Resocialising Europe in a Time of Crisis Nicola Countouris,Mark Freedland,2013-10-10 Terms such as Social Europe and European Social Model have long resided in the political and regulatory lexicon of European integration But in recent years and in spite of the adoption of the Charter of Fundamental Rights the EU social profile has entered a profound period of crisis The ECJ judgments of Viking and Laval exemplify the unresolved tension between the EU s strong market imperatives and its fragile social aspirations while the ongoing economic crisis while the various bail out packages are producing a constant retrenchment of social rights The status quo is one in which workers appear to shoulder most of the risks attendant on making and executing arrangements for the doing of work Chapters in this book advocate a reversal of this trend in favour of fair mutualization so as to disperse these risks and share them more equitably between employers the state and society at large

The European Mosaic David Gowland,Richard Dunphy,Charlotte Lythe,2014-01-14 The European Mosaic is an up to date introduction to all aspects of the politics economics culture and recent history of the European Union in particular and Europe in general The European Mosaic effectively familiarizes students with EU issues that are currently in the news and likely to remain so for the foreseeable future It is a clear and accessible introduction to the European polity Its strongly interdisciplinary focus provides a multidimensional understanding of contemporary Europe of the process of European integration and of the dynamics of the European Union Suitable for undergraduate courses in European politics      Mobility Economies in Europe's Borderlands Marthe Achtnich, 2023-10-26 The arrival of unauthorised migrants at the shores of southern Europe has been sensationalized into a migration crisis in recent years Yet these depictions fail to grasp migrants experiences and fall short of addressing a more complex phenomenon In this original ethnography Marthe Achtnich examines migrants journeys and economic practices underpinning mobility to recast how we think of migration Bringing the perspectives and voices of migrants to the fore she traces sub Saharan migrants journeys along one of the world s most dangerous migration routes through the Sahara Desert Libya and then by boat to Malta in Europe Examining what she calls mobility economies Achtnich demonstrates how these migrant journeys become sources of profit for various actors By focusing on migrants long and difficult journeys the book prompts a necessary rethinking of mobile life economic practices under contemporary capitalism and the complex relationship between the two      The End of Social Services? Peter Herrmann, 2011 The book provides a critical contribution looking at the development of social and health services Though discussing also contemporary issues the focus is a more fundamental critique dismantling the ideological questions that are behind these developments standing in the context of the critique of capitalism and modernisation In addition one contribution looks in particular at the development of human resources in the UK and in another contribution an analysis of empirical data is provided it looks at the perspective from EU NGOs active in the sector of social service provision The book concludes with a contribution compiled by an informal network of various EU NGOs looking in an exemplary way at difficulties faced by the recent developments of marketisation and liberalisation
