the future Throughout the authors allow the members often impassioned voices some disillusioned some optimistic some pragmatic to be heard The founders of the kibbutz had a dream an Israeli told the authors in one of many interviews they conducted between 2000 and 2002 which they fulfilled a hundred times The current generation he explains must alter that dream in order for it to survive After tracing the formidable challenges facing the kibbutzim today Mort and Brenner compare three distinct models of change as exemplified by three different communities The first Geshet Haziv decided to pursue privatization The second Hatzor is diversifying its economy while creating an extensive social safety net and a system of private wages with progressive taxation In the third instance Gan Shmuel is attempting to hold on to the traditional kibbutz model In closing the authors address the new style urban kibbutz Their book will provide readers with a deeper understanding of the kibbutz and of Israel itself during an era of dramatic social economic and political change
