The Future of the Post-Massified University at the Crossroads Jung Cheol Shin, Ulrich Teichler, 2013-11-22 The modern university started as an innovative model a research driven teaching and service model in the 19th century but the contemporary university is in a crisis of identity The major challenge is how to harmonize different missions e g teaching research and service The triple function has become questionable and research now dominates the other two functions in contemporary higher education This book takes a step towards further academic and policy discussions on the restructuring the triple functions of university and designing the future of the post massified university

The future sustainability of the higher education sector Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Education and Skills Committee, 2007-08-05 The Committee's report examines some international aspects of the higher education HE sector including the importance of collaboration and partnership working with international institutions particularly in China the provision of high quality post graduate education the benefits of UK students having the opportunity to travel abroad the division between full time and part time students and the need for reform of part time student funding The Committee undertook two overseas visits as part of the inquiry to Australia Sydney and Canberra as one of the main alternative destinations to the UK for students from overseas and to China Hong Kong Shanghai and Beijing as one of the main exporters of students to other HE systems and as a country which is rapidly developing its own HE sector Universities and the Sustainable Development Future Peter H. Koehn, Juha I. Uitto, 2017-04-07 Since the mid 1970s a series of international declarations that link environment and sustainable development to all aspects of higher learning have been endorsed and signed by universities around the world Although university involvement in sustainable development research and outreach has increased substantially systematic learning from higher education engagements has been limited Universities and the Sustainable Development Future offers institutions of higher learning around the world practical guidelines that can be applied contextually to produce credible evidence regarding the outcome and impact of their teaching research and transnational partnering activities Drawing on innovative applications of lessons from experience with international development cooperation this book demonstrates the utility of a flexible framework that will inspire substantial improvements in the ways universities evaluate and improve their sustainable development undertakings aimed at promoting Agenda 2030 This book promotes an inclusive evaluation framework that will allow universities to illuminate sustainable development outcomes and it provides a cutting edge resource for students scholars and policy makers with an interest in sustainable development climate change and evaluation challenges Postsecondary Participation and State Policy Mario C. Martinez, 2023-07-03 Research shows that all sectors of society across age and racial groups consider access to higher education as essential to achieving satisfying employment and a better quality of life Yet there has been surprisingly little public discussion about recent major changes in higher education access and funding and no policy debate about how to respond to Americans growing aspirations about college This book stimulates debate by presenting research about future demand changing patterns of postsecondary participation and census projections over the next fifteen years and their implications for resources and funding The author disaggregates state data taking into account states individual histories size age demographics regional characteristics and priorities to show the different policy options available Rather advancing any particular policy the author aims to stimulate an informed discussion about alternative strategies to meet demand and increase access What is the college population likely to look like in 2015 What are the projected patterns for traditional and adult students What factors will influence enrollment in private or public institutions or two or four year colleges The authors set their analyses in the context of the public and private benefits of higher education This volume presents multiple scenarios of future enrollment and state by state comparisons that are vital for setting priorities and determining the implications of increasing access to higher education Higher Education in the High North Marit Sundet, Per-Anders Forstorp, Anders Örténblad, 2017-06-08 This book focuses on how the Northern futures are transformed through regional cooperation in the Barents eduscape a study of the social cultural and political aspects of higher education and the exchanges of learning and people in the Euro Arctic Barents region especially between Norway and Russia Cultural exchange through higher education involving actors such as students and institutions is an integral part both of the Bologna process and of the policies currently changing higher education It is also a process of social and cultural change of which we have limited knowledge Cultural exchange is learned implemented and performed by the actors who are involved from the highest political level to the grassroots and the students themselves Available knowledge of these macro and micro processes of cultural exchange is largely fragmented and distinctly framed in national and or disciplinary i e pedagogical contexts In order to understand the transformative potentials of higher education and cultural exchange this book focuses on the social cultural and political aspects of the transformations of the futures in the North This book shows that educational cooperation between Norway and Russia is possible but also that the existing practices are extremely vulnerable to changes seen through micro theoretical perspectives By developing new theories which bind major theories international political decisions methodological procedures and contextual descriptions together this book is a first step in the direction of institutionalizing educational cooperation between the various and different academic societies cultures and political systems
