High Techne Art And Technology From The Machine Age To The Posthuman:

High Technē R. L. Rutsky, 1999 On art and high tech      High Techne R. L. Rutsky, 2014-05-28 In an age of high tech our experience of technology has changed tremendously yet the definition of technology has remained largely unquestioned High Techne redresses this gap in thinking about technology examining the shifting relations of technology art and culture from the beginnings of modernity to contemporary technocultures Progressing from the major art movements of modernism to contemporary science fiction and cultural theory Rutsky provides clear and compelling evidence of a shift in the cultural conceptions of technology and art      Architecture in the Age of Mediatizing Technologies Sang Lee, 2024-10-31 This book offers a novel perspective on contemporary architecture exploring its position in mediatization attained through technological apparatuses It introduces the novel concepts of apparatus centrality and mediatization of architecture which have significant disciplinary and cultural ramifications Highlighting key technological and theoretical developments the book's narrative traces the transformation of architecture from the modernist era to the present digital age En route it reflects on how architecture becomes a crucial element of shifting dispositives through its confluence with technologies of aestheticization and virtualization and by emblemizing ecological ideals It also illuminates the reconfiguring of architectural practice through examining surprising interactions and analogies between architecture and music whose developments in notation and codification continually change the relationship between composer and performer The book explores how architecture is reshaped by broader theory and practice in media and ultimately serves as a cognitive agent It underscores that architecture profoundly influences our phantasmagoric image driven affective world through its increasingly apparatus centric approach to conception design production and mediatization Architecture in the Age of Mediatizing Technologies brings into focus the behavior of architecture in mediatization for researchers and advanced students in architectural design theory and history As an investigation into the interdisciplinary impact of architecture in a mediatized culture at large it also provides a valuable resource for cultural and media studies      Chronophobia Pamela M. Lee, 2006-02-17 An examination of the pervasive anxiety about and fixation with time seen in 1960s art In the 1960s art fell out of time both artists and critics lost their temporal bearings in response to what E M Cioran called not being entitled to time This anxiety and uneasiness about time which Pamela Lee calls chronophobia cut across movements media and genres and was figured in works ranging from kinetic sculptures to Andy Warhol films Despite its pervasiveness the subject of time and 1960s art has gone largely unexamined in historical accounts of the period Chronophobia is the first critical attempt to define this obsession and analyze it in relation to art and technology Lee discusses the chronophobia of art relative to the emergence of the Information Age in postwar culture The accompanying rapid technological transformations including the advent of computers and automation processes produced for many an acute sense of historical unknowing the seemingly accelerated pace of life began to outstrip any attempts to make sense of the present Lee sees the attitude of 1960s art to time as a historical prelude to our current fixation on time and speed within digital culture Reflecting upon the 1960s cultural anxiety about temporality she argues helps us historicize our current relation to technology and time After an introductory framing of terms Lee discusses such topics as presentness with respect to the interest in systems theory in 1960s art kinetic sculpture and new forms of global media the temporality of the body and the spatialization of the visual image in the paintings of Bridget Riley and the performance art of Carolee Schneemann Robert Smithson's interest in seriality and futurity considered in light of his reading of George Kubler's important work The Shape of Time: Remarks on the History of Things and Norbert Wiener's discussion of cybernetics and the endless belaboring of the present in sixties art as seen in Warhol's Empire and the work of On Kawara

Information Science as an Interscience Fanie de Beer, 2015-03-17
Science is first and foremost an intellectual activity an activity of thought Therefore how do we as information scientists respond intellectually to what is happening in the world of information and knowledge development given the context of new sociocultural and knowledge landscapes Information Science as an Interscience poses many challenges both to information science philosophy and to information practice and only when information science is understood as an interscience that operates in a multifaceted way will it be able to comply with these challenges In the fulfilment of this task it needs to be accompanied by a philosophical approach that will take it beyond the merely critical and linear approach to scientific work For this reason a critical philosophical approach is proposed that will be characterised by multiple styles of thinking and organised by a compositional inspiration This initiative is carried by the conviction that information science will hereby be enabled to make contributions to significant knowledge inventions that may bring about a better world Chapters focus on the rethinking of human thinking our unique ability that enables us to cope with the world in which we live in terms of the unique science with which we are involved Subsequent chapters explore different approaches to the establishment of a new scientific spirit the demands these developments pose for human thinking for questions of method and the implications for information science regarding its proposed functioning as a nomad science in the context of information practice and information work Final chapters highlight the proposed responsibility of focusing on information and inventiveness and new styles of information and knowledge work focuses on rethinking information science to achieve a constructive scientific approach provides an alternative methodological approach in the study of information science shows how a change in scientific approach will have vast implications for the understanding and dissemination of knowledge presents the implications of a new approach for knowledge workers and the dynamics of their work explores the future of thinking about science knowledge and its nature and the ethical implications

