Ideas That Work:

Do Ideas Work ? Michael Marcovici, 2013-12-18 It is the dream of many to give up the daily slog and branch out on their own Unfortunately too often that is exactly all it is a dream without any real foundation or substance If you are seriously thinking about starting your own business you need to give deep consideration to a lot of factors before taking the plunge A very high percentage of start ups fail often in a very short space of time And the reasons for failure are numerous and wide ranging If you don't give sufficient thought and planning to your new venture it is very likely that you will be among them It is always helpful to know of other people's experiences in these sort of areas What they did or didn't do can provide you with clear pointers as to how you should proceed Many people have been down the road and many have failed Their failures might contain the seeds of your success if you are able to understand where they went wrong and use that information to your benefit Running your own business takes guts and stamina among lots of other qualities If you are thinking of taking the plunge you will need and deserve a lot of luck Good hunting

Minds at Work David Grebow, Stephen J. Gill, 2017-12-01 The only sustainable advantage in our hypercompetitive marketplace is the ability to learn and adapt faster than everyone else Companies that cling to management practices of a bygone era continue to fade away They desperately need managers who empower people to seek out learning at a moment's notice Minds at Work can help you be that manager This book captures the role managers play in the knowledge economy where uninhibited on demand learning inspires employees to achieve higher levels of performance Authors David Grebow and Stephen J Gill describe how managers can move from a traditional command and control position to become advocates of communication and collaboration They share what happens when managers help their direct reports grow as people and use technology to pull the learning they need when they need it Minds at Work illustrates this shift to a learning community with success stories from forward looking companies With this better way to manage these companies have unearthed those aha moments as the dots connect after continuous problem solving trial and error and innovation Each has redefined norms made knowledge sharing flat and created a workplace culture built to last Use this book to embrace learning anytime anywhere Nurture the minds at work and you'll win the hearts of your organization

Studies in Science Education in the Asia-Pacific Region May May Hung Cheng,Alister Jones,Cathy Buntting,2017-09-13 Consistent with international trends there is an active pursuit of more engaging science education in the Asia Pacific region The aim of this book is to bring together some examples of research being undertaken at a range of levels from studies of curriculum and assessment tools to classroom case studies and investigations into models of teacher professional learning and development. While neither a comprehensive nor definitive representation of the work that is being carried out in the region, the contributions from China, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Korea, Japan, Singapore, Australia, and New Zealand give a taste of some of the issues being explored and the hopes that researchers have of positively influencing the types of science education experienced by school students. The purpose of this book is therefore to share contextual information related to science education in the Asia Pacific region as well as offering insights for conducting studies in this region and outlining possible questions for further investigation. In addition, we anticipate that the specific resources and strategies introduced in this book will provide a useful reference for curriculum developers and science educators when they design school science curricula and science both pre-service and in-service teacher education programmes. The first section of the book examines features of science learners and learning and includes studies investigating the processes associated with science conceptual learning, scientific inquiry, model construction, and students' attitudes towards science. The second section focuses on teachers and teaching. It discusses some more innovative teaching approaches adopted in the region, including the use of group work, inquiry-based instruction, developing scientific literacy, and the use of questions and analogies. The third section reports on initiatives related to assessments and curriculum reform, including initiatives associated with school-based assessment, formative assessment strategies, and teacher support accompanying curriculum reform.

Creativity in the Classroom Alane Jordan Starko, 2021-12-21. Now in its seventh edition, Creativity in the Classroom helps teachers link creativity research and theory to the everyday activities of classroom teaching. Ideal reading for any course dealing wholly or partially with creativity and teaching, this foundational textbook covers definitions, research, and theory in the first half and reflects on classroom practices in the second. Thoroughly revised and updated, the seventh edition features new research on neuroscience and creativity in specific disciplines, new sections on social-emotional learning, teaching engineering and leadership, and an entire new chapter on building creativity at the school or district level.
