Human Freedom After Darwin A Critical Rationalist View:

Human Freedom After Darwin John W. N. Watkins, 1999 Arguing that philosophical discussion of human freedom has been transformed by developments in modern science especially evolutionary biology the author outlines a naturalistic account of freedom and creativity by using examples from hypnosis brainwashing and creative leaps in thought

Human Freedom After Darwin John Watkins, 2008-02-01 Views of human freedom can be classified as eliminative leveling or distinctive Eliminative views say that humans have no freedom or no more than other physico chemical systems Leveling views contend that humans have the same kind of freedom as other animals whereas distinctive views allow that humans may attain a degree of freedom beyond that achievable by other animals Empiricism favors a conception of freedom which is either eliminative or leveling By contrast rationalism has been assoc with distinctive views Here Watkins defends a distinctive view He develops a naturalistic world view argues for critical rationalism by showing that the growth of scientific knowledge defeats both classical empiricism rationalism Illus

Human Freedom After Darwin John W. N. Watkins, 1999 Argues that philosophy of human freedom has been transformed by developments in science especially evolution The author accounts for freedom and creativity and tests his theory with examples from drug addiction hypnosis slavery brainwashing and creative leaps in thought

Bounds of Freedom Mahasweta Chaudhury, 2004-01-01 Dr Chaudhury is concerned to defend what is responsible and hopeful in contemporary ecological thinking but to avoid the trap of denying that any positive contribution can be made by western science and technology Critical rationalists do not need to agree with her suggestions and recommendations in order to welcome her positioning of environmental issues alongside the traditional human and political debates about freedom The Indian perspective that informs this book is particularly impressive and interesting David Miller University of Warwick Professor Mahasweta Chaudhury is Professor for Philosophy at Calcutta University in India In the late sixties she studied at the London School of Economics under Karl Popper John Watkins Alan Musgrave and Imre Lakatos

Heart of the Living God Michael G. Maness, 2004-06-23 Maness asks us to tie up our sneakers for we are going to have some fun as we hike into the Grand Canyon of Love Love is the treasure of life It is Love all the way Nothing else really matters outside of Love Best of all our Love will only get better in heaven The treasured ability to have loving relationships is Gods gift to us in our Imago Deithe image of God we all share Likewise what we know of Love this side of heaven is but a dusty image of what God experiences I want to get personally involved says Maness Can we have a free will relationship with anyone even God if all of what we do and think is settled I dont think so Love is greater than that and I shall prove that and that is indeed a Grand Canyon Manes brings some of the brain splitting complexities of this to light with good humor introduces dynamic foreknowledge and challenges Classical Theisms avoidance of Love And he exposes some foul play in the process Thats the first half of the book For those wanting to strike out on their own wanting to see more of the depth and diversity of the Grand Canyon the second half contains reviews of about 60 major authors a 4 000 Abysmal Bibliography and a huge index to just about everything in the book Maness has thrown a gauntlet before the Classical Theists So tie up your sneakers and take a hike with Michael G Maness as he walks with you into the Grand Canyon see more at www.PreciousHeart.net

Out of Error David Miller, 2017-05-15 If there has been some modest advance since Karl Popper's death in 1994 in the general understanding of his critical rationalist theory of knowledge and philosophy of science there is still widespread resistance both to it and to the recognition of the magnitude of his contribution Popper long ago diagnosed the logical problems of traditional enlightenment rationalism as did some irrationalists but instead of pretending that they are readily solved or embracing irrational defeatism as do postmodernists he provided a cogent and liberating rationalist alternative This book promotes defends criticizes and refines this alternative David Miller is the foremost exponent of the purist critical rationalist doctrine and here presents his mature views discussing the role that logic and argument play in the growth of knowledge criticizing the common understanding of argument as an instrument of justification persuasion or discovery and instead advocating the critical rationalist view that only criticism matters Miller patiently and thoroughly undoes the damage done by those writers who attack critical rationalism by invoking the sterile mythology of induction and justification that it seeks to sweep away In addition his new material on the debate on verisimilitude is essential reading for all working in this field

Karl Popper: Philosophy of science 1 Anthony O'Hear, 2004 Born in Austria Karl Popper 1902-1994 was one of the dominant philosophical thinkers of the 20th century A ground breaking thinker he saw the essence of true science as being the readiness to submit theories to severe testing and to reject them when refuted by test His first major book in 1935 The Logic of Scientific Discovery marked him as a major analyst of science and was to have an enormous influence on the way people including major scientists came to think about the field This collection is a timely assessment of the reactions to and abiding influence of Popper's work and the controversy it caused across many academic and political fields The set includes early responses to Popper's work from sources difficult to obtain and also two early reviews by Carnap and Grelling in translations specially prepared for this set It is organised thematically and includes a substantial new introduction by the editor

Dictionary of Twentieth-Century British Philosophers Stuart Brown, 2005-06-01 This is a two volume work with entries on individuals who made some contribution to philosophy in the period 1900 to 1960 or soon after The entries deal with the whole philosophical work of an individual or in the case of philosophers still living their whole work to date Typically the individuals included have been born by 1935 and by now have made their main contributions Contributions to the subject typically take the form of books or journal articles but influential teachers and people otherwise important in the world of philosophy may also be included The dictionary includes amateurs as well as professional philosophers and where appropriate thinkers whose main discipline was outside philosophy There are special problems about the term British in the twentieth century partly because of human migration partly because of decolonization and the changing denotation of the term The intention has been to include not only those who were British subjects at least for a significant part of their lives even if they mostly lived outside what is now the U K but also people who spent a significant part of their lives in Britain itself irrespective of their nationality or country of origin In the first category are included for instance a number of people who were born and educated in Britain but who subsequently taught in universities abroad In the second category are included those who were born elsewhere but who came to Britain and contributed to its philosophical culture

Dimensions of Conscious Experience Paavo Pylkkänen, Tere Vadén, 2001-12-14 It is by now commonly agreed that the proper study of consciousness requires a multidisciplinary approach which focuses on the varieties and dimensions of conscious experience from different angles This book which is based on a workshop held at the University of Skövde Sweden provides a microcosm of the emerging discipline of consciousness studies and focuses on some important but neglected aspects of consciousness The book brings together philosophy psychology cognitive neuroscience linguistics cognitive and computer science biology physics art and the new media It contains critical studies of subjectivity vs objectivity nonconceptuality vs conceptuality language evolutionary aspects neural correlates microphysical level creativity visual arts and dreams It is suitable as a text book for a third year undergraduate or a graduate seminar on consciousness studies
