Unseeing Empire Bakirathi Mani, 2020-10-26 In Unseeing Empire Bakirathi Mani examines how empire continues to haunt South Asian American visual cultures Weaving close readings of fine art together with archival research and ethnographic fieldwork at museums and galleries across South Asia and North America Mani outlines the visual and affective relationships between South Asian diasporic artists their photographic work and their viewers She notes that the desire for South Asian Americans to see visual representations of themselves is rooted in the use of photography as a form of colonial documentation and surveillance She examines fine art photography by South Asian diasporic artists who employ aesthetic strategies such as duplication and alteration that run counter to viewers demands for greater visibility These works fail to deliver on viewers desires to see themselves producing instead feelings of alienation estrangement and loss These feelings Mani contends allow viewers to question their own visibility as South Asian Americans in U S public culture and to reflect on their desires to be represented

Heraclitus in Sacramento David Carl, 2006-05 The year is 1987 and the ancient Greek philosopher Heraclitus is living with his mother in a small house in Sacramento when suddenly there is a knock on the door How far does reading go At what point does the act of reading catapult the reader into the seemingly inevitable desire that leads to writing What is the line that divides reading from writing and what happens in the process of trying to import the perspective one enjoys on one side of that line onto the other side The four pieces collected here are meditations on possible approaches to these and other questions related to the relationship shared by the two fold acts of reading and writing

Liminal Fiction at the Edge of the Millennium Jessica A. Folkart, 2014-10-08 Liminal Fiction at the Edge of the Millennium The Ends of Spanish Identity investigates the predominant perception of liminality identity situated at a threshold neither one thing nor another but simultaneously both and neither caused by encounters with otherness while negotiating identity in contemporary Spain Examining how identity and alterity are parleyed through the cultural concerns of historical memory gender roles sex religion nationalism and immigration this study demonstrates how fictional representations of reality converge in a common structure wherein the end is not the end but rather an edge a liminal ground On the border between two identities the end materializes as an ephemeral limit that delineates and differentiates yet also adjoins and approximates In exploring the ends of Spanish fiction both their structure and their intentionality Liminal Fiction maps the edge as a constitutive component of narrative and identity in texts by Najat El Hachmi Cristina Fern ndez Cubas Javier Mar as Rosa Montero and Manuel Rivas In their representation of identity on the edge these fictions enact and embody the liminal not as simply a transitional and transient mode but as the structuring principle of identification in contemporary Spain

The Woman's Film of the 1940s Alison L. McKee, 2014-04-03 This book explores the relationship among gender desire and narrative in 1940s woman s films which negotiate the terrain between public history and private experience The woman s film and other form of cinematic melodrama have often been understood as positioning themselves outside history and this book challenges and modifies that understanding contextualizing the films it considers against the backdrop of World War II In addition in paying tribute to and departing from earlier feminist formulations about gendered spectatorship in cinema McKee argues that such models emphasized a masculine centered gaze at the inadvertent expense of understanding other possible modes of identification and gender expression in classical narrative cinema She proposes ways of understanding gender and narrative based in part on literary narrative theory and ultimately works toward a notion of an androgynous spectatorship and mode of interpretation in the 1940s woman s film

Rising from the Ruins Garth Jackson Gillan, 2012-02-01 Rising from the Ruins is an assessment of reason being and the good in a world fractured by the passage of the Shoah or Holocaust The historical character of evil that appeared in the Shoah damaged the relationship of human existence to being creating a time when the confidence of reason to possess the truth no longer exists Rising from the Ruins relocates the relationships among being reason and the good in terms of a metaphysics ethics and politics that derive from faith and heteronomy Rather than another attempt to document the horror of the Shoah this book chronicles what the world is like for those who have read and listened to previous accounts Rising from the Ruins doesn't celebrate surviving the Holocaust instead it speaks of a rationality that sees truth and the good through the eyes of suffering and the silence of death Such a rationality Gillan suggests looks more like faith and it takes its place among the sweat and tears of common men and women who are dedicated to building a human city populated with children the poor the sick and the aged

