FIVE EGYPTIAN WOMEN TELL THEIR STORIES

Nayra Atiya

Avner Giladi

Khul Khaal:

Khul-Khaal Nayra Atiya, 1982-08-01 Our people prefer boys because a girl's life is difficult. It's difficult in every sort of family and among all nationalities. A girl's life is not like a man's life. She has no assurance of being happy in her marriage. And her main purpose in life is to marry and to have children. A girl's and a woman's lives are a trial whatever happens. I don't know why. Om Gad. Their stories are fresh and vivid, recording the various roles of being co-wife in a polygamous marriage, the complications of divorce, the rituals of female circumcision and marriage, the loss of children, life-long hate and its source, the position of witchcraft and superstition in their daily lives, primitive health practices and managing a family's meager resources including the gold or silver khul khaal anklets worn by married women. These self-portraits are fascinating reading and a mine of information for anyone interested in understanding contemporary Egyptian life. A foreword by anthropologist Andrea Rugh and photographs by Asma el Bakry are included. Khul-Khaal, Five Egyptian Women Tell Their Stories

Nayra Atiya, 1982-01-01 Between Rites and Rights, 2007-08-24 The study shows in chronological fashion how African women writers in the past five decades have introduced a new autobiographical discourse around their experience of excision, bringing nuance and vitality to the FGM debate. Shahaama Nayra Atiya, 2016-03-08 Between the late 1970s and the early 1980s, Nayra Atiya gathered the oral histories of five Egyptian men: a fisherman, an attorney, a scholar, a business man, and a production manager. Through personal interviews over the course of several years, Atiya intimately captured the everyday triumphs and struggles of these young men in a rapidly changing Egyptian society. These tender stories of childhood experiences in the rural countryside, of the rigors of schooling and of the many challenges in navigating adulthood, shed light on both the rich diversity of Egyptian society and the values and traditions that are shared by all Egyptians. The concept of shahaama, a code of honor that demands loyalty, generosity, and a readiness to help others, is threaded throughout the narratives, reflecting its deeply rooted presence in Egyptian culture. Moving beyond leaden stereotypes of the oppressive Middle Eastern male, these candid self-portraits reveal the complexity of male identity in contemporary Egyptian society, highlighting the men's desires for economically viable lives, the same desires that fuel the many Egyptians today working toward revolutionary change. Shattering the Myth Bruce B. Lawrence, 2018-06-05 Islam is often portrayed, especially in Western media, as an alien, violent, hostile, and monolithic religion whose adherents are intent upon battling nonbelievers throughout the world. Shattering the Myth demonstrates that these conceptions more accurately reflect the bias of Western reporters than they do the realities of contemporary Islam. Westerners are barraged by images of violence that usually originate from armed confrontations in one small corner of the world. Islam, Bruce Lawrence argues, is a complex international religious system that cannot be reduced to stereotypes. As Lawrence demonstrates, Islam is a religion shaped as much by its own postulates and ethical demands as by the specific circumstances of Muslim people in the modern world. The last two hundred years have brought many challenges for Muslims, from colonial subjugation through sporadic revivalism to elitist reform movements and most recently pervasive struggles with fundamentalism During each period Muslims have had to address internal tensions as well as external threats Today Muslims in the post colonial era only some of whom are Arab and living in the Middle East are playing ever greater roles in economic changes both regional and international As the impact of these changes has become evident in societies around the globe new leaders have come into public view The most remarkable emerging presence is that of Muslim women Lawrence argues that it is the experience of Muslim women in particular that calls for a more nuanced understanding of Islam today It is time Lawrence believes to replace inaccurate images of Islam with a recognition of the multifaceted character of this global religion and of its widely diverse adherents Here he describes changes that are taking place throughout the world particularly in Southeast Asia enacted by governments and nongovernmental organizations alike In a time of rapid international change Lawrence suggests that it is time for our images of Islam to reflect more clearly the realities of Islam as it is lived Shattering the Myth provides significant insights into the history of Islam and a greater understanding of the varied experiences of Muslims today An informed interpretation of the contemporary Muslim experience Lawrence s explanations for the particular states of affairs in Egypt Iran Pakistan and Malaysia among other cases are compelling A distinguished contribution From the foreword by James Piscatori and Dale F Eickelman

