Lind,2000-01-01 Whether seeking recognition spirituality or personal success we are endlessly striving to become something better But even if we obtain what we are looking for we cannot refrain from creating another quest Driven to distraction in pursuit of our goals we are never able to enjoy even live the life we have This provocative book explores the harmful side of our cultural and personal preoccupation with seeking Psychologist Richard Lind suggests that there are no alternatives to seeking because our culture is singularly obsessed with personal development Modern individuals have been taught since youth to believe that the quest for an ideal future state is the sure road to happiness Yet as Lind shows ideal goals remain out of reach Instead of bringing inner peace the compulsive quest for selfimprovement creates psychic fragmentation inner conflict and personal suffering It leads individuals to feel that their lives are never good enough and results in the manipulation of the self and others Rather than advocating without qualification the value of growth development and progress Dr Lind suggests that selftransformation can only occur if we are able to stop interfering with the experience of who we naturally are Supporting his case with historical examples and insights from diverse wisdom traditions Lind shows how inner fulfillment can only be obtained by giving up empty desires and empty striving and by becoming directly present again to the world of living experience Building, Defending, and Regulating the Self Abraham Tesser,Joanne V. Wood,Diederik A. Stapel,2005-07-05 This volume pulls together research on several aspects of the self One set of chapters deals with the importance of building a self based on authenticity and Who I really am a second group deals with the ways in which we defend views of the self as positive and powerful a third group is concerned

On the Self: Discourses of Mental Health and Education Julie Allan, Valerie Harwood, 2022-09-24 This book examines the emergence of psychologised discourses of the self in education and considers their effects on children and young people on relationships both in and out of school and on educational practices It undertakes a Foucauldian genealogy of the discourses of the self in education in order to scrutinise the focal points of experience for children and young people Part One of the book offers a critical analysis of the discourses of the self that operate within interventions of self esteem self concept self efficacy and self regulation and their incursions into education Part Two provides counter narratives of the self drawn principally from the arts and politics and providing alternative and potentially radical ways of when and how the self might speak It also articulates how teachers may support children and young people in giving voice to these counter narratives as they move through school

The Split Subject of Narration in Elizabeth Gaskell's First Person Fiction Anna Koustinoudi, 2011-12-16 The Split Subject of Narration in Elizabeth Gaskell s First Person Fiction analyzes a number of Elizabeth Gaskell s first person works through a post modern perspective employing such theoretical frameworks as psychoanalytic theory narratology and gender theory It attempts to explore the problematics of Victorian subjectivity bringing into focus the ways in which both her realistic and Gothic texts undercut and interrogate post Romantic assumptions about an autonomous and coherent speaking and or narrating subject The essential argument of the book is that the mid nineteenth century narrating I in its communal voyeuristic and Gothic manifestations emerges as painfully divided lacking unstable ailing and hence unreliable pre figuring at the same time later forms of self conscious narration in fiction Furthermore it is also exposed as performative one that can be seen as a simulacrum without an original and consequently at odds with post Romantic empiricist assumptions about the factuality centrality and rationality of the human subject while at the same time clinging to illusions of autonomy Plagued by its own self awareness the narrating I is alienated both from itself as well as from those it attempts to represent including its own narrated counterpart To this effect it argues that throughout a trajectory of configurations psychic investments and imaginary identifications embedded in and conditioned by the workings of desire and ideology both of which underpin discursive and representational practices narrative subjectivity in Gaskell s first person fiction manifests itself as the product of a misrecognized encounter between the subject who narrates and that which is being narrated Both are essentially unable to see their split character and the alienating chasm opened up between them for the former on the level of narration and for the latter on a thematic level