The Philosophy of Desire in the Buddhist Pali Canon David Webster, 2005 David Webster explores the notion of desire as found in the Buddhist Pali Canon Beginning by addressing the idea of a paradox of desire whereby we must desire to end desire the varieties of desire that are articulated in the Pali texts are examined A range of views of desire as found in Western thought are presented as well as Hindu and Jain approaches An exploration of the concept of ditthi view or opinion is also provided exploring the way in which holding views can be seen as analogous to the process of desiring Other subjects investigated include the mind body relationship the range of Pali terms for desire and desire's positive spiritual value A comparative exploration of the various approaches completes the work

Giovanni Pascoli, Gabriele D'Annunzio, and the Ethics of Desire Elena Borelli, 2017-03-30 This book focuses on the notion of desire in late nineteenth century Italy and how this notion shapes the life and works of two of Italy's most prominent authors at that time Giovanni Pascoli and Gabriele D'Annunzio In the fin de siècle the philosophical speculation on desire inspired by Arthur Schopenhauer and Friedrich Nietzsche intersected the popularization of Charles Darwin's theory of evolution Within this context desire is conceptualized as an obscure force and remnant of mankind's animalistic origins Both Pascoli and D'Annunzio put into play the drama of desire as a force splitting the unity of the characters in their works and variously attempt to provide solutions to this haunting force within the human self

Nabokov's Eros and the Poetics of Desire M. Couturier, 2014-06-03 Nabokov gained international fame with Lolita a highly erotic and morally disturbing novel Through its comprehensive study of the amorous and sexual behaviors of Nabokov's characters this book shows how Eros both as a clown or a pervert contributes to the poetic excellence of his novels and accounts for the unfolding of the plots

Philosophy and the Social Problem Will Durant, 1917 Lord Byron and the History of Desire Ian Dennis, 2009 Drawing on the work of Eric Gans and Ren Girard novelist and literary scholar Dennis U of Ottawa contends that British poet Byron 1788-1824 changed his ideas about what could and should be desired during the course of his writing career He considers victory and defeat in the eastern tales heroic victimhood in Prometheus and The Prisoner of Chillon Byron's sincerity and the market in Don Juan Only names and titles are indexed

García Lorca at the Edge of Surrealism David F. Richter, 2014-10-15 García Lorca at the Edge of Surrealism The Aesthetics of Anguish examines the variations of surrealism and surrealist theories in the Spanish context studied through the poetry drama and drawings of Federico García Lorca 1898-1936 In contrast to the idealist and subconscious tenets espoused by surrealist leader André Breton which focus on the marvelous automatic creative processes and sublimated depictions of reality Lorca's surrealist impulse follows a trajectory more in line with the theories of French intellectuals such as Georges Bataille 1897-1962 who was expelled from Breton's authoritative group Bataille critiques the lofty goals and ideals of Bretonian surrealism in the pages of the cultural and anthropological review Documents 1929-1930 in terms of a dissident surrealist ethno-poetics This brand of the surreal underscores the prevalence of the bleak or darker aspects of reality crisis primitive sacrifice the death drive and the violent representation of existence portrayed through formless base matter such as blood excrement and fragmented bodies The present study demonstrates that Bataille's theoretical and poetic expositions including those dealing with the informe the formless and the somber emptiness of the void engage the trauma and anxiety of surrealist expression in Spain particularly with reference to the anguish desire and death that figure so prominently in Spanish texts of the 1920s and 1930s often qualified as surrealist Drawing extensively on the theoretical cultural and poetic texts of the period Garc a Lorca at the Edge of Surrealism offers the first book length consideration of Bataille s thinking within the Spanish context examined through the work of Lorca a singular proponent of what is here referred to as a dissident Spanish surrealism By reading Lorca s surrealist texts including Poetaen Nueva York Viaje a la luna and El p blico through the Bataillean lens this volume both amplifies our understanding of the poetry and drama of one of the most important Spanish writers of the twentieth century and expands our perspective of what surrealism in Spain means Engines of Desire Livia
