Getting It Right Regional Development In Canada:

Getting It Right Harley McGee, 1992-11-16 Getting It Right is the first insider's account of this period of regional development in Canada. Harley McGee draws on his experience with the government at senior regional and departmental levels and on primary and secondary sources to examine the evolution of federal regional development policies and the structures developed between 1970 and 1991 to implement them. He dispels some of the myths and challenges some of the perceptions about the manner in which regional development has been tackled by governments in Canada. He explores the federal-provincial dimensions of regional development as well as the difficulty of reconciling the perceived dichotomy between national and regional policies. McGee argues that the 1982 move away from the DREE model of regional development was a mistake and suggests that the predilection of governments for reorganising existing instruments of regional development policy and creating new ones has been detrimental to regional economies. Mindful of the new realities of the global economy within which Canada and its regions must compete and of the promise/threat of rapidly changing technology, McGee identifies the need for a new order of priorities with which governments can meet these challenges and opportunities.

Remaking the Rust Belt Tracy Neumann, 2016-06-28 Remaking the Rust Belt tells the story of how local leaders throughout the Rust Belt adapted internationally circulating ideas about postindustrial redevelopment to create the jobs and amenities they believed would attract middle class professionals but in so doing widened and deepened economic inequality among urban residents.

Policy Governance in Multi-level Systems Charles Conteh, 2013-04-01 The past two decades have witnessed dramatic shifts in public policy with increasing complexity not only in the relationships between the state, society and the private sector but also in the interactions among various orders of government in places such as Canada, the United States and the European Union. In Policy Governance in Multi-level Systems, Charles Conteh examines how these seismic structural changes have impacted the work of public organizations and how these organizations are responding to modifications in their operating environments. With an emphasis on Canada's controversial but resilient regional economic policy, Conteh focuses his study on four agencies: the Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency, Western Economic Diversification Canada, FedNor and FedDev, and their evolving policy portfolios and modes of operation in New Brunswick, Manitoba, northern Ontario and southern Ontario. Drawing upon literature in public administration, urban and regional governance as well as multi-level governance, Conteh offers a cutting edge analysis of contemporary and emerging understandings of multi-level governance and regional development while acknowledging the historical context of policy and intellectual traditions. Combining a solid theoretical background with empirical depth and practical lessons from the field, Policy Governance in Multi-level Systems is an invaluable resource for policy analysts, policy makers and practitioners in many tiers of government, business and community leadership.

Canada's Department of External Affairs, Volume 2 John Hilliker, Donald Barry, 1990 The second volume of the official history of the Department of External Affairs, Coming of Age, covers a period of remarkable expansion and achievement in the history of Canadian external relations Service in the Field Barbara Wake Carroll, David Siegel, Institute of Public Administration of Canada, 1999 The most important people in government are not the prime minister premiers and senior bureaucrats but the people who work in government field offices across the country providing service to Canadians The first book to focus exclusively on the role of field level public servants in Canada Service in the Field examines the work they do and the relationship between field and head offices Intellectual Property Rights K. R. G. Nair, Ashok Kumar, 1994 Chiefly papers presented at the International Seminar on IPR organized by the Centre for Canadian Studies of the University of Delhi January 9 10 1993 Angus L. Macdonald T. Stephen Henderson, 2007-04-21 Perhaps one of the most influential Canadian premiers of the Twentieth Century and one of the leading political intellectuals of his generation Angus L Macdonald dominated politics in Nova Scotia for more than twenty years serving as premier from 1933 to 1940 and again from 1945 until his death in 1954 One rival referred to him as the pope out of respect for his political infallibility From 1940 to 1945 Macdonald guided Canada's war effort at sea as Minister of National Defence for Naval Services under his watch the Royal Canadian Navy expanded faster than any other navy in the world This new work by T Stephen Henderson is the first academic biography of Macdonald whose life provides a framework for the study of Canada's pre and post war transformation and a rare opportunity to compare the political history of the two periods Generally Macdonald's political thinking reflected a progressive interwar liberalism that found its clearest expression in the 1940 Rowell Sirois report on federal provincial relations The report proposed a redistribution of responsibilities and resources that would allow poorer provinces greater autonomy and reduce overlapping jurisdictions in the federal system Ottawa abandoned Rowell Sirois in the postwar period and Macdonald fell out of step with the national Liberal party that he had once seemed destined to lead Within Nova Scotia however his ardent defence of provincial powers and his commitment to building a modern infrastructure enabled him to win election after election and transform the face and identity of his province Canadian Books in Print. Author and Title Index, 1975 Shifting Sands Joan Price Boase, 1994-03-01 During the 1970s and 1980s policymaking in the complex area of regulatory legislation of the health disciplines became both increasingly important and increasingly difficult for the Canadian provinces In this comparative study Joan Boase traces the evolution of relationships among governments and health care interest groups in four provinces Ontario Quebec Nova Scotia and Alberta and finds that although they have faced similar problems they have responded in different ways She employs several theoretical approaches to explain these different responses including community policy networks institutionalism and state traditions and uses case studies to illustrate the intense interest group activity that has occurred in this sector Boase reaches three conclusions 1 with the development of a national health insurance plan there has been a shift in the actions of government from reliance on interest group liberalism towards concerted efforts to plan the structure of the welfare system 2 the different systems of interest intermediation that evolved in the provinces reflected the underlying political and administrative culture and institutional structures within the provinces and 3 the unique proactive approach taken by Ontario in the 1980s was a deliberate effort to modify the institutional arrangements through which groups had traditionally influenced policy Boase suggests that the complexities of modern government and the move towards redistributive politics will lead the state to make extraordinary efforts to control its environment in the future Shifting Sands will be of particular interest to health care specialists policy makers and legislators as well as activists Understanding the Social Economy

