Self-instruction Pedagogy Dennis E. Mithaug, Deidre K. Mithaug, 2007 This book describes a method of teaching that fosters autonomous learning in all students including students with disabilities The pedagogy is based on decades of research on strategy instruction as well as on a theory of learning that claims these four conditions promote self determined learning in all learners 1 opportunities to choose expectations for gaining something from a learning challenge 2 strategies that regulate responses to meet those expectations 3 comparisons between results and expectations that provoke additional adjustment in expectations and responses and 4 persistent engagement and adjustment until results match expectations The pedagogy of self instruction described in this book anchors these conditions in everyday instruction so students can learn by adjusting to their own expectations Chapter 1 compares this approach to the teacher directed methods of direct instruction that require teachers to set expectations for students control how students respond to them evaluate the outcomes they produce and then prescribe adjustments students must make to improve Chapter 2 provides evidence that too much of special education instruction reflects this teacher directed approach and as a consequence discourages students from learning how to learn on their own Chapters 3 6 identify four ways to shift learning control from teachers to students and Chapters 7 and 8 identify the obstacles to achieving this instructional shift in special education The appendices of the book provide a bibliography of research on self instruction and direct instruction pedagogies and a validated self assessment that can evaluate the directedness of your teaching

Special education past, present, and future Timothy J. Landrum, Bryan G. Cook, Melody Tankersley, 2014-08-26 Teachers report being unprepared for the difficult behavior they encounter in classrooms and administrators find themselves under increasing pressure to maintain safe and orderly schools IDEA regulations have also resulted in ongoing confusion about how schools can and should discipline students with identified disabilities

Research in Education, 1970 African Caribbean Pupils in Art Education Paul Dash, 2010-01-01 This book deals with the issue of African Caribbean pupil invisibility in the art and design classroom As such it addresses African Caribbean pupil invisibility in almost any teaching and learning context The book argues that the slave trade which ruptured their continuities with an African past continues to impact on the learning of such pupils relative to others In seeking to explicate this matter the book places African Caribbean pupils in the wider context of African Caribbean and Western cultural identities Just where do they belong To address this matter it calls on the theorising of thinkers with an interest in identity construction learning and belonging particularly with reference to the Caribbean The book is organised in three sections the first presents the rationale for the enquiry the second outlines the outcome from a small research project with a focus on African Caribbean learners in the art and design classroom and the third reflects on key issues that emerged from the research in relation to the rationale The book ends by offering possibilities for developing African Caribbean teaching and learning in art and design African Caribbean Pupils in Art Education is very erudite and the centre of a world of reference and allusion Dash relates its arguments and insights to many different writers and contexts These will lead readers to many other writers and their arguments in related fields of study personalised research interviews with teachers and students adds realism and close to the bone insight to the points Dash makes These interviews are not academised and made tedious or uninteresting but real life and real classroom and curriculum issues come out clearly and undisguisedly in the subjects words Many of their points are full of meaning and lucidity and add more power to Dash s arguments Thus the book will be of real value to prospective teachers and teacher educators too as a tool of learning and a stimulus for discussion The book goes a long way beyond only being a text for Art Education students It s arguments have salience for all Educationalists and trainee teachers as well as for staffrooms in Britain and North America Canada and the U S for example It deals with vital questions both for African Caribbean students and their white and Asian classmates canvassing issues of intellectual and cultural confidence for African Caribbean students and historical and contemporary truth for others Chris Searle Director of the Ahmed Iqbal Ullah Race Relations Resource Centre at the University of Manchester
