Emotions and Mass Atrocity Thomas Brudholm, Johannes Lang, 2018-03-22 A nuanced range of interdisciplinary perspectives on the role of emotions in moral and political reactions to mass violence

Valuing Emotions Michael Stocker, Elizabeth Hegeman, 1996-09-13 This 1996 book is the result of a uniquely productive union of philosophy psychoanalysis and anthropology and explores the complexity and importance of emotions Michael Stocker places emotions at the very centre of human identity life and value He lays bare how our culture's idealisation of rationality pervades the philosophical tradition and leads those who wrestle with serious ethical and philosophical problems into distortion and misunderstanding Professor Stocker shows how important are the social and emotional contexts of ethical dilemmas and inner conflicts and he challenges philosophical theories that try to overgeneralise and over simplify by leaving out the particulars of each situation In offering a realistic account of emotions and an in depth analysis of how psychological factors affect judgments of all kind this book will interest a broad range of readers across the disciplines of philosophy and psychology

Wrongdoing and the Moral Emotions Derk Pereboom, 2021-08-05 Wrongdoing and the Moral Emotions provides an account of how we might effectively address wrongdoing given challenges to the legitimacy of anger and retribution that arise from ethical considerations and from concerns about free will The issue is introduced in Chapter 1 Chapter 2 asks how we might conceive of blame without retribution and proposes an account of blame as moral protest whose function is to secure forward looking goals such as the moral reform of the wrongdoer and reconciliation in relationships Chapter 3 considers whether it's possible to justify effectively dealing those who pose dangerous threats if they do not deserve to be harmed and contends that wrongfully posing a threat is the core condition for the legitimacy of defensive harming Chapter 4 provides an account of how to treat criminals without a retributive justification for punishment and argues for an account in which the right of self defense provides justification for measures such as preventative detention Chapter 5 considers how we might forgive if wrongdoers don't basically deserve the pain of being resented which forgiveness would then renounce and proposes that forgiveness be conceived instead as renunciation of the stance of moral protest Chapter 6 considers how personal relationships might function without retributive anger having a role in responding to wrongdoing and contends that the stance of moral protest supplemented with non retributive emotions is sufficient Chapter 7 surveys the options for theistic and atheistic attitudes regarding the fate of humanity in a deterministic universe and defends an impartial hope for humanity

Jewish Men and the Holocaust: Sexuality, Emotions, Masculinity Florian Zabransky, 2024-10-21 During the Holocaust amid death and violence Jewish men were not mere powerless victims Linking gender studies with a history of sexuality and emotions will highlight intimate agency power struggles negotiations of relationships social dynamics and representations of masculinities Considering the agency and vulnerability will further convey intimate choices the representation of masculine ideals intimate violence and the expression of various emotions such as honour and love As research on the Holocaust often links women with sexuality or portrays women as gendered beings it is crucial to excavate the intimate hidden lives of Jewish men and their specific intimate experiences as men The analysis not only demonstrates how Jewish men remember and make sense of their experiences but also how they chose to form the narrative and how they represented their ordeal in four chapters namely ghettos concentration camps Jewish resistance in the countryside and finally DP camps in the aftermath of the Holocaust The consideration of these four spaces allows a nuanced innovative understanding of the intimate history of Jewish men during the Holocaust i e how some men established male dominated structures and established intimate strategies to find solace and pleasure

Emotions, Crime and Justice Susanne Karstedt, Ian Loader, Heather Strang, 2011-04-01 The return of emotions to debates about crime and criminal justice has been a striking development of recent decades across many jurisdictions This has been registered in the return of shame to justice procedures a heightened focus on victims and their emotional needs fear of crime as a major preoccupation of citizens and politicians and highly emotionalised public discourses on crime and justice But how can we best make sense of these developments Do we need to create emotionally intelligent justice systems or are we messing recklessly with the rational foundations of liberal criminal justice This volume brings together leading criminologists and sociologists from across the world in a much needed conversation about how to recalibrate reason and emotion in crime and justice today The contributions range from the micro analysis of emotions in violent encounters to the paradoxes and tensions that arise from the emotionalisation of criminal justice in the public sphere They explore the emotional labour of workers in police and penal institutions the justice experiences of victims and offenders and the role of vengeance forgiveness and regret in the aftermath of violence and conflict resolution The result is a set of original essays which offer a fresh and timely perspective on problems of crime and justice in contemporary liberal democracies

Collective Emotions Christian von Scheve, Mikko Salmella, 2014 Although collective emotions have a long tradition in scientific inquiry for instance in mass psychology and the sociology of rituals and social movements their importance for individuals and the social world has never been more obvious than in the past decades The Arab Spring revolution the Occupy Wall Street movement and mass gatherings at music festivals or mega sports events clearly show the impact collective emotions have both in terms of driving conflict and in uniting people But these examples only show the most obvious and evident forms of collective emotions Others are more subtle although less important shared moods emotional atmospheres and intergroup emotions are part and parcel of our social life Although these phenomena go hand in hand with any formation of sociality they are little understood Moreover there still is a large gap in our understanding of individual emotions on the one hand and collective emotional phenomena on the other hand This book presents a comprehensive overview of contemporary theories and research on collective emotions It spans several disciplines and brings together for the first time various strands of inquiry and up to date research in the study of collective emotions and related phenomena In focusing on conceptual theoretical and methodological issues in collective emotion research the volume narrows the gap between the wealth of studies on individual emotions and inquiries into collective emotions The book catches up with a renewed interest into the collective dimensions of emotions and their close relatives for example emotional climates atmospheres communities and intergroup emotions This interest is propelled by a more general increase in research on the social and interpersonal aspects of emotion on the one hand and by trends in philosophy and cognitive science towards refined conceptual analyses of collective entities and the collective properties of cognition on the other hand The book includes sections on Conceptual Perspectives Collective Emotion in Face to Face Interactions The Social Relational Dimension of Collective Emotion The Social Consequences of Collective Emotions Group Based and Intergroup Emotion Rituals Movements and Social Organization and Collective Emotions in Online Social Systems Including contributions from psychologists philosophers sociologists and neuroscience this volume is a unique and valuable contribution to the affective sciences literature

Ancient Jewish Prayers and Emotions

Stefan C. Reif, Renate Egger-Wenzel, 2015-11-13 Given the recent interest in the emotions presupposed in early religious literature it has been thought useful to examine in this volume how the Jews and early Christians expressed their feelings within the prayers recorded in some of their literature Specialists in their fields from academic institutions around the world have analysed important texts relating to this overall theme and to what is revealed with regard to such diverse topics as relations with God exegesis education prophecy linguistic expression feminism happiness grief cult suicide non Jews Hellenism Qumran and Jerusalem The texts discussed are in Greek Hebrew and Aramaic and are important for a scientific understanding of how Rabbinic Judaism and Early Christianity developed their approaches to worship to the construction of their theology and to the feelings that lay behind their religious ideas and practices The articles contribute significantly to an historical understanding of how Jews maintained their earlier traditions but also came to terms with the ideology of the dominant Hellenistic culture that surrounded them