Infants, Parents and Wet Nurses Avner Giladi,2022-03-28 This volume examines early Islamic theories and practices of breastfeeding their long term social implications and their impact on the lives of women and children In the light of the impediments to marriage created according to Islamic law by nonmaternal breastfeeding the author also explores the role they have played in wider circles of social life how they influenced the way relations between different families were established reduced the occurrence of endogamous marriages and created semiprivate spaces This is the first comprehensive research within western Islamology devoted to the subject serving as it were as a link between Women s History and History of Childhood It is based on a wide range of religious sources from Qur an Qur an exegesis through hadith to legal writings as well as on medieval Arabic medical compilations

Rising Anthills Elisabeth Bekers,2010-08-05 Female genital excision or the ritual of cutting the external genitals of girls and women is undoubtedly one of the most heavily and widely debated cultural traditions of our time By looking at how writers of African descent have presented the practice in their literary work Elisabeth Bekers shows how the debate on female genital excision evolved over the last four decades of the twentieth century in response to changing attitudes about ethnicity nationalism colonialism feminism and human rights Rising Anthills the title refers to a Dogon myth analyzes works in English French and Arabic by African and African American writers both women and men from different parts of the African continent and the diaspora Attending closely to the nuances of language and the complexities of the issue Bekers explores lesser known writers side by side with such recognizable names as Ngugi wa Thiong'o Flora Nwapa Nawal El Saadawi Ahmadou Kourouma Calixthe Beyala Alice Walker and Gloria Naylor Following their literary discussions of female genital excision she discerns a gradual evolution from the 1960s when writers mindful of its communal significance carefully wrote around the physical operation through the 1970s and 1980s when they began to speak out against the practice and their societies gender politics to the late 1990s when they situated their denunciations of female genital excision in a much broader international context of women's oppression and the struggle for women's rights Fundamentalism and Gender

Ulrike Auga, Christina von Braun, Claudia Bruns, Jana Husmann, 2013-10-04 This anthology addresses the topic of fundamentalism and gender from inter and trans disciplinary perspectives By referring to three major themes Literalism Religion and Science Nation State and Community and Body Life and Biopolitics the book focuses on the analytical diversification of the term fundamentalism and on intersections between religion gender sexuality race and nation International scholars in cultural history and theory religious studies Christian theologies Islamic studies history social sciences anthropology comparative literature and women and gender studies examine the historical and current specifics of religious as well as of secular forms of fundamentalism They also take a critical look at the Western discourse about religious fundamentalism and the ambivalent role feminism plays in this context considering questions such as Why do all religious fundamentalisms claim normalizing definitions of sexuality gender roles and intergender relations In what way do gender and sexual politics play a role in secular criticism of religious fundamentalism And how are forms of secular fundamentalism characterized by gender constructs and sexual politics The Politics of Female Circumcision in Egypt Maria Frederika

Malmström, 2016-03-22 The percentage of women aged 15-49 in Egypt who have undergone the procedure of female circumcision or genital mutilation cutting FGM/C stands at 91% according to the latest research carried out by UNICEF Female circumcision has become a global political minefield with Western interventions affecting Egyptian politics and social development not least in the area of democracy and human rights Maria Frederika Malmstrom employs an ethnographic approach to this controversial issue with the aim of understanding how female gender identity is continually created and re-created in Egypt through a number of daily practices and the central role which female circumcision plays in this process Viewing the concept of agency as critical to the examination of social and cultural trends in the region Malmstrom explores the lived experiences and social meanings of circumcision and femininity as narrated by women from Cairo It is through the examination of the voices of these women that she offers an analysis of gender identity in Egypt and its impact on women's sexuality The Struggle for Peace Elizabeth Warnock Fernea, Mary Evelyn Hocking, 2014-11-06 The determination of ordinary people to end regional and global conflicts is powerful despite the forces opposing them The Struggle for Peace explores how average citizens on both sides of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict worked for peace in the late twentieth century

