environment has been derived from two words i.e. environ and ment meaning encircle or surrounding. Thus environment consists of bio-physical and manmade variables which surround man as well as all living organisms. The encyclopedic definition of environment refers to the sum total of all conditions, agencies and influences which affect the development, growth, life and death of organism, species or race. Environment is the source of life on earth. It not only directs but also determines the existence, growth and development of mankind and their activities. The Tbilisi Conference 1977 defined environment as a sum total of natural, artificial and social components of the material world which are or may be in direct interaction with mankind as a whole. Environment has two basic components: i) biophysical and ii) socio-cultural.

Towards Critical Environmental Education Aristotelis S. Gkiolmas, Constantine D. Skordoulis, 2020-11-03. This volume discusses theory, philosophy, praxis and methods in Environmental and Ecological education and considers the junction with the main visions and issues of Critical Pedagogy. The volume and its separate chapters address four axes which can also be seen as the guidelines of the content as well as the central objectives of the book. The first axis concerns the missing theoretical and practical pieces at this point in time. The volume considers the issues that are not included in contemporary Environmental Education and thus deprive it from critical orientations. This implies that in Environmental Education very little discussion exists about the political, economic, racial, gender and class issues that in most cases govern the actions of leaders and stakeholders. The second axis concerns what has been done so far and in what directions This involves descriptions of theoretical approaches or actual applied methodologies in the classroom such as curricula or syllabus used or the kind of actions certain educators have taken to infuse the issues of justice and critical reflection within the Environmental Education teaching agenda The third axis examines proposals It looks at ways to enrich domains of Environmental Education with the argumentations of Critical Pedagogy The fourth axis concerns the way in which proposals can be effectuated This part contains specific methodologies and teaching sequences depicting ways of including major aspects of Critical Pedagogy and Critical Education in Environmental Education Examples are Non anthropocentric ecological approaches in the classroom political activism in the Curricula mixture of field activities and political activities

Field Trips in Environmental Education Martin Storksdieck,2011-01-01 HauptbeschreibungField trips are a popular method for introducing students to concepts ideas and experiences that cannot be provided in a classroom environment This is particularly true for trans disciplinary areas of teaching and learning such as science or environmental education While field trips are generally viewed by educators as beneficial to teaching and learning and by students as a cherished alternative to classroom instruction educational research paints a more complex picture At a time when school systems demand proof of the educational value of field trips large gaps ofte Environmental Education in the 21st Century Joy Palmer,2002-09-11 Environmental education is a field characterised by a paradox Few would doubt the urgency and importance of learning to live in sustainable ways but environmental education holds nowhere near the priority position in formal schooling around the world that this would suggest This text sets out to find out why this is so It is divided into six parts Part 1 is a concise history of the development of environmental education from an international perspective Part 2 is an overview of the global agenda or subject knowledge of environmental education Part 3 introduces perspectives on theory and research in environmental education Part 4 moves on to practice and presents an integrated model for planning environmental education programmes Part 5 brings together invited contributors who talk about environmental education in their own countries from 15 countries including China South Africa Sri Lanka and the USA Part 6 returns to the core questions of how progress can be made and how we can maximise the potential of environmental education for the twenty first century
