Edge Effects:

Edge Effects Robert D. Temple, 2008-11 There's something fascinating about border towns. Who hasn't crossed the line into another state to buy fireworks, gamble, or even to get married? Here are border towns with names as unique as the places themselves: names that bridge the boundaries. Robert D. Temple brings you a quirky, fascinating, and wholly entertaining look at more than eighty North American border towns. In Edge Effects, with an adventurer's heart and a historian's keen eye, Temple explores life on the edge and how these places have made their place in history. There's big city Mexicali and empty quarter Idavada; idyllic Vir Mar Beach and whiskey-soaked Mondak. Then there's prairie bleak, Alaskan mountain high Wyocolo, and palmy Florala. And who could forget Texarkana. Along with finding these towns, in the first place comes adventure in exploring them by highway, four-wheel drive, boots, and kayak, and in encountering memorable locals: historians, farmers, waitresses, cops, forest rangers, railroaders, and ne'er-do-wells. But even more, these places lead us to investigate concepts of borders, boundaries, frontiers, margins, and marginality, as well as survey lines, battle lines, picket lines, and color lines. Edge Effects brilliantly examines how frontiers enrich cultures and boundaries define them. But more importantly, it reveals how edges shape local history and our lives. Current Ornithology Val Nolan Jr., Ellen D. Ketterson, Charles F.

Thompson, 2013-06-29 Current Ornithology publishes authoritative up-to-date scholarly reviews of topics selected from the full range of current research in avian biology. Topics cover the spectrum from the molecular level of organization to population biology and community ecology. The series seeks especially to review 1) fields in which an abundant recent literature will benefit from synthesis and organization, or 2) newly emerging fields that are gaining recognition as the result of recent discoveries or shifts in perspective, or 3) fields in which students of vertebrates may benefit from comparisons of birds with other classes. All chapters are invited, and authors are chosen for their leadership in the subjects under review. The

Howard W. Stone, 1969 Habitat Fragmentation and Landscape Change David B. Lindenmayer, Joern

Fischer, 2013-02-22 Habitat loss and degradation that comes as a result of human activity is the single biggest threat to biodiversity in the world today. Habitat Fragmentation and Landscape Change is a groundbreaking work that brings together a wealth of information from a wide range of sources to define the ecological problems caused by landscape change and to highlight the relationships among landscape change, habitat fragmentation, and biodiversity conservation. The book synthesizes a large body of information from the scientific literature, considers key theoretical principles for examining and predicting effects, examines the range of effects that can arise, explores ways of mitigating impacts, reviews approaches to studying the problem, discusses knowledge gaps, and future areas for research and management. Habitat Fragmentation and Landscape Change offers a unique mix of theoretical and practical information, outlining general principles and approaches and illustrating those principles with case studies from around the world. It represents a definitive overview and synthesis on the full range of topics that fall under the widely used but often vaguely defined term habitat fragmentation Forest Fragmentation James Arthur Rochelle, Leslie A. Lehmann, Joe Wisniewski, 1999-01-01 The book contains 15 chapters and provides an overview and synthesis of forest fragmentation and its influences on key ecological processes and vertebrate productivity Land use practices and their effects on vertebrate populations and productivity are discussed and examples of several planning approaches to address landscape level management effects are described Sustainable Agriculture John Mason, 2003 Explains the concepts and long term benefits of sustainable farming systems Edge Effects Chris Anderson, 1993-11 Buying his dream house several years ago on the forest s edge near Corvallis Oregon essayist Chris Anderson hoped to find the joys of rural living Despite interminable Mr Blandings experiences he lived embowered by 12 000 acres of seemingly endless fir trees But not for long The McDonald Dunn Forest was about to become the site of a disturbing research project Little did Anderson know when he bought his house that in addition to studying the ecological effects of clear cutting the researchers wanted to see how urban fringe dwellers might be affected too The shock of that harvest compelled the essays in this vibrant graceful record of the relationship between the forest and Anderson s life on its boundary Large-Scale Landscape Experiments David Lindenmayer, 2009-03-05 An overview of relationships between landscape change habitat fragmentation and biodiversity conservation using key lessons from the Tumut Fragmentation Study Managing and Designing Landscapes for Conservation David B. Lindenmayer, Richard J. Hobbs, 2008-04-15 The distinctive relationships between landscape change habitat fragmentation and biodiversity conservation are highlighted in this original and useful guide to the theory and practice of ecological landscape design Using original ecologically based landscape design principles the text underscores current thinking in landscape management and conservation It offers a blend of theoretical and practical information that is illustrated with case studies drawn from across the globe Key insights by some of the world s leading experts in landscape ecology and conservation biology make Managing and Designing Landscapes for Conservation an essential volume for anyone involved in landscape management natural resource planning or biodiversity conservation Ecology of Fragmented Landscapes Sharon K.
