High House:

The High House Jessie Greengrass, 2022-01-04 Francesca is Caro's stepmother and Pauly's mother. A scientist, she can see what is going to happen. The high house was once her holiday home, now looked after by locals Grandy and Sally. She has turned it into an ark for when the time comes. The mill powers the generator, the orchard is carefully pruned, the greenhouse has all its glass intact. Almost a family, but not quite. They plant store seed and watch the weather carefully. Mastering Sporting Clays Don Currie, 2018-04-01 Mastering Sporting Clays is a perfect guide for all levels of sporting clays shooters from recreational to competitor. Beginner and novice shooters learn essential first steps including an easy to remember set of fundamentals and equally important a system for recalling those fundamentals. Advanced shooters including competitive shooters will benefit from target specific tactics allowing them to focus on improving their problem areas. The Boston Directory, 1856 Affordable Housing Development Jaime P. Luque, Nuriddin Ikromov, William B. Noseworthy, 2019-04-01 This book explains the nuts and bolts of affordable housing development. Divided into two complementary sections, the book first provides an overview of the effectiveness of existing federal and state housing programs in the United States such as the LIHTC and TIF programs. In turn, the book's second section presents an extensive discussion of and insights into the financial feasibility of an affordable real estate development project. Researchers, policymakers, and organizations in the public, private, and nonprofit sectors will find this book a valuable resource in addressing the concrete needs of affordable housing development. Luque, Ikromov, and Noseworthy's new book on Affordable Housing Development is a must read for all those seeking to address the growing and vexing problem of affordable housing supply. The authors provide important insights and practical demonstration of important financial tools often necessary to the financial feasibility of such projects including tax increment financing and the Low Income Housing Tax Credit. Further, the authors provide important backdrop to the affordability crisis and homelessness. I highly recommend this book to all who seek both to articulate and enhance housing access. By Stuart Gabriel Arden, Realty Chair, Professor of Finance and Director, Richard S. Ziman Center for Real Estate at UCLA. Over several years, Jaime Luque, Nuriddin Ikromov, and William Noseworthy applied their analytical bent and no small measure of empathy to homelessness as actually experienced in Madison, Wisconsin, and they inspired multiple classes of urban economics students to join them. Homelessness is a complex web of issues affecting a spectrum of populations from individuals struggling with addiction or emotional disorders to families who've been dealt a bad hand in an often unforgiving economy. Read this book to follow Jaime Nuriddin and William as they evaluate a panoply of housing and social programs complementing the usual top-down design perspective with practical analysis of the feasibility of actual developments and their effectiveness. Analytical but written for a broad audience, this book will be of interest to anyone running a low-income housing program, private and public developers, students, and any instructor designing a learning-by-doing course that blends rigor with real-world application to a local problem. Houses of the Welsh Countryside Peter Smith, 1988 When this book was first published in 1975 it was at once enthusiastically received by scholars and the general public alike and recognized as a classic of its genre It represented a notable publication of the early fruits of the Commission's work on the side of its responsibility for the National Monuments Record for Wales During the years which have since intervened much fresh information has come to light concerning Welsh houses not least because of the intense interest awakened by the original publication This new knowledge has as far as possible been incorporated in the new and revised edition which contains approximately onequarter more material than the first Although it has not been possible to alter the original text a number of additional maps and photographs have been included and a new dust jacket has been designed The Commissioners would wish warmly to congratulate their Secretary Mr Peter Smith those of his colleagues who were associated with him and H M S O on the excellence of this volume It marks another outstanding landmark in the study of vernacular architecture not only in Wales but also in the British Isles and a major achievement on the part of its author Although this second edition of Houses of the Welsh Countryside retains in their entirety the text the illustrations and the layout of the volume first published in 1975 it also includes a substantial amount of new information which has come to light since that date Some of this new material takes the form of additional figures inserted where appropriate into the existing illustrative pages Similarly a small number of additional colour plates showing typical houses in characteristic settings has been tipped into the text There are also additions to the original map lists It has not been possible for reasons of cost to bring the maps themselves up to date but as the newly discovered sites nearly always reinforce the distribution patterns first indicated this omission is not crucial The numbers of new discoveries can vary from a mere handful on one list to several hundred on another All other new material is introduced as part of an additional SECTION IV at the back of the volume This section comprises Corrigenda Covering sites which were inadequately or incorrectly described in the first volume involving in one case a complete reappraisal of the original reference Addenda I Describing and illustrating a small number of newly surveyed houses of especial interest which could not easily be fitted into the illustrations in the main text Addenda II Analysing the incidence of date inscriptions as evidence for building activity Addenda III Listing and mapping a number of features of domestic architecture not previously so noted Addenda IV Listing and mapping various features of ecclesiastical architecture which also occur in houses and which therefore have a bearing on the evolution of domestic architecture
