A History of Forgetfulness

History Of Forgetting

Marijana Vuković

History Of Forgetting:

The History of Forgetting Norman M. Klein, 1997 Los Angeles is a city which has long thrived on the continual re-creation of its own myth. In this highly original work Norman Klein examines the process of memory erasure in the city. Using a distinctive mixture of fact and fiction, Klein takes us on an anti tour of downtown LA. He investigates the life for Vietnamese immigrants in the City of Dreams, playfully imagines Walter Benjamin as a Los Angeleno and looks at the way information technology has recreated the city, turning cyberspace into the last suburb. We observe the close-up demolition of neighbourhoods by urban planners, TV's misrepresentation of the Rodney King uprising in 1992, the effect on public consciousness of earthquakes, fires and racial panic, and the way in which crime novels make LA slums seem like abandoned cities in the Central American jungle.

The History of Forgetting Norman M. Klein, 2003 Memory, History, Forgetting Paul Ricoeur, 2004-08-16 Firstly Paul Ricoeur takes a phenomenological approach to memory. He then addresses recent work by historians by reopening the question of the nature and truth of historical knowledge. Finally, he describes the necessity of forgetting as a condition for the possibility of remembering.

Memory, History, Forgetting Paul Ricoeur, 2006 A noted philosopher examines the morality behind recognizing specific historical moments while leaving equally important ones unacknowledged. Why do major historical events such as the Holocaust occupy the forefront of the collective consciousness while profound moments such as the Armenian genocide, the McCarthy era, and France's role in North Africa stand distantly behind? Is it possible that history overly remembers some events at the expense of others? A landmark work in philosophy, Paul Ricoeur's Memory, History, Forgetting examines this reciprocal relationship between remembering and forgetting, showing how it affects both the perception of historical experience and the production of historical narrative. Memory, History, Forgetting, like its title, is divided into three major sections. Ricoeur first takes a phenomenological approach to memory and mnemonic devices. The underlying question here is how a memory of the present can be of something absent in the past. The second section addresses work by historians by reopening the question of the nature and truth of historical knowledge. Ricoeur explores whether historians who can write a history of memory can truly break with all dependence on memory, including memories that resist representation. The third and final section is a profound meditation on the necessity of forgetting as a condition for the possibility of remembering and whether there can be something like happy forgetting in parallel to happy memory. Throughout the book, there are careful and close readings of the texts of Aristotle and Plato, of Descartes and Kant, and of Halbwachs and Pierre Nora. A momentous achievement from one of the most significant philosophers of our age, Memory, History, Forgetting furthers Ricoeur's reflections on ethics and the problems of responsibility and representation.

Memory and Urban Religion in the Ancient World Martin Bommas, Juliette Harrisson, Phoebe Roy, 2012-09-06 Memory and Urban Religion in the Ancient World brings together scholars and researchers working on memory and religion in ancient urban environments Chapters explore topics relating to religious traditions and memory and the multifunctional roles of architectural and geographical sites mythical figures and events literary works and artefacts Pagan religions were often less static and more open to new influences than previously understood One of the factors that shape religion is how fundamental elements are remembered as valuable and therefore preservable for future generations Memory therefore plays a pivotal role when as seen in ancient Rome during late antiquity a shift of religions takes place within communities The significance of memory in ancient societies and how it was promoted prompted contested and even destroyed is discussed in detail This volume the first of its kind not only addresses the main cultures of the ancient world Mesopotamia Egypt Greece and Rome but also look at urban religious culture and funerary belief and how concepts of ethnic religion were adapted in new religious environments

