Regulating the Use of Force by United Nations Peace Support Operations Charuka Ekanayake, 2021-05-30 This Book attempts to deduce regulatory standards that can close the gaps between the Promises made and the Outcomes secured by the United Nations in relation to its use of force It explores two broad questions in this regard why the contemporary legal framework relevant to the regulation of force during Armed Conflict cannot close the gaps between the said Promises and Outcomes and how the Unified Use of Force Rule formulated herein achieves this This is the first book to coherently analyse the moral as well as legal aspects relevant to UN use of force UN peace operations are rapidly changing Deployed peacekeepers are now required to use force in pursuance of numerous objectives such as self defence protecting civilians and carrying out targeted offensive operations As a result questions about when where and how to use force have now become central to peacekeeping While UN peace operations have managed to avoid catastrophes of the magnitude of Rwanda and Srebrenica for over two decades crucial gaps still exist between what the UN promises on the use of force front and what it achieves Current conflict zones such as the Central African Republic Eastern Congo and Mali stand testament to this This book searches for answers to these issues and identifies how an innovative mix of the relevant legal and moral rules can produce regulatory standards that can allow the UN to keep their promises The discussion covers analytical ground that must be traversed behind the scenes of UN deployment well before the first troops set foot on a battlefield The analysis ultimately produces a Unified Use of Force Rule that can either be completely or partially used as a model set of Rules of Engagement by UN forces This book will be immensely beneficial to law students researchers academics and practitioners in the fields of international relations international law peacekeeping and human rights The Use of Force in UN Peacekeeping Peter Nadin, 2018-02-06 This edited volume provides a detailed and nuanced analysis of UN peacekeeping and the use of force to inform a better understanding of the complex and interconnected issues at stake for the UN community Peacekeeping is traditionally viewed as a largely passive military activity governed by the principles of impartiality consent and the minimum use of force Today most large UN Peacekeeping Operations are only authorized to use force in defence of their mandates and to protect civilians under imminent threat of physical violence Recently with the deployment of the Force Intervention Brigade in the DRC the UN has gone beyond peacekeeping and into the realm of peace enforcement These developments have brought to the fore questions regarding the use of force in the context of peacekeeping The key questions addressed in this book examine not only the utility of force but also the dilemmas and constraints inherent to the purposive use of force at a strategic operational and tactical level Should UN peacekeepers exercise military initiative Is UN peacekeeping capable of undertaking offensive military operations If so then under what circumstances should peacekeepers use force How should force be wielded And against whom With chapters written by experts in the field this comprehensive volume will be of great use and interest to postgraduate students academics and experts in international security the UN

People Simon Chesterman,2005 The governance of post conflict territories embodies a central contradiction how does one help a population prepare for democratic governance and the rule of law by imposing a form of benevolent autocracy Transitional administrations represent the most complex operations attempted by the United Nations The operations in East Timor and Kosovo are commonly seen as unique in the history of the UN perhaps never to be repeated But they may also be seen as the latest in a series of operations that have involved the United Nations in state building activities where it has attempted to develop the institutions of government by assuming some or all of those sovereign powers on a temporary basis The circumstances that have demanded such interventions certainly will be repeated Seen in the context of earlier UN operations such as those in Namibia Cambodia and Eastern Slavonia the view that these exceptional circumstances may not recur is somewhat disingenuous Moreover the need for such policy research has been brought into sharp focus by the weighty but ambiguous role assigned to the UN in Afghanistan and the possibility of a comparable role in Iraq This book fills that gap Aimed at policy makers diplomats and a wide academic audience including international relations political science international law and war studies the book provides a concise history of UN state building operations and a treatment of the five key issues confronting such an operation on the ground peace and security the role of the UN as government judicial reconstruction economic reconstruction and exit strategies

The next peace operation U.S. Air Force issues and perspectives , Accountability of Peace Support Operations M.C. Zwanenburg, 2005-05-01 Quis custodiet ipsos custodies In other words who guards the guardians At a time when the mandate of many peace support operations includes halting violations of international humanitarian law by third parties there is still a lack of clarity concerning accountability of peace support operations themselves This book addresses that accountability focusing on peace support operations under the command and control of the United Nations and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization It is concerned with the accountability of international organizations as well as troops contributing and member states but not of individuals Drawing on existing and emerging doctrines of international law including the law of state responsibility the law of responsibility of international organizations international institutional law and international humanitarian law and on the basis of state practice this book makes a strong plea for improving mechanisms to implement the accountability of peace support operations under international humanitarian law The Paul Reuter Prize 2006 was awarded to Marten Zwanenburg for this book
