Institution and Human Resource Capacity Building in ASEAN United Nations. Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific, 1999 Most southeast Asian countries have until recently had a long period of rapid and reasonably equitable growth This remarkable performance was achieved largely because sound policies were implemented effectively by capable institutions with competent staff This is especially true in key policy areas such as macroeconomic management product transformations trade and investment promotion and infrastructure development Many developing economies in Asia and the Pacific including the new and potentially new members of ASEAN namely Cambodia Lao People's Democratic Republic Myanmar and Viet Nam which are facing enormous challenges resulting from domestic economic reforms and exposure to the international economy could benefit from the experiences of institution and human resource capacity building in older ASEAN countries This publication contains an overview and four country studies of Indonesia Malaysia the Philippines and Thailand Innovation in the Public Sector V. Bekkers, J. Edelenbos, B.

Steijn, 2011-04-12 Addresses issues relevant to an understanding of the innovation journeys on which public organizations have embarked If public innovation is defined as a necessary condition for establishing meaningful interactions between the government and society what are the relevant issues that may explain successful processes and forms of public innovation