The Dread Heights Basit Kareem Iqbal, 2025-09-02 Muslim charities and community organizations have assumed a significant role in refugee support since the Syrian catastrophe in Jordan and Canada as elsewhere they deliver food aid house orphans and organize remedial education But Islam is more than just a resource for humanitarian projects The Dread Heights details how the Islamic tradition guides refugees relief workers and religious scholars in a world of brutal sieges and mass displacement Through an ethnography of religious imagination and theological argumentation Iqbal demonstrates what is at stake beyond secular frames for migration and relief Even as refugees become objects of humanitarian concern suspended between national orders The Dread Heights brings another suspension into view a form of life whose gestures are illuminated by the Quranic figure of the Heights Iqbal's ethnography pursues an unsentimental lucidity across the search for refuge the trials of creational existence and the ultimately enigmatic divine decree In the shadow of war beyond humanitarian order Islam offers an orientation to the devastation of the present

Russel Botman Albert Grundlingh, Ruda Landman, Nico Koopman, 2017-10-01 This celebratory volume tells the story of the late Russel Hayman Botman who died suddenly early in his second term as Rector and Vice Chancellor of Stellenbosch University. Botman's story is told from his earliest childhood years until his last day as rector. The nature of tributes and celebratory volumes is that it can never be exhaustive. It tells a rich story from limited perspectives. It however serves as invitation, stimulus and inspiration to others connected to Botman to also tell their stories about his story. Reading

Ricoeur David M. Kaplan, 2008-07-24 In Reading Ricoeur fourteen well-known scholars interpret, evaluate and criticize the works of Paul Ricoeur, one of the twentieth century's most important and far-reaching philosophers. The contributors discuss Ricoeur's entire philosophical career from his existentialist phenomenology of the 1940s and 50s, his hermeneutics and critique of structuralism in the 1960s and 70s, his narrative and moral philosophy of the 1980s, his political and legal philosophy of the 1990s, his recent work on memory, forgiveness and recognition, as well as his enduring interests in religious language and the problem of evil. The contributors not only explain the central concepts and structures of Ricoeur's philosophy but they also bring him into dialogue with his contemporaries including Sartre, Heidegger, Gadamer, Habermas, Rawls and Lyotard. Reading Ricoeur demonstrates the central role of Paul Ricoeur in the development of twentieth-century philosophy. Ratele, 2021-12-06 How wounds from a previous generation may weigh on children and grandchildren contain much of interest. Yet if we unpack the ghostly, the eerie and the spectral in transgenerational hauntings, if we allow for the suffering or the disturbed to forge social links, such contacts may enable breaking into reconnections and afterlives. One only needs to think of the near epidemic of rape in South Africa to sense violent hypermasculinity erupting as madness mediated by a history of brutal racialised reduction. But it is also important to move beyond the brutalities and madness to consider the individual and collective refigurations surfacing out of layers of catastrophe. Nancy Rose Hunt Conference Keynote Address: Beyond Trauma: Notes on a Word, a Frame and a Diagnostic Category. Historical Trauma and Memory: Living with the Haunting Power of the Past is based on essays presented at a conference with the same name which was held in Kigali, Rwanda, in April 2019. The book gives readers front-row seats as an interdisciplinary group of scholars from law, psychology, history, the arts, anthropology, theology and philosophy address the complex matrix of the emotional legacies of historical trauma, cultural legacies, people interacting with their social and political environment and the interplay of these factors in different post-conflict societies. A Passion for the Possible Brian Treanor, Henry Isaac Venema, 2010 Paul Ricoeur's entire philosophical project narrates a passion for the possible expressed in the hope that in spite of death, closure and sedimentation, life is opened by superabundance by how the world gives us much more than is possible. Ricoeur's philosophical anthropology is a phenomenology of human capacity which gives onto the groundless ground of human being, namely God. Thus the story of the capable man beginning with original goodness held captive by a servile will and ending with the possibility of liberation and regeneration of the heart underpins his passion for the more than possible. The essays in this volume trace the fluid movement between phenomenological and religious descriptions of the capable self that emerges across Ricoeur's oeuvre and establish points of connection for future developments that might draw inspiration from this body of thought.

The (Im)possibility of Forgiveness Dion Forster, 2019-09-10. The findings from this study go beyond biblical theological scholarship on forgiveness. Dion Forster boldly succeeds in showing that creating conditions for deeper human connection transforms impossibility into possibility and shines a light on the face of the Other who can now be forgiven.