Jack Quarter,Laurie Mook,Ann Armstrong,2009-11-07 In Understanding the Social Economy Jack Quarter Laurie Mook and Ann Armstrong integrate a wide array of organizations founded upon a social mission social enterprises nonprofits co operatives credit unions and community development associations under the rubric of the social economy This framework facilitates a comprehensive study of Canada s social sector an area often neglected in the business curricula despite the important role that these organizations play in Canada s economy Invaluable for business programs that address issues such as community economic development co operatives and nonprofit studies and management Understanding the Social Economy presents a unique set of case studies as well as chapters on organizational design and governance social finance and social accounting and accountability The examples provide much needed context for students and allow for an original and in depth examination of the relationships between Canada s social infrastructure and the public and private sectors With this work Quarter Mook and Armstrong illuminate a neglected facet of business studies to further our understanding of the Canadian economy Dominion Bureau of Statistics David Albert Worton,Institute of Public Administration of Canada,1998 The Bureau precursor to Statistics Canada was founded in 1918 as a centralized national agency to replace piecemeal arrangements which had developed over time and no longer satisfied statistical needs The author who is a retired assistant chief statistician of Canada traces its evolution and looks at the individuals who influenced it He discusses how Canada s statistical system has coped with the country s evolution from a staple economy to a mature industrial power the changing nature of the technology for gathering compiling analyzing and disseminating information and some notable Canadian contributions to the science and production of statistics Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Institutionalized Cabinet Christopher Dunn,1995-06-22 Dunn investigates factors leading to the initiation and persistence of institutionalized cabinets in the governments of T C Douglas in Saskatchewan Duff Roblin and Walter Weir in Manitoba and W R Bennett in British Columbia He describes the transition from unaided or relatively uncoordinated central executive structures to those that are more structured collegial and prone to emphasize planning and coordination He also examines how the premier s role has expanded from simply choosing cabinets to reorganizing their structure and decision making processes as well The institutionalization of provincial cabinets has had major effects on both political actors and functions in the three provinces studied Dunn shows that cabinet structure has changed and been changed by power relations within the cabinet Time Travel Alan Gordon,2016-04-15 In the 1960s Canadians could step through time to eighteenth century trading posts or nineteenth century pioneer towns These living history museums promised authentic reconstructions of the past but as Time Travel shows they revealed more about mid twentieth century interests and perceptions of history than they reflected historical fact An appetite for commercial tourism led to the rise of living history museums They became important components of economic growth especially as part of government policy to promote regional economic diversity and employment Alan Gordon explores how these museums were shaped by post war pressures personality conflicts funding challenges and the need to balance education and entertainment Ultimately the rise of the living history museum is linked to the struggle to establish a pan Canadian identity in the context of multiculturalism competing anglophone and francophone nationalisms First Nations resistance and the growth of the state Corporate Autonomy and Institutional Control Douglas F. Stevens,1993-06-14 Stevens examines institutional frameworks for Crown corporations in Alberta Saskatchewan and Manitoba between the early 1970s and the mid 1980s showing how each framework establishes different practices and offers distinct strategic advantages Organizational approaches in Alberta most closely approximated what the author calls a self contained design in which corporate actors had the advantage and were most able to achieve their own objectives In Manitoba where vertical information systems prevailed central bureaucratic monitoring agents tended to some extent to wield influence over the corporations Saskatchewan practice was akin to a lateral relations pattern with an equilibrium between corporate and bureaucratic goals Stevens s comparison of Crown corporation organization designs suggests that while no one form is inherently more efficient than another each leads to qualitatively different outcomes He concludes that the most important issue in problems of organization design is who is winning the Crown corporation game a finding of considerable interest to all students of government enterprise OECD Rural Policy Reviews Linking Indigenous Communities with Regional Development in Canada OECD,2020-01-21 Canada s Constitution Act 1982 recognises three Indigenous groups Indians now referred to as First Nations Inuit and Métis Indigenous peoples make a vital contribution to the culture heritage and economic development of Canada Despite improvements in Indigenous well being in recent decades significant gaps remain with the non Indigenous population This study focuses on four priority issues to maximise the potential of Indigenous economies in Canada Choice ,1993

Canadian Books in Print Marian Butler,2000 Index de Périodiques Canadiens ,2001 Booze, Cigarettes, and Constitutional Dust-Ups Ryan Manucha,2022-10-15 Gerard Comeau a retiree living in rural New Brunswick never thought his booze run would turn him into a Canadian hero In 2012 after Comeau had driven to Quebec to purchase cheaper beer and crossed back into his home province police officers participating in a low stakes sting operation tailed and detained him confiscated his haul and levied a fine of less than 300 Countries routinely engage in trade wars and erect barriers to protect domestic industries from foreign competition Comeau however was detained by the full force of the law for engaging in commerce with a Canadian business on the other side of a domestic border With Comeau s story as its starting point Booze

Cigarettes and Constitutional Dust Ups tells the fascinating tale of Canadian interprovincial trade Ryan Manucha examines the historical political and legal forces that gave rise to the regulation of interprovincial commerce in Canada the trade offs that come with liberalized domestic free trade and Canada s enduring pursuit of economic union The pandemic laid bare the vulnerability of global supply chains the fickleness of foreign trading partners and the surprising slipperiness of domestic trade In a global climate of increasingly isolationist geopolitics the history and possibility of Canada s economic union quirks and all deserve careful attention Index to Canadian Legal Periodical Literature ,1994
