Icefield Ranges Research Project Volume 1:

Icefield Ranges Research Project Vivian C. Bushnell, Richard H. Ragle, 1972 Juneau Icefield Research Project (1949-1958) Cal Heusser, 2007-04-17 The Juneau Icefield Research Project JIRP was formed to find a prototype area to study Alaska's coastal glaciers and trends in climatic change. For the past 57 years JIRP has conducted a systematic study of key receding and advancing glaciers including Lemon Creek and Taku Glaciers. From this study a model has been developed to study the mass balance of these glaciers and their relation to general atmospheric circulation. Taku's mass balance was expected to provide a meaningful assessment of flakier climate relations and environmental trends specifically the increase in atmospheric trace element pollution and global warming. Juneau Icefield Research Project 1949-1958 is represented by 15 chapters organized in four parts: Background of the Project, Early Years of the Project 1949-1952, Later Years of the Project 1953-1958, and Summation and Epilogue. After describing the Project's background, Chapters 3 through 12 cover year by year activities, personnel, logistics, and research of the Taku and Lemon Creek Glaciers. These chapters included day to day journal entries that represent a record of the informal itineraries covering the course of the study. Chapters 13 and 14 summarize glaciological findings on Taku Glacier and the status of hydrological budgets on Lemon Creek Glacier through the International Geophysical year 1957-1958. The final chapter of the text is an overview of paleoecological work by the Project in North Pacific America brought into the context of modern research with the recognition of glacier climate cycles. Documents the study Juneau Icefield Research Project on a year by year account covering activities, personnel, logistics, and research. Discusses the model developed from the JIRP and explains its importance in predicting future climate changes. Presents the information with day to day journal entries making the text attractive and easy to read. Selected Water Resources Abstracts, 1973 Selected Water Resources Abstracts, 1971 List of Publications of the Institute of Polar Studies Ohio State University. Workman, Stephen Lawhead, 1978-01-01 A detailed survey of the archaeology of southwest Yukon Territory based upon excavations in 1966 and 1968 as well as laboratory analysis of all sizeable collections obtained earlier. Archaeological, ethnographic, and paleoenvironmental data are integrated into a synthetic view of prehistory in northwestern North America. Engstrom, 1995 Geophysical Abstracts, 1971 Do Glaciers Listen? Julie Cruikshank, 2010-10-01 Do Glaciers Listen explores the conflicting depictions of glaciers to show how natural and cultural histories are objectively entangled in the Mount Saint Elias ranges. This rugged area where Alaska, British Columbia, and the Yukon Territory now meet underwent significant geophysical change in the late eighteenth and nineteenth centuries which coincided with dramatic social upheaval resulting from European exploration and increased travel and trade among Aboriginal peoples. European visitors brought with them varying conceptions of nature as sublime, as spiritual, or as a resource for human progress They saw glaciers as inanimate subject to empirical investigation and measurement Aboriginal oral histories conversely described glaciers as sentient animate and quick to respond to human behaviour In each case however the experiences and ideas surrounding glaciers were incorporated into interpretations of social relations Focusing on these contrasting views during the late stages of the Little Ice Age 1550 1900 Cruikshank demonstrates how local knowledge is produced rather than discovered through colonial encounters and how it often conjoins social and biophysical processes She then traces how the divergent views weave through contemporary debates about cultural meanings as well as current discussions about protected areas parks and the new World Heritage site Readers interested in anthropology and Native and northern studies will find this a fascinating read and a rich addition to circumpolar literature     Special Report - Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army, Cold Regions Research and Engineering Laboratory Cold Regions Research and Engineering Laboratory (U.S.),1972     General Technical Report PNW-GTR ,1991     Technical Report ,1966     The Journal of Glaciology ,1979     The American alpine journal. 32.1990 [Anonymus AC00174691],1990     USA CRREL Technical Publications Cold Regions Research and Engineering Laboratory (U.S.),1972     Abstracts of North American Geology Geological Survey (U.S.),1971-07     An Annotated Bibliography of Wrangell St. Elias National Park R.