Pumla Gobodo-Madikizela, Professor and Research Chair of Historical Trauma and Transformation, Stellenbosch University. Dion Forster refuses to accept the conclusion that understandings of forgiveness may be so different and complex across social, racial, and cultural groups in South Africa that actual forgiveness may be impossible. Using Matthew 18:15-35 as a meeting ground, he gathers ordinary Methodist Christians for cross-cultural intergroup Bible reading. He draws upon the philosophical integral theory of Ken Wilber, the insights of intergroup contact theory, and the methods of critical biblical exegesis to organize, analyse, and understand this encounter. What emerges is a hopeful conclusion that differing conceptions of forgiveness, its challenges, and possibilities can be understood, shared, and perhaps actualized across social, racial, and cultural barriers.

Bruce C. Birch, Dean and Professor of Biblical Theology, Wesley Theological Seminary, Reading. Dion Forster on the impossibility of forgiveness: I was once again struck by our desperate need to learn more about ourselves and one another, but also about the meaning of forgiveness in our respective communities. This is an excellent example of the potential of Intercultural Bible Reading. Forster not only makes an outstanding academic contribution with implications for New Testament studies, Systematic and Public Theology, but also for flesh and blood communities wrestling with the possibilities and perils of forgiveness.

Juliana Claassens, Professor of Old Testament Studies and Head of Department Chair of the Gender Unit, Stellenbosch University. This book deals with contested and topical matters. Biblical hermeneutics has always been contested; how to read and understand Biblical passages. Things become even more contested when such passages are read interculturally; they become even more contested when the words are about contested personal and social issues like Jesus' words on forgiveness in Matthew 18. Empirical studies like this show how deeply contested such readings truly are in the context of South African churches with their painful histories of division and conflict. Future academic work will therefore benefit from the creative and careful methodological approach developed in this study. However, this book offers much more than academic promise precisely because of the theme, so topical today and without doubt topical for a long time to come, and in many other places in our contemporary world as well. Forster offers resources for reading and conversation for everyone concerned with public life today. This is public theology in action, showing how faith matters without prescribing answers but rather by invitation to join an informed discussion.

Dirk J. Smit, The Rimmer and Ruth deVries, Professor of Reformed Theology and Public Life, Princeton Theological Seminary. Love and Vulnerability Pelagia Goulimari, 2021-05-15. Love and Vulnerability Thinking with Pamela Sue Anderson developed out of the desire for dialogue with the late feminist philosopher Pamela Sue Anderson's extraordinary previously unpublished last work on love and vulnerability. The collection publishes this work for the first time with a diverse multidisciplinary international range of contributors responding to it to Anderson's oeuvre as a whole and to her life and death. Anderson's path-breaking work includes A Feminist Philosophy of Religion 1998 and Re-visioning Gender in Philosophy of Religion: Reason, Love, and Epistemic Locatedness 2012. Her last work critiques then attempts to rebuild concepts of love and vulnerability. Reason, critical self-reflexivity, emotion, intuition, and imagination, myth and narrative all have a role to play. Social justice, friendship, conversation, dialogue, collective work are central to her thinking. Contributors trace the emergence of Anderson's late thinking, extend her conversations with the history of philosophy and contemporary voices such as hooks and Butler, and bring her work into contact with debates in theology, Continental and analytic philosophy, feminist, queer, and transgender theory, postcolonial theory, African American studies. Discussions engage with the Me Too movement and sexual violence, climate change, sweatshops, neoliberalism, death and dying, and the nature of the human. Originally published as a special issue of the journal Angelaki, this large wide-ranging collection featuring a number of distinguished contributors makes a significant contribution to the burgeoning interdisciplinary research on interpersonal relations, sympathy and empathy, affect and emotion.