Essays by noted scholars are juxtaposed with profiles of individual Israelis and Palestinians involved in peace activism. What emerges is a unique perspective on the prospects for peace in this troubled area. Coordinated with a documentary film of the same name, the book is designed as a tool for the study of conflict resolution generally and the Israeli-Palestinian conflict in particular. The twelve original essays deal with the issues from different disciplinary perspectives: political science (Yehoshafat Harkabi, A. R. Norton, Muhammad Muslih, and Robert Vitalis), history (Avraham Zilkha and Joel Beinin), anthropology (Robert Rubinstein), sociology (Salim Tamari), film (Steven Talley), law (Edward Sherman), and international peacekeeping (Christian Harleman). The human side of the struggle is presented through brief biographies and portraits of twenty-five ordinary Israelis and Palestinians involved in peace activities in Israel and the West Bank.

Cultural Criticism in Egyptian Women's Writing Caroline Seymour-Jorn, 2011-12-23. The five influential women writers discussed in Seymour-Jorn's timely work—Salwa Bakr, Nemat el Behairy, Radwa Ashour, Etidal Osman, and Ibtihal Salem—all emerged on the literary scene in the late 1970s and early 1980s. They came of age at a time when women's writing was attracting critical attention and more venues for publication were opening up. This widening platform enabled these writers to develop and mature as cultural critics, resulting in the creation of a successful blend of politically and socially committed literature with artistically innovative literary techniques. Artfully combining literary analysis with ethnographic research, Seymour-Jorn explores the ways in which these writers generate new patterns of thinking and talking about women, society, and social change. She describes how the writers conceive of their role as authors, particularly as female authors, and how they refigure the Arabic language to express themselves as women. By examining these authors' works and lives, Seymour-Jorn illuminates the extent to which writing brings women into the public sphere, an arena in which they have traditionally had limited access to positions of power and authority.

Cultural Journeys into the Arab World Dalya Cohen-Mor, 2018-07-11. Cultural Journeys into the Arab World provides a fascinating window into Arab culture and society through the voices of its own writers and poets. Organized thematically, the anthology features more than fifty texts, including poems, essays, stories, novels, memoirs, eyewitness accounts, and life histories, by leading male and female authors from across the Arabic-speaking world. Each theme is explored in several genres, both fiction and nonfiction, and framed by a wealth of contextual information that places the literary texts within the historical, political, cultural, and social background of the region. Spanning a century of Arab creative writing, from the dean of Arabic letters, Taha Hussein, to the Nobel laureate Naguib Mahfouz, and the celebrated poet Adonis, the anthology offers unforgettable journeys into the rich and dynamic realm of Arab culture. Representing a wide range of settings, viewpoints, and socioeconomic backgrounds, the characters speak of their conditions, aspirations, struggles, and achievements living in complex societies marked by tensions arising from the persistence of older traditions and the impact of modernity. Their myriad voices paint a vivid and intimate portrait of contemporary Arab life in the Middle East, revealing the common humanity of a region of vital significance in world affairs.

witnessed a renaissance in women's print culture as feminist presses and bookshops sprang up in the wake of the second wave women's movement. At four decades remove from that heady era however the landscape looks dramatically different with only one press from the period still active in contemporary publishing: Virago. This engaging history explains how from modest beginnings Virago managed to weather epochal transformations in gender politics, literary culture and the book publishing business. Drawing on original interviews with many of the press's principal figures it gives a compelling account of Virago's place in recent women's history while also reflecting on the fraught relationship between activism and commerce.

