Issues in Transnational Policing James Sheptycki, 2002-01-04 Globalisation the wired planet the global village these are a few of the terms associated with the social and political changes that are said to describe the world at the beginning of the new millennium One of the most important institutions of the social ordering has been that of policing but very little has been written on how the practices of social control are affected by the processes of transnationalisation This book brings together contributions by experts on policing that focus on some of the newly emergent policing issues connected with these changes the global private security industry cross national networking between police the establishment of an international criminal court money laundering policing cyberspace the drug war Issues in Transnational Policing crosses the boundaries between criminology international relations and international law to provide a thought provoking picture of the complex issues surrounding the politics of policing in the future Policing John Grieve, Clive Harfield, Allyson MacVean, 2007-05-21 This is the first course guide that has been developed for students of policing It identifies the core themes and additional source material providing an essential overview for students and a reference point for use throughout their studies The Policing Course Companion is designed to complement and work alongside existing literature It provides Easy access to the key themes in policing Helpful summaries of the approach taken by the main course textbooks Guidance on the essential study skills required to pass the course Help with developing critical thinking Taking it Further sections that suggest how readers can extent their thinking beyond the received wisdom Pointers to success in course exams and written assessment exercises The SAGE Course Companion in Policing is much more than a revision guide for undergraduates it is an essential tool that will help readers take their course understanding to new levels and help them achieve success in their undergraduate course John Grieve is a former Director of Intelligence for the Metropolitan Police where he also held a number of other senior roles He is now Chair of the John Grieve Centre for Policing and Community Safety and Emeritus Professor at London Metropolitan University Clive Harfield is a former police Inspector and is now the Deputy Director of the John Grieve Centre for Policing and Community Safety London Metropolitan University Allyson MacVean is Founder and Director of the John Grieve Centre for Policing and Community Safety London Metropolitan University Handbook of International Crime and Justice Studies Bruce Arrigo, Heather Bersot, 2013-08-15 This book presents the enduring debates and emerging challenges in crime and justice studies from an international and multi disciplinary Global Injustice and Crime Control Wendy Laverick, 2016-02-12 Global Injustice and Crime Control places perspective cross border cross national and international crime and crime control within its wider context It examines theory from a range of disciplines and introduces students to the frequently neglected area of the world order and world politics in an effort to direct attention to the links between events power ideas institutions policies actions and counter actions at the international and domestic level In an increasingly interconnected and interdependent world the various dimensions of globalisation play a pivotal role in issues of crime and criminal justice in the 21st century This interdisciplinary textbook offers a critical treatment of the development and recent acceleration of national regional and international efforts at cross border crime control and law enforcement The book not only places cross national and international efforts by police courts regional and international agencies within their historical context but also focuses on elucidating leading theoretical perspectives from within globalisation literature criminology and international relations to shed light upon both sides of this phenomenon Areas covered include cross border crime and security state crime and corruption international responses to genocide terrorism and counter terrorism organised crime This book will be perfect reading for modules in transnational crime and justice and will be of interest to students in criminology policing public policy and international relations

Globalizing Local Policing David Sausdal, 2023-03-24 The book examines the globalization of local policing through an ethnographic study of the Danish Police Where many studies are looking into how larger inter or transnational policing bodies and policies are changing the world of policing few have gauged how local public police forces are also globalizing This book provides some unique insights into this under researched process Specifically it describes the daily practices and perceptions of two Danish detective task forces tasked with the investigation of organized property crimes committed by foreign nationals In the book readers get to see how the detectives think and work including the many efforts they make in attuning their daily work to a more global reality More so readers get to see how the detectives fail and the many frustrations and concerns that such changes include One the one hand Danish detectives very much understand the need to de localize and develop their work On the other hand they feel that many of these changes are in conflict with what they find to be real and rewarding police work For people interested in contemporary issues of policing the book thus points to a puzzling paradox Globalization might be making for more mobile and even mobilised local forces more technologically driven and collaborating with international partners However these very processes are also making local officers feel more disarmed than ever Ultimately the book describes why that is its consequences as well as how to imagine a form of global policing more in tune with its local actors Crafting Transnational Policing Andrew Goldsmith, James Sheptycki, 2007-11-16 The book examines the phenomenon of crafting transnational policing By this term is meant the different forms of engagement in policing reform by international donors national governments foreign police and law enforcement agencies in the domestic policing agencies and programs of recipient countries It includes inter alia peace keeping in post conflict situations reconstruction and