Manyak,2011-02-09 Educators everywhere confront critical issues related to families schooling and teaching in diverse settings Directly addressing this reality Home School Connections in a Multicultural Society shows pre service and practicing teachers how to recognize and build on the rich resources for enhancing school learning that exist within culturally and linguistically diverse families Combining engaging cases and relevant key concepts with thought provoking pedagogical features this valuable resource for educators at all levels Provides detailed portraits of diverse families that highlight their unique cultural practices related to schooling and the challenges that their children face in school settings Introduces key sociocultural and ethnographic concepts in ways that are both accessible and challenging and applies these concepts as lenses through which to examine the portraits Shows how teachers and researchers have worked with diverse families to build positive relationships and develop learning activities that incorporate children s unique experiences and resources Disrupting deficit assumptions about the experiences and knowledge that culturally and linguistically diverse children acquire in their homes and communities this book engages readers in grappling deeply and personally with the chapters meanings and implications and in envisioning their own practical ways to learn from and with families and children Congressional Travels Richard Fenno,2016-01-08 A follow up book to his classic Home Style House Members in their Districts this new book by the preeminent legislative studies scholar Dick Fenno is intended for use in courses on Congress political campaigning and American government Written in Fenno s homespun story telling style this book argues that authenticity knowing what a representative is like in his her district and looking beyond mere roll call voting contributes significantly to understanding the full body of work done by our members of Congress It further posits by recounting Fenno s actual life s work that the best way to gain a sense of authenticity is to do what Fenno is most famous for i e making multiple trips and spending a great deal of time observing representatives at home with their constituents in their districts The book is an engaging quietly provocative and unique title that offers an alternative to what some consider the increasingly specialized and technical nature of political science

Political Economy in Haiti Simon M. Fass,2020-02-13 This important study introduces the conceptual premise that families like firms analyze their circumstances make decisions and pursue courses of action on the basis of what they perceive to be the most efficient methods for producing and reproducing survival Combining this premise with an extraordinary assemblage of facts gleaned over the period of a decade from the streets markets and homes of Port au Prince

the author weaves a tapestry of despair and hope which only an unusual degree of intimacy with the details of everyday life in the city could provide The result is a considerable deepening of understanding about the politics and economics by which family members earn their livelihoods distribute resources within and between households produce life and labor from food and water provide shelter and schooling for themselves and borrow money to finance these and other activities These different dimensions of daily existence form a web of interdependency in which change in any one dimension causes change in all the others As Professor Pass's work demonstrates research and development assistance practices of public and private organizations in such areas as employment health housing education and credit are often irrelevant This is because they are necessarily guided by prevailing concepts and theories with respect to the circumstances of the urban poor which sometimes do the poor considerable disservice With the additional insight provided by a decade of participation in the design of policies programs and projects serving as a tempering influence the author does not leap to easy criticism of prevailing views and practices He notes that ideas and interventions change in response to new understanding sometimes in ways that the producers of such understanding could never have imagined The problem is that change is painfully slow and in desperately poor countries like Haiti waiting for change exacts an almost intolerable price from the poor This book is a provocative yet highly original contribution which will require serious attention from scholars and practitioners of development Appearing as it does soon after the great seaward exodus of Haitians and urban unrest culminating in the flight of the Duvalier family this timely volume will provide illumination for those seeking to understand the circumstances that press people to risk all in the name of survival

Congress at the Grassroots Richard F. Fenno Jr.,2003-06-19 However much politicians are demeaned and denounced in modern American society our democracy could not work without them For this reason says Richard Fenno their activities warrant our attention In his pioneering book Home Style Fenno demonstrated that a close look at politicians at work in their districts can tell us a great deal about the process of representation Here Fenno employs a similarly revealing grassroots approach to explore how patterns of representation have changed in recent decades Fenno focuses on two members of the U S House of Representatives who represented the same west central Georgia district at different times Jack Flynt who served from the 1950s to the 1970s and Mac Collins who has held the seat in the 1990s His on the scene observation of their differing

representational styles Flynt focuses on people Collins on policy reveals the ways in which social and demographic changes inspire shifts in representational strategies More than a study of representational change in one district Congress at the Grassroots also helps illuminate the larger subject of political change in the South and in the nation as a whole