Muslim Midwives Avner Gil'adi, 2015. This book reconstructs the role of midwives in medieval to early modern Islamic history through a careful reading of a wide range of classical and medieval Arabic sources. The author casts the midwife's social status in premodern Islam as a privileged position from which she could mediate between male authority in patriarchal society and female reproductive power within the family. This study also takes a broader historical view of midwifery in the Middle East by examining the tensions between learned medicine, male and popular medico-religious practices, female from early Islam into the Ottoman period and addressing the confrontation between traditional midwifery and Western obstetrics in the first half of the nineteenth century.

The A to Z of Islam Ludwig W. Adamec, 2009-09-02. There is both unity and variety in the Islamic world. Muslims are not a homogeneous people who can be explained solely by their normative texts, the Koran and the Sunnah. Muslims differ vastly in their interpretation of Islam; modernists want to reinterpret Islam to adapt to the requirements of modern times while traditionalists tend to look to the classical and medieval periods of Islam as their model of the Islamic state. The A to Z of Islam presents a concise overview of Islamic history, religion, philosophy and Islamic political movements. This is done through a chronology, an introductory essay, a bibliography and cross-referenced dictionary entries which include the biographies and thoughts of medieval thinkers as well as those of modern members of the religious and political establishments. Articles describe the major sects, schools of theology and jurisprudence as well as aspects of Islamic culture. Together this book represents a brief introduction to the field of Islamic studies.

Voice of the Past Paul Thompson, 2000-03-16. Presents an introduction to the use of oral sources by the historian.

Infertility and Patriarchy Marcia C. Inhorn, 1996. Infertility and Patriarchy explores the lives of infertile women whose personal stories depict their daily struggles to resist disempowerment and stigmatization. Marcia C. Inhorn has produced a unique study of gender politics and family life in contemporary Egypt.

Islam in Practice Reinhold Loeffler, 1988-07-08. This book is a unique study of Shi'a Islam as it lives in the minds and hearts of people in a Southwest Iranian village. The central segment of the text is presented in the form of edited interviews conducted in the course of anthropological fieldwork both before and after the Iranian revolution. The individuals representing all major socio-economic and educational backgrounds speak in their own words. Loeffler discovers that what people make of their religion is characterized by not only an unexpected diversity but by an astounding sophistication. His format of presenting these views gives justice to the highly individualized character of religious worldviews This feature has gone unrecognized in Islamic studies because the preferred methodology of working with composite and generalized accounts has made it impossible to detect In his conclusion Loeffler formulates a new theory of religion based on the emerging paradigm of evolutionary epistemology and the dialectic between the individual and the religious system This area of Islamic studies remains untouched by scholars preoccupied with historical texts and orthodox doctrines of established religious authorities

Americanism Michael Kazin, Joseph A. McCartin, 2012-01-01 What is Americanism The contributors to this volume recognize Americanism in all its complexity as an ideology an articulation of the nation's rightful place in the world a set of traditions a political language and a cultural style imbued with political meaning In response to the pervasive vision of Americanism as a battle cry or a smug assumption this collection of essays stirs up new questions and debates that challenge us to rethink the model currently being exported too often by force to the rest of the world Crafted by a cast of both rising and renowned intellectuals from three continents the twelve essays in this volume are divided into two sections The first group of essays addresses the understanding of Americanism within the United States over the past two centuries from the early republic to the war in Iraq The second section provides perspectives from around the world in an effort to make sense of how the national creed and its critics have shaped diplomacy war and global culture in the twentieth and twenty first centuries Approaching a controversial ideology as both scholars and citizens many of the essayists call for a revival of the ideals of Americanism in a new progressive politics that can bring together an increasingly polarized and fragmented citizenry Contributors Mia Bay Rutgers University Jun Furuya Hokkaido University Japan Gary Gerstle University of Maryland Jonathan M Hansen Harvard University Michael Kazin Georgetown University Rob Kroes University of Amsterdam Melani McAlister The George Washington University Joseph A McCartin Georgetown University Alan McPherson Howard University Louis Menand Harvard University Mae M Ngai University of Chicago Robert Shalhope University of Oklahoma Stephen J Whitfield Brandeis University Alan Wolfe Boston College
