Environmental Vision:

Ahead of the Curve K. Green, P. Groenewegen, P.S. Hofman, 2012-12-06 The debate on sustainable production often ends in discussions on the feasibility of far reaching changes in relation to the competitiveness of companies Industry itself and policy makers tend to back away from engaging in profound processes of industrial transformation Examples of companies who have voluntarily moved beyond what is seen as reasonable and feasible can overcome this deadlock This book collects a fine sample of companies who have taken up their responsibility in this respect To quote the editors of this book They are cases that might provide other firms and policy makers with ideas for innovative environmental responses that are outside the slowly rising trend of improvement that we are currently observing in short the cases are of firms and ideas that are ahead of the curve The editors and many of the authors of this volume are members of the Greening of Industry Network and have been debating with one another for years Founded in 1991 the Greening of Industry Network comprises over 1500 individuals representing academia business public interest labor and government from more than 50 countries Participants work together to build policies and strategies toward creating a sustainable future through many vehicles coordinating research efforts publications planning and participating in workshops public forums and conferences To provide benefit to broader society the Network stimulates public dialogue and brings together academic researchers from many disciplines with other stakeholders who traditionally do not work together in coalitions

Coeckelbergh, 2015-02-20 Today it is widely recognized that we face urgent and serious environmental problems and we know much about them yet we do very little What explains this lack of motivation and change Why is it so hard to change our lives This book addresses this question by means of a philosophical inquiry into the conditions of possibility for environmental change It discusses how we can become more motivated to do environmental good and what kind of knowledge we need for this and explores the relations between motivation knowledge and modernity After reviewing a broad range of possible philosophical and psychological responses to environmental apathy and inertia the author argues for moving away from a modern focus on either detached reason and control Stoicism and Enlightenment reason or the natural the sentiments and the authentic Romanticism both of which make possible disengaging and alienating modes of relating to our environment Instead he develops the notion of environmental skill a concept that bridges the gap between knowledge and action re interprets environmental virtue and suggests an environmental ethics centered on experience know how and skillful engagement with our environment The author then explores the implications of this ethics for our lives it changes the way we think about and deal with health food animals energy climate change politics and technology

ECO-FEMINISM NATURE-WOMEN SOLIDARITY Gülhan KARADAĞ AĞKURT, With the industrialization and capitalist exploitation system affecting nearly every part of the world the image of Mother Earth once closely connected with nature and revered by ancient civilizations has almost disappeared Women once the wise stewards of the earth have become the first victims of nature s destruction now owning only about 1% of the land under patriarchy For women working in small family run businesses based on subsistence economies and dependent on the land the protection of the land has become synonymous with the preservation of the life they are a part of However ecofeminists continue to be inspired by the privileged position women once held in ancient civilizations and are working to restore the destroyed nature acting as if they are its protectors Although the environmental threat which has become a global issue is often equated with the pollution of the material environment unless it is seen as a result of spiritual pollution and insatiable greed which approaches natural heritage from a materialistic and profit driven perspective real solutions will not go beyond a utopia Computerworld ,1993-07-26 For more than 40 years Computerworld has been the leading source of technology news and information for IT influencers worldwide Computerworld s award winning Web site
