Homosexuality in Greece and Rome Thomas K. Hubbard, 2003 The most important primary texts on homosexuality in ancient Greece and Rome are translated into modern explicit English and collected together for the first time in this comprehensive sourcebook. Covering an extensive period from the earliest Greek texts in the late seventh century b c e to Greco Roman texts of the third and fourth centuries c e the volume includes well known writings by Plato Sappho Aeschines Catullus and Juvenal as well as less well known but highly relevant and intriguing texts such as graffiti comic fragments magical papyri medical treatises and selected artistic evidence. These fluently translated texts together with Thomas K. Hubbard's valuable introductions clearly show that there was in fact no more consensus about homosexuality in ancient Greece and Rome than there is today. The material is organized by period and by genre allowing readers to consider chronological developments in both Greece and Rome. Individual texts each are presented with a short introduction contextualizing them by date and where necessary discussing their place within a larger work. Chapter introductions discuss questions of genre and the ideological significance of the texts while Hubbard's general introduction to the volume addresses issues such as sexual orientation in antiquity moral judgments class and ideology and lesbianism. With its broad unexpurgated and thoroughly informed presentation this unique anthology gives an essential perspective on homosexuality in classical antiquity.

The 116 poems collected in this new translation include the famous Lesbia poems and display the full range of Catullus's mastery of lyric meter mythological themes and epigrammatic invective and wit.

been carried out in the field of Roman history the phenomenon of fake news in ancient Greece has received limited attention The contributions in this volume offer a selective approach to this phenomenon by applying media and cultural studies instruments to ancient texts They pinpoint parallels and differences between ancient and modern fake news by employing methods of literary and cultural studies as well as historical documentary analysis of ancient sources In particular they explore questions such as To what extent does reflection on the concepts of truth lie and opinion influence ancient Greek political rhetorical discourse What is the political or social function of embedding misleading information in ancient Greek historiographical texts or pamphlets Which intentions are pursued with the help of fake news in literary and documentary texts Can parallels be drawn with modern approaches to fake news Thus the volume investigates the mechanisms that historically lay behind the creation dissemination and adaptation of misleading information
