Redefining Black Film Mark A. Reid,1993-02-23 Can films about black characters produced by white filmmakers be considered black films In answering this question Mark Reid reassesses black film history carefully distinguishing between films controlled by blacks and films that utilize black talent but are controlled by whites Previous black film criticism has buried the true black film industry Reid says by concentrating on films that are about but not by blacks Reid s discussion of black independent films defined as films that focus on the black community and that are written directed produced and distributed by blacks ranges from the earliest black involvement at the turn of the century up through the civil rights movement of the Sixties and the recent resurgence of feminism in black cultural production His critical assessment of work by some black filmmakers such as Spike Lee notes how these films avoid dramatizations of sexism homophobia and classism within the black community In the area of black commercial film controlled by whites Reid considers three genres African American comedy black family film and black action film He points out that even when these films use black writers and directors a black perspective rarely surfaces Reid s innovative critical approach which transcends the black image language of earlier studies and at the same time redefines black film makes an important contribution to film history Certain to attract film scholars this work will also appeal to anyone interested in African American and Women s Studies Spike Lee Spike Lee,2002 The best interviews and profiles of America s most prominent African American filmmaker Reel to Real Bell Hooks,1996 In Reel to Real Hooks enhances our visual experience of movies enabling us to see in a new way Her work like the best films of our time provokes thought and creates a context for dialogue Production Design in the

Contemporary American Film Beverly Heisner,2004-01-30 While the viewer s eyes are trained on the actors the production design sets the mood for the film The design also subtly comments on the action and the characters moves the plot forward and adds to its symbolic content The production design of 23 films of the 1980s and 1990s is analyzed here The films are divided into five areas realistic films set in the present day stylized films including horror set in the present day period films period films that move through several decades and science fiction and fantasy films Among the movies analyzed are The Silence of the Lambs She s Gotta Have It The Fisher King Ragtime Barton Fink Goodfellas and Alien The quality of the designs is assessed by a careful reading of the mise en scene Often the designers own words are used to describe the effects and the process involved in achieving them Ebony ,1987-01 EBONY is the flagship magazine of Johnson Publishing
