Environmental Crisis And Urban Planning

Rodney R. White

Environmental Crisis And Urban Planning:

Urban Environmental Management Rodney R. White, 1994-11 A provocative account regarding the disturbing dynamics of environmental change demonstrating that this new environmental crisis shares its origins with traditional crises Topics discussed include the impact of the environmental crisis on urban planning major physical functions of the city which critically react with the environment the relationship between poor quality and inequity in the cities as well as a new Utopian's opinion of today's problems Environmental Issues and Urban Development of the Walled Cities I. Mohan, 1992-01-01

Environmental Problems in an Urbanizing World Jorge E. Hardoy, Diana Mitlin, David Satterthwaite, 2013-11-05 New edition of Environmental Problems in Third World Cities Cities in Africa Asia and Latin America contain some of the world's most life and health threatening human environments Environment related diseases and injuries cause millions of preventable deaths each year In many squatter settlements children are 40 to 50 times more likely to die before the age of five than they would be in Europe or North America and most such deaths are environment related Many cities also cause serious environmental degradation to their surroundings and increasingly contribute to global warming This updated and much expanded edition of the classic Environmental Problems in Third World Cities describes environmental problems and their effect on human health local ecosystems and global cycles It points to the political causes that underpin many of these problems including ineffective unaccountable governments and aid agencies reluctance to work with the urban poor It also highlights innovative solutions such as High quality low cost homes and neighbourhoods developed by urban poor groups working with local non governmental organizations Local Agenda 21s developed by municipal governments in partnership with community organizations In their analysis the authors show that cities can meet sustainable development goals There are practical affordable solutions to their environmental problems but most of these depend on more competent and accountable city governments and on more support for low income households and their organizations The book also outlines the changes needed international aid agencies to support this PRAISE FOR THE FIRST EDITION It's rare to encounter a work as authoritative and accessible as this It is a mine of useful information from cities in every corner of the Third World which does not shy away from the immensity of the problems but says as much about the solutions to them as about the problems themselves Jonathon Porritt Well written and very accessible The Geographical Journal Of value to students teachers practitioners policy makers and aid agencies Third World Planning Review A valuable resource for understanding the underlying problems this book offers practical alternatives Cities International Promoting Environmental Quality Through Urban Planning and Controls Edward John Kaiser, 1974 Promoting Environmental Quality Through Urban Planning and Controls University of North Carolina. Local Sustainable Urban Development in a Globalized World Dr Lauren C

Heberle, Dr Susan M Opp, 2012-11-28 Sustainable development is a key issue of concern to urban planners across the globe How it is defined implemented and measured at the local level remains highly contested and subject to a wide range of external cultural political and economic pressures Bringing together leading experts from North America Europe the Middle East and SE Asia this book provides a timely overview of the various methods for understanding and implementing sustainable practices at local levels In doing so they present the wide range of local action alternatives available to planners that may be pursued in spite of the constraints generated by globalization processes and highlight the array of public policy options that could reduce the external pressures shaping the possible local alternatives The book argues that while local planners and local authorities are willing to act many are unaware of the range of options available to them In bringing together these case studies not only diverse in geographic terms but also reflecting very different levels of income general population education cultural norms legal systems and government structures it points out innovations and examples of best practice

Contemporary Environmental Problems in Nepal Keshav Bhattarai, Dennis Conway, 2020-11-23 This monograph examines contemporary environmental challenges facing Nepal this landlocked country's representativeness in the wider South Asian context is both distinct and generalizable In large part this is because of its extremes of physiographical structure plains hill ranges mountainous massifs and wide range of altitudinal terrains which represent and replicate South Asian and East Asian continental conditions differing as markedly as humid tropical lowlands sub tropical hill ranges and temperate to sub arctic mountainous environments Associated forest regimes in which deforestation and reforestation patterns have evolved in recent times and differing densities of settlement and cleared agricultural landscapes in each of these altitudinal zones add to the environmental diversity of Nepal Associated fauna and exotic species are in various states of endangerment especially Bengal tigers one horned rhinos wild elephants crocodile musk deer and peacocks to name a few so that their forested and mountainous habitats as Wild Life Reserves also deserve our attention and are featured in this monograph's remit

Managing the Environmental Crisis William Russell Mangun, Daniel H. Henning, 1999 Second edition With a new foreword by Lynton Keith Caldwell In Managing the Environmental Crisis William R Mangun and Daniel H Henning provide a balanced and comprehensive guide to the management of complex environmental and natural resource policy issues Taking into account new developments trends and issues that have arisen in recent years the authors begin with the recognition often overlooked that it is not the environment that needs to be managed but human action relating to the environment The authors review issues associated with a range of environmental policy concerns including energy considerations renewable and non renewable resource management pollution control wilderness management and urban and regional policy The history of these issues recent actions pertaining to their management difficulties associated with their continued presence and the consequences of a failure to address these concerns are explored Though focused on specific political issues Mangun and Henning direct their attention to two large scale trends globalization and the political polarization of the environmental movement At the level of the decision making process the incorporation of values specifically addressed from multicultural and cross disciplinary perspectives is also discussed International in scope the book provides descriptions of the roles of both governmental and nongovernmental organizations in the formulations and implementation of national and global environmental policy This thoroughly revised second edition

discusses various successes in the arenas of environmental cooperation and management strategy while pointing to the new challenges that have emerged in the last decade
