Human Evolution Cookbook:

The Human Evolution Cookbook Harold L. Dibble, Dan Williamson, 2003-02-11 This humorous account of human evolution from the beginnings of bipedalism through the Upper Paleolithic is set in the context of a cookbook with recipes and cartoons to match the unfolding stories Each chapter discusses a particular milestone or event in human development and a dash of prehistory a sprinkling of recipes and a generous helping of humor painlessly lighten the professorial instruction From leading us to understand the first tool makers to showing us how to prepare a Neanderthal dinner party at the site of the authors most recent excavations in Pech de l Aze in France s Dordogne Valley near the town of Sarlat this book presents archaeology as never before

Catching Fire Richard Wrangham, 2009-05-26 The groundbreaking theory of how fire and food drove the evolution of modern humans Ever since Darwin and The Descent of Man the evolution and world wide dispersal of humans has been attributed to our intelligence and adaptability But in Catching Fire renowned primatologist Richard Wrangham presents a startling alternative our evolutionary success is the result of cooking In a groundbreaking theory of our origins Wrangham shows that the shift from raw to cooked foods was the key factor in human evolution Once our hominid ancestors began cooking their food the human digestive tract shrank and the brain grew Time once spent chewing tough raw food could be used instead to hunt and to tend camp Cooking became the basis for pair bonding and marriage created the household and even led to a sexual division of labor In short once our ancestors adapted to using fire humanity began Tracing the contemporary implications of our ancestors diets Catching Fire sheds new light on how we came to be the social intelligent and sexual species we are today A pathbreaking new theory of human evolution Catching Fire will provoke controversy and fascinate anyone interested in our ancient origins or in our modern eating habits

Hauser,1996 This text addresses the problem of how communication systems including language have been designed over the course of evolution It integrates conceptual issues and empirical results from neurobiology cognitive and developmental psychology linguistics evolutionary biology and ethology The Human Recipe Pascal Borry,Gert Matthijs,2016-12-16 A smart and witty guide to all you want to know about human genetics Human genetics is not the playground of science alone Genetics concerns all of us for we all have DNA genes genomes and chromosomes Our genes determine partly our appearance and our behaviour our talents and our health risks The authors of The Human Recipe use humour to explain what we understand about human genetics With anecdotes and topical examples they demonstrate how genetics affects our everyday lives What if a DNA analysis were to reveal that your biological father must be someone other than the person you've been calling Dad for years Does genetics explain why Africans excel in athletics Asians in gymnastics and Europeans mainly in sports testing physical strengths What is the difference between a genetic disease and a contagious illness The newest developments in human genetics also raise ethical questions and issues which are currently being debated within the genetics community and the authors do not avoid looking at these either Should we use genetics to ensure the conception of healthy children or even designer babies Should we identify genetic risks before pregnancy Should we edit genes in embryos Can we identify our risk for cancers and can we prevent them What about privacy in DNA research and forensic databases Can DNA be stolen and if so would this be considered a serious crime The Human Recipe provides a clever insight into all you might want to know about human genetics in our current society

Food on the Move Harlan Walker, 1997 The Oxford Symposium on Food and Cookery has been held annually since 1981 This volume of more than 40 essays presented in 1996 includes pieces on food suitable for travelling food written about by travel writers and travellers and food that has itself travelled from its place of origin The topics range from the domestication of western food in Japan cooking on board ship in the 17th and 18th centuries the transmission of the Arabic culinary tradition to medieval England the influence of travel writers on modern Australian cooking and the travels of the peanut Books in Print Supplement, 2002 The Infested Mind Jeffrey

Lockwood, 2013-09-25 The human reaction to insects is neither purely biological nor simply cultural And no one reacts to insects with indifference Insects frighten disgust and fascinate us Jeff Lockwood explores this phenomenon through evolutionary science human history and contemporary psychology as well as a debilitating bout with entomophobia in his work as an entomologist Exploring the nature of anxiety and phobia Lockwood explores the lively debate about how much of our fear of insects can be attributed to ancestral predisposition for our own survival and how much is learned through individual experiences Drawing on vivid case studies Lockwood explains how insects have come to infest our minds in sometimes devastating ways and supersede even the most rational understanding of the benefits these creatures provide No one can claim to be ambivalent in the face of wasps cockroaches or maggots but our collective entomophobia is wreaking havoc on the natural world as we soak our food homes and gardens in powerful insecticides Lockwood dissects our common reactions distinguishing between disgust and fear and invites readers to consider their own emotional and physiological reactions to insects in a new framework that he's derived from cutting edge biological psychological and social science
