The Biophysical Foundations of Human Movement Bruce Abernethy, 2005 This comprehensive book presents an integrated study of human movement and applies this knowledge to human performance and physical activity across the lifespan The Biophysical Foundations of Human Movement Second Edition considers basic methods and concepts typical research questions key historical developments professional training and organizations and suggestions for further reading within each subdiscipline The authors offer a unique perspective on the subdisciplines by exploring not only the basic science but also the changes in human movement and movement potential that occur throughout the lifespan as well in response to training practice and other lifestyle factors Humans In-Training Brooke Van Sickle, 2020-08-25 2020 Mom s Choice

Award Winner Gold Recipient for honoring excellence in children s books and 5 Star Review recipient Humans In Training by Brooke Van Sickle and Elizabeth Savanella is a laugh out loud children s picture book about Kobe a puppy who must train his humans if he s ever going to be living the dog s life If your child s been asking for a puppy bring them home a children s dog book instead I really enjoyed this book because it reminded me of when my husband and I first got our dogs It s a great book for a child because it helps them understand that having an animal is a big responsibility and that they need the owner to take care of them The book is nicely written and has an adorable main character that a child can t help but fall in love with The illustrations are beautifully done and go perfectly with the storyline I think Brooke Van Sickle has done a wonderful job with this book and I can t wait to see what else she comes out with Tiffany Ferrell Reader s Favorite Reviewer The Philosophy of Human Learning Christopher Winch, 2002-01-04 The Philosophy of Human Learning addresses current concerns with the nature of human learning from a distinctive philosophical perspective Using insights derived from the work of Wittgenstein it mounts a vigorous attack on influential contemporary accounts of learning both in the romantic

Rousseauian tradition and in the scientific cognotivist tradition These two schools Professor Winch argues are more closely related than is commonly realised The Life of Training John Matthews, 2019-04-18 In The Life of Training John

Matthews offers an accessible and original contribution to the philosophy of training for performance building on his previous works Training for Performance 2011 and Anatomy of Performance Training 2014 With chapters on the seven characteristics of biological life reproduction stimulation heritability adaptation growth organisation and homeostasis Matthews combines his unique approach with elements of Hannah Arendt s mature philosophy to reach surprising and essential conclusions about the role time plays in training practices and about the function of training practices in producing time and its tenses Ideal for readers seeking to understand the relationship between training practices and human experience on and off stage or for teachers looking for a new innovative approach to performance Dressaged Animality

Lisa Moravec, 2024-10-09 The book applies a productive interdisciplinary lens of art history performance and animal studies for approaching political economy issues critiquing anthropomorphic worldviews and provoking thoughts around animal and human nature that spark impulses for an innovative performance aesthetics and ethics It combines Marxist analysis with feminist and posthumanist methodology to analyse the relation between societal dressage and bodily animality that humans and animals share Within this original theoretical framework the book develops the concept of dressaged animality as a mode of critique to analyse the social and political function of interdisciplinary forms of contemporary performances Drawing on archival and primary research the book theorises and historicises more than 15 performance practices in which animality is allegorically staged through by humans danced real or filmically mediated animals It focuses on Rose English s pioneering approach to performance making as well as on overlooked performances by other renown and largely unknown American Mike Kelley Kate Foley Robert Morris Bruce Nauman Yvonne Rainer Diana Thater British Mark Wallinger Rose English and European artists Tamara Grcic Judith Hopf Joseph Beuys Bartabas from the late 1960s until the late 2010s While various types of artistic practice are framed as forms of critique for example protest art interventionist strategies institutional critique the book maps an original performance theory in art which shows that contemporary artistic performances can also take up a critique of societal dressage This study will be of great interest to students and scholars in art history theatre dance and performance studies and ecology as well as to artists and curators working with performance Human + Machine, Updated and Expanded