Architecture, Ethics, and the Personhood of Place
 Gregory Caicco, 2007. Architecture and environmental design are among the last professional fields to develop a sustained and nuanced discussion concerning ethics. Hemmed in by politics and powerful clients on one side and the often unscrupulous practices of the construction industry on the other, environmental designers have been traditionally reluctant to address ethical issues head-on. And yet the rapid urbanization of the world's population continues to swell into new megacities, each less healthy, welcoming, secure, or environmentally sustainable than the next. Green, carbon-reduced, and sustainable building practices are important ways architects have recently responded to the symptoms of the crisis, but are these efforts really addressing the core issues? Taking the Dine Navajo Hogan Song, a song used to protect and nourish the personhood of newly constructed dwellings as their inspiration, the architects, philosophers, poets, and other contemporary scholars contributing to this volume demonstrate that a deeper, more radical change in our relationship to the built world needs to occur. While offering a careful critique of modernist, corporate, or techno-enthralled design practices, these essays investigate an alternative relational ecology whose wisdom draws from ancient and often marginalized voices, if not the whisperings of the earth itself. Contributors include Richard Kearney, Alberto Perez Gomez, Juhani Pallasmaa, Karsten Harries, Edward Casey, Susan Stewart, David Abram, Stacy Alaimo, Jace and Laura Weaver, Philip Sheldrake, and Sebnem Yucel Young.

Nostalgia in the Early Modern World
 Harriet Lyon, Alexandra Walsham, 2023. How can the concept of nostalgia illuminate the culturally specific ways in which societies understand the contested relationship between the past, present, and future? The word nostalgia was invented in the late seventeenth century to describe the debilitating effects of homesickness. Now widely defined as a sense of longing for a lost past initially it was more closely linked with dislocation in space By exploring some of its many textual visual and musical manifestations in the tumultuous period between c 1350 and 1800 this volume resists the assumption that nostalgia is a distinctive by product of modernity It also forges a fruitful link between three lively areas of current scholarly enquiry memory temporality and emotion The contributors deploy nostalgia as a tool for investigating perceptions of the passage of time and historical change unsettling experiences of migration and geographical displacement and the connections between remembering and forgetting affect and imagination Ranging across Europe and the Atlantic world they examine the moments sites and communities in which it arose alongside how it was used to express both criticism and regret about the religious political social and cultural upheavals that shaped the early modern world They approach it as a complex mixed feeling that opens a new window into individual subjectivities and collective mentalities

Irenaeus of Sirmium and His Story in the Medieval East and West Marijana Vuković, 2023-12-01 The study of hagiographies has generally been focused on the more prominent saints of late antiquity and the Middle Ages who inspired significant and long lasting veneration However this has caused many less well known saints to be pushed aside and forgotten This book is a study into one such saint Irenaeus a martyr who was killed in 304 CE in Sirmium Pannonia His short lived cult his feast day and the account of his martyrdom which had been translated into Latin Greek Old Slavonic Georgian and Armenian had all been forgotten during the Middle Ages This book examines Irenaeus of Sirmium's life cult sainthood and eventual disappearance from the memory of medieval Christendom in the context of a wider study on the memory of those less well known saints who like Irenaeus became neglected and eventually forgotten Irenaeus of Sirmium and His Story in the Medieval East and West will be of interest to scholars and students alike interested in hagiography medieval literature and history as well as all those interested in the religious history of Byzantium medieval Europe and the Slavic world

What is Constructive Theology? Marion Grau, Jason Wyman, 2020-10-29 This essential introduction to contemporary constructive theology charts the most important disciplinary trends of the moment It gives a historical overview of the field and discusses key hermeneutical and methodological concerns The contributors apply a constructive perspective to a wide range of approaches ranging from biblical hermeneutics and postcolonial studies to comparative political and black theology What is Constructive Theology shows how diverse and interdisciplinary constructive theology can be by exploring key themes in the field The contributors explore the porous boundaries between Christianity and other religions reflect on contextual liberation and constructive theologies from Africa and from Black British perspectives explore the connection between embodiment epistemology and hermeneutics and take a constructive approach to the dangerous memories and theologies of colonial histories in Belgium and Native Americans in the United States This sampler of the field will help you rethink theologies and find constructive alternatives
