Getmapping Photographic Atlas:

Landscapes, Documents and Maps Brian K. Roberts, 2008-10-10 The last half century has seen many studies of the origin of the English village As a cross disciplinary enquiry this book integrates materials from geography history economic history archaeology place name studies anthropology and even church architecture These provide varied foundations but the underlying subject matter always engages with landscape studies Beginning with a rigorous examination of evidence hidden within the surviving village and hamlet plans seen on eighteenth and nineteenth century maps the first half of the book shows how these can be classified mapped analysed and then interpreted as important parts of former medieval landscapes Many specific case studies are built into the argument all being drawn from the author's lifetime work on northern England and accessible language is employed From this base the argument develops with the objective of integrating landscape studies with the descriptive and analytical practices of history and drawing these together by using the cartographic methods of historical geography This foundation leads gently into deeper waters to the landed estates in which all settlements developed and the farming and social systems of which they were a part to the land holding arrangements that were integrated into the physical plans providing methods of sharing out the agricultural resources of arable meadow woodland and common grazings and finally to the social divisions present within a changing society A wholly new theme is found in the argument that certain types of land tenure were associated with a class of officer land agent or dreng who in northern England was often linked with the provision of tenants for new villages It is clear from the evidence amassed that the deliberate founding of new villages and the establishment of new plans on older sites was taking place in the centuries between about AD 900 and 1250 Finally the study moves beyond the North of England to review the European roots of planned villages and hamlets and concludes with a challenging hypothesis about their origin in the whole of England This provides pointers towards future enquiry

England Getmapping, 2001 If you live anywhere in England you should already feel right at home within this book However well you think you know the country though close inspection of its pages should reward you with some amazing insights into the fabric of the landscape you will spot patterns and textures both natural and man made that are all but invisible from the ground discover surprising features shared between entirely unconnected areas and explore new corners of the country for the very first time

New York: The Photo Atlas Getmapping, 2004-09-21 For those who think they know the streets of New York City like the back of their hand think again For those who don't know how to get around Gotham here's a chance to get to know the city in all its glory New York The Photo Atlas combines exquisite aerial photography and detailed street atlas maps to provide a truly unique perspective of the city high above the concrete The breadth of the area covered is stunning All five boroughs are included as well as several New York and New Jersey suburbs Trace your bike route find your apartment building or take in the sights without leaving your living room Even if you don't know New York well you will find this book fascinating The atlas is a breeze to use The photography and the cartography share the same standard grid

system so you can cross reference quickly between the two elements and every street in the area shown is indexed for both types of maps Both the photography and cartography are map accurate the photography has been geo corrected a process that removes the distortions in the original aerial photography Every street in NYC more than 40 000 in total has been indexed with two page numbers one relating to the photos and the other relating to the cartography Both native and honorary New Yorkers will be thrilled to own the groundbreaking New York The Photo Atlas the most revealing New York atlas ever published Cartography and Geographic Information Science ,2003 Library Journal ,2002 Interactions ,2005 A magazine for designers of interactive products Atlas of West African urban food systems Karg, H.,Drechsel, Pay,2018-12-12 A History of the Twentieth Century in 100 Maps Tim Bryars,Tom Harper,2014-12-10 The twentieth century was a golden age of mapmaking an era of cartographic boom Maps proliferated and permeated almost every aspect of daily life not only chronicling geography and history but also charting and conveying myriad political and social agendas Here Tim Bryars and Tom Harper select one hundred maps from the millions printed drawn or otherwise constructed during the twentieth century and recount through them a narrative of the century s key events and developments As Bryars and Harper reveal maps make ideal narrators and the maps in this book tell the story of the 1900s which saw two world wars the Great Depression the Swinging Sixties the Cold War feminism leisure and the Internet Several of the maps have already gained recognition for their historical significance for example Harry Beck s iconic London Underground map but the majority of maps on these pages have rarely if ever been seen in print since they first appeared There are maps that were printed on handkerchiefs and on the endpapers of books maps that were used in advertising or propaganda maps that were strictly official and those that were entirely commercial maps that were printed by the thousand and highly specialist maps issued in editions of just a few dozen maps that were envisaged as permanent keepsakes of major events and maps that were relevant for a matter of hours or days As much a pleasure to view as it is to read A History of the Twentieth Century in 100 Maps celebrates the visual variety of twentieth century maps and the hilarious shocking or poignant narratives of the individuals and institutions caught up in their production and use News Garden History Society (Great Britain),2000