capacity building as part of nation or state building exercises and the provision of technical assistance in relation to certain aspects of law enforcement In each instance there is a cross border provision of resources with a view to shaping the kind of policing provided in recipient nations Why do some countries engage in these activities Why has policing become a preferred form of foreign policy engagement in some countries What forms of policing development are provided How are they delivered And how are they received How should these kinds of assistance and or interventions be conducted in future In this regard is there a non negotiable core of good policing that needs to be developed and nurtured as an integral part of all defensible transnational policing engagements These are some of the questions raised by the contributions to this book The book arises primarily from papers presented at a workshop held in Onati Spain in July 2004 on the emergence of a global constabulary ethic The book has also been supplemented by two solicited chapters Policing in Europe Antoinette Verhage, 2010 The Journal of Police Studies is a quarterly which is oriented towards high standard quality contributions on policing issues and phenomena that are of interest to the police Topics are approached from a specialist and if required multidisciplinary point of view The volume looks to answer questions regarding the developments of police and police cooperation in Europe at the supranational level as well as explore the reactions of police organizations in individual European countries to the process of transnationalisation in terms of the design of and philosophy within police organizations

The Politics of the Police Benjamin Bowling, Robert Reiner, James W. E. Sheptycki, 2019 The Politics of the Police offers a geographical and historical overview of the law and politics of the police This fifth edition covers a wider range of empirical and theoretical issues encompassing a transnational scope and reflecting the growing diversity of policing forms in today s Global Policing Ben Bowling, James Sheptycki, 2011-12-16 In the transitional networked society police globalized world power is no longer constrained by the borders of the nation state It has globalised Global Policing shows how security threats have been constructed by powerful actors to justify the creation of a new global policing architecture and how the subculture of policing shapes the world system Demonstrating how a theory of global policing is central to understanding global governance the text explores the new security agenda focused on serious organised crime and terrorism and how this is transforming policing the creation of global organisations such as Interpol regional entities such as Europol and national policing agencies with a transnational reach the subculture of the global cops blurring boundaries between police private security military and secret intelligence agencies the reality of transnational policing on the ground its effectiveness legitimacy accountability and future development Written by two leading international experts who bring cutting edge theoretical debates to life with case studies and examples Global Policing will prove captivating reading for students and scholars in criminology criminal justice international relations law and sociology Handbook of Policing Tim Newburn, 2012-08-21 This new edition of the Handbook of Policing updates and expands the highly successful first edition and now includes a completely new chapter on policing and forensics It provides a comprehensive but highly readable overview of policing in the UK and is an essential reference point combining the expertise of leading academic experts on policing and policing practitioners themselves Security Unbound Jef Huysmans, 2014-05-09 Security concerns have mushroomed Increasingly numerous areas of life are governed by security policies and technologies Security Unbound argues that when insecurities pervade how we relate to our neighbours how we perceive international politics how governments formulate policies at stake is not our security but our democracy Security is not in the first instance a right or value but a practice that challenges democratic institutions and actions We are familiar with emergency policies in the name of national security challenging parliamentary processes the space for political dissent and fundamental rights Yet security practice and technology pervade society heavily in very mundane ways without raising national security crises in particular through surveillance technology and the management of risks and uncertainties in many areas of life These more diffuse security practices create societies in which suspicion becomes a default way of relating and governing relations ranging from neighbourhood relations over financial transactions to cross border mobility Security Unbound demonstrates that governing through suspicion poses serious challenges to democratic practice Some of these challenges are familiar such as the erosion of the right to privacy others are less so such as the post human challenge to citizenship Security unbound provokes us to see that the democratic political stake today is not our security but preventing insecurity from becoming the organising principle of political and social life Policing World Society Mathieu Deflem, 2002 This book offers a sociological analysis of the history of international police cooperation in the period from the middle of the 19th century until the end of World War II It is a detailed exploration of international cooperation strategies involving police institutions from the United States and Germany as well as other European countries Crime and Insecurity Adam Crawford, 2013-01-11 Concerns over insecurity have become central issues in political debates across Europe and the western world and crucial changes have followed in the wake of these concerns This book contributes to an understanding of these developments Places and Perpetrators Gerben Bruinsma, Henk Elffers, Jan De Keijser, 2012-12-06 This book brings together an influential group of academics and researchers to review key areas of research theory and methodology within criminology and criminal justice and to identify the most important new challenges facing the discipline The contributors focus on the three central themes of punishment and criminal justice location and mobility and perpetrators and criminal careers on which much cutting edge