Science, Technology and the German Cultural Imagination Christian Emden, David R. Midgley, 2005 This volume of conference papers highlights the connections between developments in technology and scientific thought since the 16th century on the one hand and the ways in which the creative imagination of literary writers has responded to those developments on the other

Explores the power of scientific ideas their impact on how we understand the natural world and how successive technological developments have influenced our attitudes to work art space language and the human body      Cyberculture and New Media ,2009-01-01 In the extension of digital media from optional means to central site of activity the domains of language art learning play film and politics have been subject to radical reconfigurations as mediating structures This book examines how this changed relationship has in each case shaped a new form of discourse between self and culture and illustrates explicitly the character of mediated agency beyond the formal separateness from lived experience that was once conveniently termed the virtual and which has come to influence common assumptions about creative expression itself      Materializing New Media Anna Munster,2011-11-15 A significant contribution to investigations of the social and cultural impact of new media and digital technologies      Technology and Culture, the Film Reader Andrew Utterson,2005 Bringin together key theoretical texts from respected names in the field including Andre Bevin Walter Benjamin and Vivian Sobchack this book examines more than a century of writing on film and technology      On Kubrick James Naremore,2023-05-18 In a comprehensively revised and updated new edition James Naremore provides an illuminating critical account of the films of Stanley Kubrick from his earliest feature Fear and Desire 1953 to the posthumously produced A.I. Artificial Intelligence Steven Spielberg 2001 Naremore offers provocative analyses of each of Kubrick s films considering his emphasis on the absurdity of combat as in Paths of Glory 1957 and Full Metal Jacket 1987 the failure of scientific reasoning as in 2001 1968 and the fascistic impulses in masculine sexuality as in Dr Strangelove 1964 and Eyes Wide Shut 1999 He argues that while Kubrick was a voracious intellectual and a life long autodidact the fascination of his work has less to do with the ideas it espouses than with the emotions it evokes Combining close readings with new insights into the production histories and cultural contexts of key films Naremore provides a concise yet thorough discussion that will be useful to students of Kubrick s filmmaking and cinephiles who seek a deeper insight into the work of this perfectionist genius Revised throughout this new edition also includes a fully updated bibliography of critical writings on Kubrick s cinema      Nature in Literary and Cultural Studies ,2006-01-01 Nature in Literary and Cultural Studies is a collection of essays written by European and North American scholars who argue that nature and culture can no longer be thought of in oppositional mutually exclusive terms They are united in an effort to push the theoretical limits of ecocriticism towards a more rigorous investigation of nature s critical potential as a concept that challenges modern culture s philosophical assumptions epistemological convictions aesthetic principles and ethical imperatives This volume offers scholars and students of literature culture history philosophy and linguistics new insights into the ongoing transformation of ecocriticism into an innovative force in international and interdisciplinary literary and cultural studies      Machines for Living Victoria Rosner,2020 Machines for Living shows how the modernization of the home led to profound changes in domestic life and relied on a set of emergent concepts including standardization scientific method functionalism and efficiency science that form the basis of literary modernism and stand at the confluence of modernism and modernity      Screenplay Geoff King, Tanya Krzywinska, 2002 Hollywood film franchises are routinely translated into games and some game titles make the move onto the big screen This collection investigates the interface between cinema and games console or PC      Karl Freund Gavin Schmitt, 2022-02-28 Karl Freund is the most important film pioneer you've never heard of From the silent film era to the rise of the American sitcom Freund was there at every turn Countless camera techniques can be traced back to his unchained camera His lighting setup for filming I Love Lucy live remains standard to this day He was the man behind the lens for many influential and award winning films from Metropolis to The Good Earth to Key Largo This biography is the first book length look at one of the world's greatest cameramen It details the events of his early life his entrance into the world of film his work in both Germany and America and his legacy while also putting his life and films into the historical context of the 20th century The author gives particular attention to Freund's role in the early horror films Der Golem Dracula Murders in the Rue Morgue The Mummy and Mad Love
