to a truly confusing variety of modular concepts offered by modern languages modules packages classes and components the newest and still controversial trend The recent notion of component is still very vaguely defined so vaguely in fact that it almost seems advisable to ignore it Wirth in his article Records Modules Objects Classes Components in honor of Hoare's retirement in 1999 Clarification is needed

The Multilingual Adolescent Experience Malgorzata Machowska-Kosciak, 2020-10-09 This book contributes to our understanding of how older learners negotiate family internal and family external socialisation processes and thereby how parents ideologies and practices peer socialisation and language status or societal demands come together in adolescents lives It integrates the sociohistorical context and adolescents attitudes with the parents role Through the use of small stories and ethnographic observation this book explores the social and cultural worlds of Polish immigrant adolescents in Ireland the ways they seek membership and belonging in their communities of practice and the ways in which they develop sociohistorical understandings across the languages and cultures they are part of It sheds light on schooling and family communities and the role they play in the socialization processes of immigrant children

The Bedrock of Opinion G. Sundqvist, 2013-04-17 When did man discover nuclear waste To answer this question we first have to ask if nuclear waste really is something that could be called a scientific discovery such as might deserve a Nobel Prize in physics In early writings within nuclear energy research radioactive waste appears to be a neglected issue a story never told Nuclear waste first seems to appear when a public debate arose about public health risks of nuclear power in the late 1960s and early 70s In nuclear physics consensus was established at an early stage about the understanding of the splitting of uranium nuclei The fission products were identified and their chains of disintegration and radioactivity soon were well established facts among the involved scientists as was an awareness of the risks for example the strong radioactivity of strontium and iodine and the poisonous effects of plutonium However the by products were never either in part or in total called or perceived as waste just as fission by products How and where to dispose of the by products were questions that were never asked by the pioneers of nuclear physics

Chiari Malformation, An Issue of Neurosurgery Clinics of North America Jeffrey Leonard, 2016-01-07 This issue will cover chiari malformation in both children and adult populations In the past it was estimated that the condition occurs in about one in every 1 000 births However the increased use of diagnostic imaging has shown that CM may be much more common Complicating this estimation is the fact that some children who are born with the condition may not show symptoms until adolescence or adulthood if at all CMs occur more often in women than in men and Type II malformations are more prevalent in certain groups including people of Celtic descent Contemporary would particularly like to thank Kari Lorentzen for her professional help in the library and Ann Skarstad and Anne Christine Thestrup for language assistance Thanks to Claes Lykke Ragner for producing the map on page 7 and to Ivar M Liseter for help in the preparation of camera ready copy Among the research staff I would mention my long standing fellow student and colleague both in the Coast Guard and at the FNI Anne Kristin Jørgensen Cumulated Index Medicus ,2000 Coping with Water Deficiency Phoebe Koundouri,2007-11-28 Research results discussed in this book demonstrate that effective water management tools and decision making practices are needed to support interventions to increase availability and manage demand for scarce water supplies Furthermore the book bridges the gap between ideas and actions endorsed in the research oriented environmental debate and their translation into policymaking structures and programs in developed and developing countries Taking Sides Stephen Satris,2002 Contains nineteen pairs of essays that present opposing viewpoints on issues of morality and moral philosophy discussing feminism abortion human cloning affirmative action the legalization of drugs animal rights and other topics The Convention on Biological Diversity and Developing Countries G.K. Rosendal,2013-03-09 The book focuses on the negotiation process leading up to the creation of the Convention on Biodiversity CBD and the domestic implementation of this international agreement This political science study of the negotiation process applies several perspectives drawn from international relations theories while also focusing on the implementation of international environmental agreements in a developing country Moreover the links between factors at international and domestic levels are examined with four proposed mechanisms through which an international institution may affect domestic policies Evidence is found that the CBD has had a beneficial impact on national biodiversity policies in the country studied but that necessary compatible legislation is absent in developed country parties Readership Policy makers decision makers political scientists lawyers and environmentalists engaged in development assistance work and academics and industrialists involved in the biotechnology industry Hazardous Decisions D. Huitema,2002-10-31 where Jeremy Richardson Albert Weale and Hugh Ward were excellent hosts at the Department of Government and Thomas Christiansen a very good roommate Having included the UK as a country where decision processes were far less participatory and thus worse in my own view than those in the Netherlands I started doing my first interviews there which were mainly intended to identify suitable case studies for research But then I read a highly critical review of a book that had a similar topic as my study The critique was that cases of hazardous waste siting cannot adequately be studied without understanding their national context This made me decide to devote some attention to the legal context of hazardous waste siting in the three countries of interest which is of course only a part of the national context and its development through the years The study of the UK system of environmental regulation and land use planning was not a simple issue and I was warned various times for instance by Andrew Blowers at the Open University that the legislation was highly complex and easily misinterpreted I felt personally touched by such warnings and decided that I should perhaps approach the UK system a bit less as an evil empire and maybe be a bit more objective in my appraisals

Subject Clitics in the Northern Italian

Dialects Cecilia Goria, 2012-11-02 1 0 INTRODUCTION This book provides an encompassing analysis of Subject Clitics SCLs by giving a detailed description of these elements in two varieties of Piedmontese a Northern Italian Dialect Astigiano and Turinese spoken in the areas of Asti and Turin respectively It accounts for the structural position and function of these elements inside the computational system and for their morphological and distributional properties It also provides an empirical and theoretical comparison between Piedmontese SCLs and SCLs in other Northern Italian Dialects NIDs of SCLs types in the NIDs have been regarded as Since the 1980s the majority elements of agreement in that they contribute to the realisation of subject verb agreement by expressing features of the subject similar in a way to verbal inflection Nonetheless SCLs are not to be assimilated to verbal affixes as they exhibit different properties Most distinctively they can be separated from the verb by other clitic elements and in the case of the varieties considered here SCLs are optional in all contexts and may be omitted in coordination A more refined identification of SCLs separates SCLs which encode agreement features from those which do not and are related to pragmatic factors as originally observed by Beninca 1994 with respect to the clitic a in Paduano The different morphological and syntactic properties that characterise SCLs across the NIDs have justified numerous accounts which regard them as head of their own projection

Decision Making for Complex Socio-Technical

Systems Thomas Flüeler, 2006-03-08 Waste management can be considered as a mirror of society In its our fluctuating definition besides conserving a supply of valuable materials and resources it acts as a fascinating expression for our throw away mentality Waste is inevitable but it nevertheless provides an opportunity a need and an incentive for society to pursue a more careful management of it If this is successfully carried out society may well find it possible to manage itself in an overall more careful and universal way The management or governance of radioactive waste particularly is determined by a complex constellation of individuals social aggregates and institutions A wealth of interconnected parts forms a complex and volatile system that is highly technical and explosively political in nature The problems inherent in this system must be managed so as to reach a safe acceptable responsible feasible and sustainable solution It is a system with an objective long term dimension with a hazard potential of in part hundreds of thousands of years and it has a long term institutional dimension insofar as its implementation must last for decades The very notion of risk extends from the long life of radionuclides over the perception of dread to the decisional risk of whether when and how to implement an agreed upon solution