research within criminology has been taking place A particular strength of the book is its multidisciplinary and international approach with contributors drawn from Europe the UK and the United States Special Topics in Policing James F. Albrecht, Garth den Heyer, 2024-10-07 This book comprehensively examines five key areas related to crisis management in policing These specific issues include Understanding contemporary terrorism and homeland security threats Effective counter terrorism strategies Practical crisis planning and management Demonstration and riot control Dealing with police related stress and PTSD The book chapters present a global multi dimensional approach to examine these critical policing issues while analyzing them through sociological and practical lenses It proposes policy recommendations to promote optimal police service delivery professionalism and organizational effectiveness during major crises and large scale events In addition this book investigates police related stress with the goal of promoting optimal police officer health and wellness It is ideal for policing professionals policymakers and researchers Globalization and Crime Katja Franko, 2019-10-28 Now in its third edition Globalization Crime provides students with a comprehensive overview of the essential themes and conceptual debates surrounding globalization and global criminology It examines established topics such as human trafficking and smuggling migration and organised crime But also explores modern issues such as the refugee crisis in Europe cyber hacking and enforcement and the failure of Internet Service Providers to take responsibility for online content The third edition has been significantly updated with new content and examples along with modern case studies such as the political context surrounding the development of ISIS organ trafficking and an anti globalization backlash in the UK and US It also features two new chapters Global Ecological Destruction An investigation into the development of environmental criminology and Towards a Cosmopolitan Criminology An overview of the possibilities for establishing a global criminology and coverage of the emerging issues to consider for the future Ideal reading for undergraduate and postgraduate students of criminology globalization and sociology Comparative, International, and Global Justice Cyndi Banks, James Baker, 2015-09-23 Comparative International and Global Justice Perspectives from Criminology and Criminal Justice presents and critically assesses a wide range of topics relevant to criminology criminal justice and global justice The text is divided into three parts comparative criminal justice international criminology and transnational and global criminology Within each field are located specific topics which the authors regard as contemporary and highly relevant and that will assist students in gaining a fuller appreciation of global justice issues Authors Cyndi Banks and James Baker address these complex global issues using a scholarly but accessible approach often using detailed case studies. The discussion of each topic is a comprehensive contextualized account that explains the social context in which law and crime exist and engages with guestions of explanation or interpretation. The authors challenge students to gain knowledge of international and comparative criminal justice issues and think about them in a critical manner It has become difficult to ignore the global and international dimensions of criminal justice and criminology and this text aims to enhance criminal justice education by focusing on some of the issues engaging criminology worldwide and to prepare students for a future where fields of study Policing Tim Newburn, Jill Peay, 2012-06-22 Bringing together a range of like transnational crime are unexceptional leading social scientists and criminologists this volume explores a number of key themes raised by the work of Robert Reiner Arguably the leading policing scholar of his generation Reiner's work over some 40 years has ranged broadly in this field taking in the study of police history culture organisation elites and relationships with the media Always carefully situated within an analysis of the changing socio political circumstances of policing and crime control Robert Reiner's scholarship has been path breaking in its impact The 13 original essays in this volume are testament to Reiner's influence Although reflecting the primarily British bent within his work the essays also draw on contributors from Australia Europe South Africa and the United States to explore some of the leading debates of the moment These include but are not limited to the impact of neo liberalism on crime control and the challenges for modern social democracy police culture equality and political economy new media and the future of policing youth policing and democracy and the challenges and possibilities posed by

Politicising and Policing Organised Crime Monique Mann,2019-07-23 The concept of organised crime is constructed and mobilised by a milieu of complex factors and discourses including a politics of law and order and international insecurity combined with the vested interests and priorities of scholars politicians government officials and policing authorities This book challenges existing assumptions and accepted understandings of organised crime and explores the ways in which it is amplified and reconstructed for political purposes This book critiques how the constitution of the organised crime problem in academic and political discourse provides the conditions necessary for the development of an extensive and international architecture of law policing surveillance and intelligence It examines emerging challenges and future directions including the impact of technology on new problems and for transnational policing such as the ease with which the Internet enables crime to be committed across borders and for electronic communications to be protected with strong encryption hampering interception No other text presents an integrated and comprehensive study of both the politicisation and policing of organised crime while questioning the outcomes for society at large Drawing on international fieldwork and interviews with senior national and supranational policing personnel this book compares and contrasts various narratives on organised crime It will be of interest to students and researchers engaged in studies of criminology criminal justice organised crime policing and law
